Americans Capture City Of Rennes

FIRST CASE OF PARALYSIS IS REPORTED HERE

The first case of infantile paralysis in Adams county this year was diagnosed Wednesday afternoon in New Oxford.

The patient is Norma Jean Hull, aged seven years, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hull, Lincolnway east, New Oxford. The home was placed under polio quarantine Wednesday by Oscar Zeigler, borough health officer.

The girl suffers from partial paralysis of the left leg but her physician, Dr. Wilbur Miller, New Oxford, believes that her illness has passed the stage where further paralysis may be expected. Massage is being used to a great extent in the treatment prescribed for the child who will remain at her home for the present and likely will not be removed to a hospital unless her condition becomes more serious. She does not now require any respiratory aids.

Visited In Baltimore

The case has been under suspicion for several days Doctor Miller said but was diagnosed finally Wednesday. The girl had been visiting with friends in Baltimore for two weeks and was ill when she returned home Sunday.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, appealed today to parents throughout the county to "keep your children at home and avoid trips to other parts of the state or nearby cities." Some sections already are being swept by epidemics of this dreaded disease, Doctor Crist pointed out, and every effort is to be made to avoid a repetition here of the epidemic of polio that hit the county several years ago.

No general regulations will be imposed immediately. Doctor Crist said. Unless more cases appear, countians will be depended upon for voluntary control measures. Every effort will be made to avoid the necessity for imposing strict rules on travel and social gatherings that were put in force here when the last epidemic appeared.

PRIVATE ROTH CITES ARMY FOR "UNIFORMITY"

By PVT. G. HENRY ROTH
(Former member of the editorial staff of The Gettysburg Times)

The Army is a wonderful institution with its discipline, its food, its accommodations, its mechanical devices and its involved bookkeeping system which I'll lay odds, even keeps track of the buttons on soldiers' vest pockets.

At the same time no one could possibly win a bet against the following statement—99 per cent of the Army men would like to be civilian men. Possibly that's why this nation has never built up a military caste—its soldiers are just civilians in uniform, for the duration.

Army Uniformity

The most astounding thing about the Army is uniformity. It takes a bunch of raw recruits, like ourselves, and looks over as motley a collection as any draft board would like to find. Good fellows, one and all, of course, but some are tall and some are short, some are rangy and some are dumpy. Their education ranges from fifth grade to college graduates. They are dressed in every type of masculine clothing imaginable.

Yet in a few short days the long ones seem not much taller than the short ones. The thin ones begin to look like the fat ones and the men seem to grow into uniforms that, while they fitted most strangely the day before now seem to have been tailored for the men. Such is the Army.

Such too is the Army. Take "Reds" Plank, from Gettysburg; Ralph Newman from Littlestown R. D., Jim Parr from up near Orrtanna and myself. The three sur-

CORP. REINECKER NOW IN HAWAII

Corporal George H. Reinecker, 25, U. S. Marine Corps, who was wounded in action in the Pacific about June 11, is now convalescing in a hospital in Hawaii, according to a letter his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reinecker, Aspers R. D., received Wednesday.

The official Marine Corps telegram informing his parents that the young Marine was wounded was delivered Wednesday evening but disclosed no details.

Letters from Corporal Reinecker had previously informed his parents that a piece of shrapnel had struck his right leg above the knee and had broken the bone. The most recent letter reported he is "coming along fine" and is now able to use a wheelchair.

Corporal Reinecker has been in service for two and a half years and has been in the Pacific since February. Members of his family believe he may have been wounded on Saipan.

He has a younger brother, Pfc. Walter Reinecker, 21, who is serving with the infantry in France. The Reineckers also received a letter from him this week.

2 FLIERS WITH 70 AIR MISSIONS EACH ARE HOME

Two Adams county youths, both veterans on more than 70 combat missions with the Ninth Air Force over Germany and occupied countries, are visiting their homes in Two Taverns and Littlestown on 21-day leaves before going to rest camps in this country leading up to re-assignment to duty in the Air Force.

Both men hold the Disunguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with oak leaf clusters and the European Theater of Operations ribbon with two bronze stars, indicating pre-invasion target bombing and tactical operations in support of the invasion.

The veteran aerial fighters, both gunners on medium bombers—B-26 Marauders—are Staff Sergeant Kenneth C. Wolfe, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Wolfe, Two Taverns, and Staff Sergeant Joseph Rickrode, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rickrode, Myrtle street, Littlestown.

Wolfe fought as a top turret gunner and Rickrode was tail gunner on five ships. Both came through without a scratch.

3 Crash Landings

Rickrode's luck held through three crash landings as his crew brought home badly shot up ships and crashed them on airfields in England. On one flight last September Rickrode's ship was deputy leader of a flight attacking an airfield in France. The commanding officer was killed and although Rickrode's pilot and bombardier were hit, the crew assumed leadership of the element and led it back to the home field in England. Most of Rickrode's flights were made on the "Susie Q" although he began his fighting missions on "Boo-by Trap."

He holds two silver oak leaf clusters to his air medal, each representing five bronze clusters, and has two additional bronze clusters.

He and Wolfe were "pals", on occasional meeting in England and Rickrode also met Corporal "Johnny" Palmer in England. Palmer, fighting with the infantry, died on D-Day in France.

Rickrode entered service August 12, 1942 and went overseas 14 months ago. He is a graduate of Delone Catholic high school at McSherrystown and worked in the Glenn L. Martin plant at Baltimore before induction.

Has Five Clusters

Sergeant Wolfe's only comment on combat missions against the Nazis is that they are "tough." He also holds two silver and three bronze oak leaf clusters.

He entered service August 17, 1942 and went overseas early in

MAN KILLED BY HANOVER BLAST

One man was killed, another is suffering from minor injuries and shock while two others slightly were affected by shock as the result of an accidental explosion which occurred Wednesday morning shortly after 7:30 o'clock in the plant of the R. H. Sheppard company, Hanover.

The man who lost his life was Charles W. Messner, 38, Thurmont, Md., R. 2, an employe of the Frick company, Waynesboro. The man suffering from minor injuries and shock is Chester H. Bechtel, Hanover, an employe of the Davidson Heating and Construction company, Hanover; the two who suffered from shock are Jacob C. Bechtel, Hanover, son of Chester Bechtel, also an employe of the Davidson company, and Arthur E. Becker, Hanover, an employe of the Sheppard company.

A cold room had been constructed in the plant for the purpose of testing engine performances under arctic conditions. The unit had been bought from the Frick company and was being installed under their supervision. The man killed was their supervisor.

The plant had never been put into operation but was being tested for leaks before being filled with the refrigerant. The explosion is believed to have originated in the dehydrator due to causes as yet unknown.

Each of the four men present when the accident occurred was knocked flat by the force of the explosion which was heard for several blocks. Mr. Messner was struck in the head by a fragment of the dehydrator, causing a mortal wound.

Mrs. Glenn L. Bream Heads R.C. Motorists

The appointment of Mrs. Glenn L. Bream, West Broadway, as chairman of the Red Cross Motor Corps, a new group which is to be organized by the Adams county chapter as one of its new volunteer services, was announced today at chapter headquarters in the Topper building, Baltimore street.

A course of instruction is being planned for early September. In the meantime plans are being made to enroll 10 to 15 prospective members of the new unit.

"The Motor Corps is a branch of Red Cross volunteer service that never before has been developed here," Mrs. Earl Bowen, volunteer special services chairman, said today, "but it is a unit for which a real need has developed in several divisions of the Red Cross work here."

News Collected At Random

TARGET, BERLIN

This is a story of the bombing of a Focke-Wulfe assembly plant in Berlin by the Flying Fortress "Blues In The Night" as related by Technical Sergeant Malcolm Wendell Patton, 24, former compositor for The Gettysburg Times, who returned Tuesday evening after completing 35 bombing missions over enemy territory. Sergeant Patton has been in the Army Air Forces 20 months and has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and four oak leaf clusters.

We asked him to give us a word picture of a bombing mission on Berlin. This is his graphic, realistic narration:

"Fliers never go to bed before 11 p. m. That is the hour they learn whether they are to go out on a mission the next day. On this particular occasion I was alerted and at 11 o'clock that night I learned that I was to go on a bombing mission the next day. I turned in, but, like all others in the Air Forces when they know they are going out the next day, I couldn't sleep. I smoked one cigarette after another but finally managed to doze off.

At 2 a. m. an operations man awakened me, asked if I was to be a member of a pilot's crew. Then he told me that we would breakfast at 3 a. m., that briefing would be at 4. He told me the amount of gas we would carry and our bomb load. I tossed and stretched and finally got up. Then I started to dress.

"Fliers always wear the same clothes on every mission. They are a superstitious lot and wouldn't change for the world. They also follow the same routine, never deviating, for every mission. They feel it is good luck. I wore my summer underwear. Then I slipped on heavy wool underwear, heavy wool socks and summer flying coveralls. Over this I slipped a heavy turtle-neck sweater, and a G-I scarf. Those who have bailed out of a ship wear white scarfs. Then I put on my lucky G-I cap, a duck bill. I also took a leather and khaki jacket.

"I packed all my personal belongings in a box and told my pals what to do in event I didn't return. We make preparations for every emergency. Those fellows who weren't going out said goodbye and 'See you tonight.' We always answer Rodger-Dodger,' in Air Force vernacular, the equivalent of Message received. Will do it.'

"We all filed out of the barracks and into pick-up trucks that took us to the mess hall about a mile away. No one talks on that short ride. Everybody's thinking and thinking plenty. This may be it.

* * *

"At the mess hall we met the ground crews, those grand fellows who worked all night on our ship. They loaded the gas and the bombs. They were anxious, too. Everything was ready. We filed into the mess hall and sat down on hard benches to a briefing-breakfast of fried eggs (not powdered), bacon, fruit juice, black coffee

STATIONED IN ITALY

Mrs. Zora M. Slaybaugh has received word her son, Cpl. William W. Lawyer, is now in Italy.

Russians Shell Land Of Boche; Slashing Drive

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The German radio said tonight that the Russians had established two strong bridgeheads over the broad and swift Vistula river, one 37 miles south of the Polish capital, which was outflanked and beleged from without and within.

Moscow, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fighting raged within three miles of the East Prussian border today as Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army surged forward in a determined drive from captured Dydvizhe which promised momentarily to carry the war to German soil.

Russian cannon shelled German soil.

Cherniakhovsky's forces swirled to within 28 miles to Tilsit and 44 of Insterburg, important Eastern Prussian rail cities. Konigsberg, East Prussian capital and 18th largest German city of 368,433, was 93 miles away. Five railroads meet at Insterburg, site of iron, machine tool and tile factories.

Front dispatches declared fighting raged near Virbalis and Wizainy, both three miles from the frontier.

Outside of Warsaw, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces hammered at slowly crumbling Nazi defenses in a narrow strip on the east bank of the Vistula.

In the northern sector, where the Russians were pushing against Nazi troops isolated in Estonia and Latvia, major advances were scored between Lake Peipus and the lake country north of Daugavpils.

The Germans originally were estimated to have two armies totaling 200,000 to 300,000 men in this area, but the number actually trapped was uncertain.

In the south, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops advanced west of Jarosiaw to positions only 75 miles from Krakow and 123 miles from German Silesia, front dispatches said, capturing 150 towns and villages.

Die By Hundreds

Front dispatches said Germans were dying by the hundreds at the gates of Warsaw, while Red Army tanks edged closer to bridges over the Vistula. Stormoviks maintained low level blasting of Nazi troops up and down the stream.

A Soviet pilot returning from the war-wracked Polish capital reported the city in flames.

Moscow reports contained nothing fresh from the area of the Latvian port of Riga, where Marshal Ivan Bagramian's troops were hurrying northward over the few remaining miles between them and the port. Their objective was to set up guns and block or seriously interfere with German sea activity in and out of the port.

There was no indication of how many Germans were cut off in the Riga sector, but estimates here placed the figure between 25,000 and 50,000.

Important Rail, Highway Center In Yankee Hands

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Capture of Rennes, ancient capital of Brittany and important rail and highway center, by the swiftly advancing forces of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley was announced today by War Secretary Stimson.

Stimpson told a news conference that troops swinging out from the gateway of Avranches had gone beyond Pontorson on the north side of the Breton peninsula and taken Rennes, the strategic center for the conquest of the entire peninsula.

"Now we have pushed beyond Pontorson and southward on to Rennes, which has been occupied," he asserted.

Stimson also reported that the B-29 Superfortresses which struck the Japanese steel works at Anshan in Manchuria scored direct hits on coke ovens and other factory buildings in an important blow at the enemy's war making capacity.

He said the attack was carried out by a "substantial" force of the Army's new super bombers, which hit Anshan and Tangku, the port of Tiensin in occupied China, on July 29.

"Japan's new industry in stolen Manchuria," the Secretary said, "is no safer than Japan's war industry and war machine elsewhere."

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kump, Biglerville R. 2, near Flohr's church, received a telegram from the War Department Wednesday evening notifying them that their son, Guy, had been wounded in action in France. No details were given.

Pvt. Richard H. Rosensteel, 31, was slightly wounded in France July 6 and is now recovering in a hospital in England according to word received by his wife, Mrs. Pauline Rosensteel, Emmitsburg, from the War Department Wednesday.

Pvt. Rosensteel was inducted last August and went overseas in April. He is a member of the 79th Division.

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 3 (AP)—Columns of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's armor opened a wedge 30 miles deep and 35 miles broad in the heart of Brittany today while Canadian forces opened a new attack below Caen.

Frontline reports said Bradley's armor had reached the outskirts of Dinan in Brittany after drives of 45 and 35 miles respectively from Avranches. These distances had been covered in approximately two days since the American onslaught turned the corner of the bay of St. Michel into Brittany.

By-Pass St. Malo

St. Malo, a highly important port across the bay from Avranches apparently was being by-passed.

Dinan is 13 miles south of St. Malo and 100 miles east of the great port of Brest at Brittany's tip.

Lashing out with a new attack, supported by another of the Allies' smashing aerial and artillery bombardments—which—saturated—the area of attack with steel and fire, Canadian troops struck in the Tilly-le-Campagne area below Caen.

Face Destruction

This offensive intensified the danger to German troops holding stubbornly to the granite hills and forest lands which they have turned into a huge anti-tank area as the keystone of their defenses.

It is in this area that British staff officers said yesterday the Germans must stand and fight with the prospect of being destroyed.

The First Army of a prospective encirclement—Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British—was weaving a strong web of steel below the area from the direction of captured Vire and Estry.

And now the Canadians were striking out from the north with the apparent purpose of meeting it.

German armor milled about in the area yesterday, apparently in a state of confusion as to where to go. A deep penetration into the valleys below Caen from the Canadian sector, a dispatch pointed out, would cut across the Germans' communications and "result in final disaster for the enemy's campaign in the whole of the west of France."

Use Bulldozers

Rocket-carrying Typhoons laid the whip lash to the confused enemy armor yesterday, sending 18 tanks to flaming destruction, damaging 19 more and destroying or damaging 126 other vehicles.

American fighter bombers over Bradley's columns smashed 32 more German tanks, and more than 600 other staff cars, half tracks, trucks, motorcycles and buses.

In the Roncey-Gavray area, inside a 20 by 16-mile area between Avranches and Vire where at least two German armored divisions were faced with threat of entrapment, the roads were so cluttered with broken German transport that American bulldozers were put into action to clear the highways.

They are dressed in every type of masculine clothing imaginable.

Yet in a few short days the long ones seem not much taller than the short ones. The thin ones begin to look like the fat ones and the men seem to grow into uniforms that, while they fitted most strangely the day before now seem to have been tailored for the men. Such is the Army.

Such too is the Army. Take "Reds" Plank, from Gettysburg; Ralph Newman from Littlestown R. D., Jim Parr from up near Orrtanna and myself. The three sur-

CORP. REINECKER NOW IN HAWAII

Corporal George H. Reinecker, 25, U. S. Marine Corps, who was wounded in action in the Pacific about June 11, is now convalescing in a hospital in Hawaii, according to a letter his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Reinecker, Aspers R. D., received Wednesday.

The official Marine Corps telegram informing his parents that the young Marine was wounded was delivered Wednesday evening but disclosed no details.

Letters from Corporal Reinecker had previously informed his parents that a piece of shrapnel had struck his right leg above the knee and had broken the bone. The most recent letter reported he is "coming along fine" and is now able to use a wheelchair.

Corporal Reinecker has been in service for two and a half years and has been in the Pacific since February. Members of his family believe he may have been wounded on Saipan.

He has a younger brother, Pfc. Walter Reinecker, 21, who is serving with the infantry in France. The Reineckers also received a letter from him this week.

2 FLIERS WITH 70 AIR MISSIONS EACH ARE HOME

Two Adams county youths, both veterans on "more than 70 combat missions with the Ninth Air Force over Germany and occupied countries, are visiting their homes in Two Taverns and Littlestown on 21-day leaves before going to rest camps in this country leading up to re-assignment to duty in the Air Force.

Both men hold the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with oak leaf clusters and the European Theater of Operations ribbon with two bronze stars, indicating pre-invasion target bombing and tactical operations in support of the invasion.

The veteran aerial fighters, both gunners on medium bombers—B-26 Marauders—are Staff Sergeant Kenneth C. Wolfe, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Wolfe, Two Taverns, and Staff Sergeant Joseph Rickrode, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rickrode, Myrtle street, Littlestown.

Wolfe fought as a top turret gunner and Rickrode was tail gunner on five ships. Both came through without a scratch.

3 Crash Landings

Rickrode's luck held through three crash landings as his crew brought home badly shot up ships and crashed them on airfields in England. On one flight last September Rickrode's ship was deputy leader of a flight attacking an airfield in France. The commanding officer was killed and although Rickrode's pilot and bombardier were hit, the crew assumed leadership of the element and led it back to the home field in England. Most of Rickrode's flights were made on the "Susie Q" although he began his fighting missions on "Booby Trap."

He holds two silver oak leaf clusters to his air medal, each representing five bronze clusters, and has two additional bronze clusters.

He and Wolfe were "pals" on occasional meeting in England and Rickrode also met Corporal "Johnny" Palmer in England. Palmer, fighting with the infantry, died on D-Day in France.

Rickrode entered service August 12, 1942 and went overseas 14 months ago. He is a graduate of Delone Catholic high school at McSherrystown and worked in the Glenn L. Martin plant at Baltimore before induction.

Has Five Clusters

Sergeant Wolfe's only comment on combat missions against the Nazis is that they are "rough." He also holds two silver and three bronze oak leaf clusters.

He entered service August 17, 1942 and went overseas early in

MAN KILLED BY HANOVER BLAST

One man was killed, another is suffering from minor injuries and shock while two others slightly were affected by shock as the result of an accidental explosion which occurred Wednesday morning shortly after 7:30 o'clock in the plant of the R. H. Sheppard company, Hanover.

The man who lost his life was Charles W. Messner, 28, Thurmont, Md., R. 2, an employe of the Frick company, Waynesboro. The man suffering from minor injuries and shock is Chester H. Bechtel, Hanover, an employe of the Davidson Heating and Construction company, Hanover; the two who suffered from shock are Jacob C. Bechtel, Hanover, son of Chester Bechtel, also an employe of the Davidson company, and Arthur E. Becker, Hanover, an employe of the Sheppard company.

A cold room had been constructed in the plant for the purpose of testing engine performances under arctic conditions. The unit had been bought from the Frick company and was being installed under their supervision. The man killed was their supervisor.

The plant had never been put into operation but was being tested for leaks before being filled with the refrigerant. The explosion is believed to have originated in the dehydrator due to causes as yet unknown.

Each of the four men present when the accident occurred was knocked flat by the force of the explosion which was heard for several blocks. Mr. Messner was struck in the head by a fragment of the dehydrator, causing a mortal wound.

The appointment of Mrs. Glenn L. Bream, West Broadway, as chairman of the Red Cross Motor Corps, a new group which is to be organized by the Adams county chapter as one of its new volunteer services, was announced today at chapter headquarters in the Topper building, Baltimore street.

A course of instruction is being planned for early September. In the meantime plans are being made to enroll 10 to 15 prospective members of the new unit.

"The Motor Corps is a branch of Red Cross volunteer service that never before has been developed here," Mrs. Earl Bowen, volunteer special services chairman, said today, "but it is a unit for which a real need has developed in several divisions of the Red Cross work here."

News Collected At Random

TARGET, BERLIN

This is a story of the bombing of a Focke-Wulfe assembly plant in Berlin by the Flying Fortress "Blues In The Night" as related by Technical Sergeant Malcolm Wendell Patton, 24, former compositor for The Gettysburg Times, who returned Tuesday evening after completing 35 bombing missions over enemy territory. Sergeant Patton has been in the Army Air Forces 20 months and has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and four oak leaf clusters.

We asked nim to give us a word picture of a bombing mission on Berlin. This is his graphic, realistic narration:

"Fliers never go to bed before 11 p. m. That is the hour they learn whether they are to go out on a mission the next day. On this particular occasion I was alerted and at 11 o'clock that night I learned that I was to go on a bombing mission the next day. I turned in, but, like all others in the Air Forces when they know they are going out the next day, I couldn't sleep. I smoked one cigarette after another but finally managed to doze off.

At 2 a. m. an operations man awakened me, asked if I was to be a member of a pilot's crew. Then he told me that we would breakfast at 3 a. m., that briefing would be at 4. He told me the amount of gas we would carry and our bomb load. I tossed and stretched and finally got up. Then I started to dress.

"Fliers always wear the same clothes on every mission. They are a superstitious lot and wouldn't change for the world. They also follow the same routine, never deviating, for every mission. They feel it is good luck. I wore my summer underwear. Then I slipped on heavy wool underwear, heavy wool socks and summer flying coveralls. Over this I slipped a heavy turtle-neck sweater, and a G-I scarf. Those who have bailed out of a ship wear white scarfs. Then I put on my lucky G-I cap, a duck bill. I also took a leather and khaki jacket.

"I packed all my personal belongings in a box and told my pals what to do in event I didn't return. We make preparations for every emergency. Those fellows who weren't going out said goodbye and 'See you tonight.' We always answer 'Rodger-Dodger,' in Air Force vernacular, the equivalent of 'Message received. Will do it.'

"We all filed out of the barracks and into pick-up trucks that took us to the mess hall about a mile away. No one talks on that short ride. Everybody's thinking and thinking plenty. This may be it.

* * *

"At the mess hall we met the ground crews, those grand fellows who worked all night on our ship. They loaded the gas and the bombs. They were anxious, too. Everything was ready. We filed into the mess hall and sat down on hard benches to a briefing-breakfast of fried eggs (not powdered), bacon, fruit juice, black coffee

STATIONED IN ITALY

Mrs. Zora M. Slaybaugh has received word her son, Cpl. William W. Lawver, is now in Italy.

Russians Shell Land Of Boche; Slashing Drive

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The German radio said tonight that the Russians had established two strong bridgeheads over the broad and swift Vistula river, one 37 miles south of the Polish capital, which was outflanked and beieged from without and within.

Moscow, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fighting raged within three miles of the East Prussian border today as Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army surged forward in a determined drive from captured Dydvizhe which promised momentarily to carry the war to German soil.

Russian cannon shelled German soil.

Cherniakhovsky's forces swirled to within 28 miles to Tilsit and 44 of Insterburg, important Eastern Prussian rail cities. Konigsberg, East Prussian capital and 18th largest German city of 368,433, was 93 miles away. Five railroads meet at Insterburg, site of iron, machine tool and tile factories.

Front dispatches declared fighting raged near Virbalis and Wizainy, both three miles from the frontier.

Outside of Warsaw, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces hammered at slowly crumbling Nazi defenses in a narrow strip on the east bank of the Vistula.

In the northern sector, where the Russians were pushing against Nazi troops isolated in Estonia and Latvia, major advances were scored between Lake Peipus and the lake country north of Daugavpils.

The Germans originally were estimated to have two armies totaling 200,000 to 300,000 men in this area, but the number actually trapped was uncertain.

In the south, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops advanced west of Jaroslaw to positions only 75 miles from Krakow and 123 miles from German Silesia, front dispatches said, capturing 150 towns and villages.

Die By Hundreds

Front dispatches said Germans were dying by the hundreds at the gates of Warsaw, while Red Army tanks edged closer to bridges over the Vistula. Stormoviks maintained low level blasting of Nazi troops up and down the stream.

A Soviet pilot returning from the war-wracked Polish capital reported the city in flames.

Moscow reports contained nothing fresh from the area of the Latvian port of Riga, where Marshal Ivan Bagramian's troops were hurrying northward over the few remaining miles between them and the port. Their objective was to set up guns and block or seriously interfere with German sea activity in and out of the port.

There was no indication of how many Germans were cut off in the Riga sector, but estimates here placed the figure between 25,000 and 50,000.

Important Rail, Highway Center In Yankee Hands

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Capture of Rennes, ancient capital of Brittany and important rail and highway center, by the swiftly advancing forces of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley was announced today by War Secretary Stimson.

Stimpson told a news conference that troops swinging out from the gateway of Avranches had gone beyond Pontorson on the north side of the Breton peninsula and taken Rennes, the strategic center for the conquest of the entire peninsula.

"Now we have pushed beyond Pontorson and southward on to Rennes, which has been occupied," he asserted.

Stimson also reported that the B-29 Superfortresses which struck the Japanese steel works at Anshan in Manchuria scored direct hits on coke ovens and other factory buildings in an important blow at the enemy's war making capacity.

He said the attack was carried out by a "substantial" force of the Army's new super bombers, which hit Anshan and Tangku, the port of Tiensin in occupied China, on July 29.

"Japan's new industry in stolen Manchuria," the Secretary said, "is no safer than Japan's war industry and war machine elsewhere."

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 3 (AP)—Columns of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's armor opened a wedge 30 miles deep and 35 miles broad in the heart of Brittany today while Canadian forces opened a new attack below Caen.

Frontline reports said Bradley's armor had reached the outskirts of Dinan in Brittany after drives of 45 and 35 miles respectively from Avranches. These distances had been covered in approximately two days since the American onslaught turned the corner of the bay of St. Michel into Brittany.

By-Pass St. Malo

St. Malo, a highly important port across the bay from Avranches apparently was being by-passed.

Dinan is 13 miles south of St. Malo and 100 miles east of the great port of Brest at Brittany's tip.

Rennes, central communications point of Brittany, is but 80 miles north of Brittany's second port, St. Nazaire, at the mouth of the Loire river, and near the center of the peninsula.

Dinan is 25 miles beyond Pontorson, last officially reported position of the west-bound lancehead.

Lashing out with a new attack, supported by another of the Allies' smashing aerial and artillery bombardments which saturated the area of attack with steel and fire, Canadian troops struck in the Tilly-le-Campagne area below Caen.

Face Destruction

This offensive intensified the danger to German troops holding stubbornly to the granite hills and forest lands which they have turned into a huge anti-tank area as the keystone of their defenses.

It is in this area that British staff officers said yesterday the Germans must stand and fight with the prospect of being destroyed.

The First Army of a prospective encirclement—Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British—was weaving a strong web of steel below the area from the direction of captured Vire and Estry.

And now the Canadians were striking out from the north with the apparent purpose of meeting it.

German armor milled about in the area yesterday, apparently in a state of confusion as to where to go. A deep penetration into the valleys below Caen from the Canadian sector, a dispatch pointed out, would cut across the Germans' communications and "result in final disaster for the enemy's campaign in the whole of the west of France."

Use Bulldozers

Rocket-carrying Typhoons laid the whip lash to the confused enemy armor yesterday, sending 18 tanks to flaming destruction, damaging 19 more and destroying or damaging 126 other vehicles.

American fighter bombers over Bradley's columns smashed 32 more German tanks, and more than 800 other staff cars, half tracks, trucks, motorcycles and buses.

In the Roncey-Gavray area, inside a 20 by 16-mile area between Avranches and Vire where at least two German armored divisions were faced with threat of entrapment, the roads were so cluttered with broken German transport that American bulldozers were put into action to clear the highways.

FIRST CASE OF PARALYSIS IS REPORTED HERE

The first case of infantile paralysis in Adams county this year was diagnosed Wednesday afternoon in New Oxford.

The patient is Norma Jean Hull, aged seven years, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hull, Lincolnway east, New Oxford. The home was placed under polio quarantine Wednesday by Oscar Zeigler, borough health officer.

The girl suffers from partial paralysis of the left leg but her physician, Dr. Wilbur Miller, New Oxford, believes that her illness has passed the stage where further paralysis may be expected. Massage is being used to a great extent in the treatment prescribed for the child who will remain at her home for the present and likely will not be removed to a hospital unless her condition becomes more serious. She does not now require any respiratory aids.

Visited In Baltimore

The case has been under suspicion for several days Doctor Miller said but was diagnosed finally Wednesday. The girl had been visiting with friends in Baltimore for two weeks and was ill when she returned home Sunday.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, appealed today to parents throughout the county to "keep your children at home and avoid trips to other parts of the state or nearby cities." Some sections already are being swept by epidemics of this dreaded disease, Doctor Crist pointed out, and every effort is to be made to avoid a repetition here of the epidemic of polio that hit the county several years ago.

No general regulations will be imposed immediately, Doctor Crist said. Unless more cases appear, countians will be depended upon for voluntary control measures. Every effort will be made to avoid the necessity for imposing strict rules on travel and social gatherings that were put in force here when the last epidemic appeared.

PRIVATE ROTH CITES ARMY FOR "UNIFORMITY"

By PVT. G. HENRY ROTH
(Former member of the editorial staff of The Gettysburg Times)

The Army is a wonderful institution with its discipline, its food, its accommodations, its mechanical devices and its involved bookkeeping system, which I'll lay odds, even keeps track of the buttons on soldiers' vest pockets.

At the same time no one could possibly win a bet against the following statement—99 per cent of the Army men would like to be civilian men. Possibly that's why this nation has never built up a military caste—its soldiers are just civilians in uniform, for the duration.

Army Uniformity

The most astounding thing about the Army is uniformity. It takes a bunch of raw recruits, like ourselves, and looks over as motley a collection as any draft board would like to find. Good fellows, one and all, of course, but some are tall and some are short, some are rangy and some are dumpy. Their education ranges from fifth grade to college graduates. They are dressed in every type of masculine clothing imaginable.

Yet in a few short days the long ones seem not much taller than the short ones. The thin ones begin to look like the fat ones and the men seem to grow into uniforms that, while they fitted most strangely the day before now seem to have been tailored for the men. Such is the Army.

Such too is the Army. Take "Reds" Plank, from Gettysburg; Ralph Newman from Littlestown R. D., Jim Parr from up near Orrtanna and myself. The three sur-

TARGET, BERLIN

This is a story of the bombing of a Focke-Wulfe assembly plant in Berlin by the Flying Fortress "Blues In The Night" as related by Technical Sergeant Malcolm Wendell Patton, 24, former compositor for The Gettysburg Times, who returned Tuesday evening after completing 35 bombing missions over enemy territory. Sergeant Patton has been in the Army Air Forces 20 months and has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and four oak leaf clusters.

We asked him to give us a word picture of a bombing mission on Berlin. This is his graphic, realistic narration:

"Fliers never go to bed before 11 p. m. That is the hour they learn whether they are to go out on a mission the next day. On this particular occasion I was alerted and at 11 o'clock that night I learned that I was to go on a bombing mission the next day. I turned in, but, like all others in the Air Forces when they know they are going out the next day, I couldn't sleep. I smoked one cigarette after another but finally managed to doze off.

At 2 a. m. an operations man awakened me, asked if I was to be a member of a pilot's crew. Then he told me that we would breakfast at 3 a. m., that briefing would be at 4. He told me the amount of gas we would carry and our bomb load. I tossed and stretched and finally got up. Then I started to dress.

"Fliers always wear the same clothes on every mission. They are a superstitious lot and wouldn't change for the world. They also follow the same routine, never deviating, for every mission. They feel it is good luck. I wore my summer underwear. Then I slipped on heavy wool underwear, heavy wool socks and summer flying coveralls. Over this I slipped a heavy turtle-neck sweater, and a G-I scarf. Those who have bailed out of a ship wear white scarfs. Then I put on my lucky G-I cap, a duck bill. I also took a leather and khaki jacket.

"I packed all my personal belongings in a box and told my pals what to do in event I didn't return. We make preparations for every emergency. Those fellows who weren't going out said goodbye and 'See you tonight.' We always answer 'Rodger-Dodger,' in Air Force vernacular, the equivalent of 'Message received. Will do it.'

"We all filed out of the barracks and into pick-up trucks that took us to the mess hall about a mile away. No one talks on that short ride. Everybody's thinking and thinking plenty. This may be it.

* * *

"At the mess hall we met the ground crews, those grand fellows who worked all night on our ship. They loaded the gas and the bombs. They were anxious, too. Everything was ready. We filed into the mess hall and sat down on hard benches to a briefing-breakfast of fried eggs (not powdered), bacon, fruit juice, black coffee

STATIONED IN ITALY

Mrs. Zora M. Slaybaugh has received word her son, Cpl. William W. Lawver, is now in Italy.

Russians Shell Land Of Boche; Slashing Drive

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The German radio said tonight that the Russians had established two strong bridgeheads over the broad and swift Vistula river, one 37 miles south of the Polish capital, which was outflanked and beieged from without and within.

Moscow, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fighting raged within three miles of the East Prussian border today as Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army surged forward in a determined drive from captured Dydvizhe which promised momentarily to carry the war to German soil.

Cherniakhovsky's forces swirled to within 28 miles to Tilsit and 44 of Insterburg, important Eastern Prussian rail cities. Konigsberg, East Prussian capital and 18th largest German city of 368,433, was 93 miles away. Five railroads meet at Insterburg, site of iron, machine tool and tile factories.

Outside of Warsaw, Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces hammered at slowly crumbling Nazi defenses in a narrow strip on the east bank of the Vistula.

In the northern sector, where the Russians were pushing against Nazi troops isolated in Estonia and Latvia, major advances were scored between Lake Peipus and the lake country north of Daugavpils.

The Germans originally were estimated to have two armies totaling 200,000 to 300,000 men in this area, but the number actually trapped was uncertain.

In the south, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops advanced west of Jaroslaw to positions only 75 miles from Krakow and 123 miles from German Silesia, front dispatches said, capturing 150 towns and villages.

Die By Hundreds

Front dispatches said Germans were dying by the hundreds at the gates of Warsaw, while Red Army tanks edged closer to bridges over the Vistula. Stormoviks maintained low level blasting of Nazi troops up and down the stream.

A Soviet pilot returning from the war-wracked Polish capital reported the city in flames.

Moscow reports contained nothing fresh from the area of the Latvian port of Riga, where Marshal Ivan Bagramian's troops were hurrying northward over the few remaining miles between them and the port. Their objective was to set up guns and block or seriously interfere with German sea activity in and out of the port.

There was no indication of how many Germans were cut off in the Riga sector, but estimates here placed the figure between 25,000 and 50,000.

Important Rail, Highway Center In Yankee Hands

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Capture of Rennes, ancient capital of Brittany and important rail and highway center, by the swiftly advancing forces of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley was announced today by War Secretary Stimson.

Stimpson told a news conference that troops swinging out from the gateway of Avranches had gone beyond Pontorson on the north side of the Breton peninsula and taken Rennes, the strategic center for the conquest of the entire peninsula.

"Now we have pushed beyond Pontorson and southward on to Rennes, which has been occupied," he asserted.

Stimson also reported that the B-29 Superfortresses which struck the Japanese steel works at Anshan in Manchuria scored direct hits on coke ovens and other factory buildings in an important blow at the enemy's war making capacity.

He said the attack was carried out by a "substantial" force of the Army's new super bombers, which hit Anshan and Tangku, the port of Tiensin in occupied China, on July 29.

"Japan's new industry in stolen Manchuria," the Secretary said, "is no safer than Japan's war industry and war machine elsewhere."

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 3 (AP)—Columns of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's armor opened a wedge 30 miles deep and 35 miles broad in the heart of Brittany today while Canadian forces opened a new attack below Caen.

Frontline reports said Bradley's armor had reached the outskirts of Dinan in Brittany after drives of 45 and 35 miles respectively from Avranches. These distances had been covered in approximately two days since the American onslaught turned the corner of the bay of St. Michel into Brittany.

By-Pass St. Malo

St. Malo, a highly important port across the bay from Avranches apparently was being by-passed.

Dinan is 13 miles south of St. Malo and 100 miles east of the great port of Brest at Brittany's tip.

Rennes, central communications point of Brittany, is but 80 miles north of Brittany's second port, St. Nazaire, at the mouth of the Loire river, and near the center of the peninsula.

Dinan is 25 miles beyond Pontorson, last officially reported position of the west-bound lancehead.

Lashing out with a new attack, supported by another of the Allies' smashing aerial and artillery bombardments which saturated the area of attack with steel and fire, Canadian troops struck in the Tilly-le-Campagne area below Caen.

Face Destruction

This offensive intensified the danger to German troops holding stubbornly to the granite hills and forest lands which they have turned into a huge anti-tank area as the keystone of their defenses.

It is in this area that British staff officers said yesterday the Germans must stand and fight with the prospect of being destroyed.

The First Army of a prospective encirclement—Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's British—was weaving a strong web of steel below the area from the direction of captured Vire and Estry.

And now the Canadians were striking out from the north with the apparent purpose of meeting it.

German armor milled about in the area yesterday, apparently in a state of confusion as to where to go. A deep penetration into the valleys below Caen from the Canadian sector, a dispatch pointed out, would cut across the Germans' communications and "result in final disaster for the enemy's campaign in the whole of the west of France."

Use Bulldozers

Rocket-carrying Typhoons laid the whip lash to the confused enemy armor yesterday, sending 18 tanks to flaming destruction, damaging 19 more and destroying or damaging 126 other vehicles.

American fighter bombers over Bradley's columns smashed 32 more German tanks, and more than 800 other staff cars, half tracks, trucks, motorcycles and buses.

In the Roncey-Gavray area, inside a 20 by 16-mile area between Avranches and Vire where at least two German armored divisions were faced with threat of entrapment, the roads were so cluttered with broken German transport that American bulldozers were put into action to clear the highways.

HITLER'S PAGAN GODS FINALLY DESERTING HIM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Anglo-American Allies continue to tear into the badly mauled and disorganized Nazi ranks on the invasion front of France, and a late dispatch from British headquarters in Normandy says this is the beginning of "the great retreat."

That may well be so. The cold fact is the Germans are up against an overwhelming strength in both men and material which have been poured through the bloody beachheads of Normandy.

Hitler's fighting-machine in France is beginning to break up, just as it is doing on the Eastern front.

British Prime Minister Churchill yesterday said truly that "it is the Russian army that has done the main work of tearing the guts out of the German army." But while the fighting in France never will reach the monumental scale of the Russo-Nazi war, the western Allies also are about to give a fearsome exhibition of ripping out what Mr. Churchill said.

Cherbourg Fills Bill

If the Americans succeed in cutting off the Brest peninsula and capturing the great port of Brest—and today's reports indicate smashing progress—it will provide harbor and rail facilities which will add much to the Allied striking power. However, Cherbourg can fill the bill for the time being without Brest, and we may expect that there will be no delay in pressing the drive on Paris, for the Canadians and British are destroying the Nazi right wing and the center in the Vire sector while the Yanks race into Brittany on the other flank.

Truly Hitler's pagan gods have deserted him. At last he's feeling the mighty weight of the Allied vise. With the Red Armies slashing his entire line to ribbons, and today at the very border of the "sacred soil" of East Prussia, he can't spare troops from the eastern theater to bolster his hard-pressed forces in France. And he has nothing like enough troops or equipment in the west to protect himself for long.

Allied Superiority

At latest reports the Germans had on the Normandy front a total of 26 divisions of various categories, including four Panzer units and some infantry divisions which are partly armored. Thirteen of these divisions have been on the British sector and fifteen on the American. It's impossible to estimate accurately the number of troops involved, because many divisions are under normal quota. Perhaps there has been a minimum of a quarter million men.

The Hitlerites claim that the Allies have fifty divisions in Normandy. If that's so it might mean close to 700,000 men. When you consider that the Germans have only about 65 divisions in western Europe, Hitler's problem becomes doubly clear, for he has many points to protect against further Allied invasions.

The American drive into Brittany is eased greatly by the fact that the Germans had to withdraw forces from there to meet the Allied onslaught in Normandy. This withdrawal also lessens the danger of a heavy German counter-attack from Brittany against the Allies right wing now emerging from Normandy.

Rainfall Relieves Widespread Drought

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The weather bureau said today heavy rains of the past 36 hours had broken a serious drought in a wide eastern coastal belt extending from Virginia into eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The storm today moved into eastern New York and lower New England, sections still needing moisture, and forecasters expressed hope that the rain in that area would be sufficient to relieve conditions there.

Farm officials said the eastern rain arrived in time to save important truck crops and corn from serious damage. Yields, however, will not be as high as if it had fallen a week earlier.

Chungking Ice Is 60 Cents A Pound

Chungking, Aug. 3 (AP)—Authorities set a ceiling price for ice at 12 Chinese dollars a pound (60 United States cents at official exchange rate) today as the city broiled in a heat wave.

Other ceiling prices fixed for hot weather refresheners were: Ice cream, 60 Chinese dollars ($3.00) a cup; lemonade, 40 dollars ($2.00) a bottle; iced milk, 50 dollars ($2.50) a glass; ice suckers, 18 dollars (90 cents) a stick.

A second hand refrigerator was advertised for sale at 650,000 dollars ($32,500).

OPA CHANGES PRICE PENALTY

The Harrisburg district OPA office announced today that suspension orders will no longer be brought against dealers in rationed commodities for price violations but will be issued only in cases of violation of rationing rules. Formerly suspension order proceedings were brought also for violations of ceiling price rules

This change in policy is being made, OPA said, in accordance with the intent of Congress as expressed in the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944. This provided that no rationing regulation may contain a provision requiring compliance with a price regulation

The revisions, effective August 7, 1944 consist of deleting from two suspension order regulations all language authorizing issuance of suspension orders against dealers in rationed commodities who have sold the commodities at excess prices.

OPA has already dismissed all suspension order cases that were based wholly on charges of selling or offering to sell rationed commodities at prices higher than established ceiling prices, not decided as of June 30, 1944, the date the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944 became effective. Such charges will be dropped in those cases which contain allegations of both rationing violations and sales at excess prices

YANKEES HALT NAZI EFFORTS TO CROSS ARNO

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Fifth Army has broken German efforts to send counterattacking forces across the Arno river on both sides of besieged Pisa near Italy's west coast, Allied headquarters announced today.

The enemy appeared attempting to take the initiative also near the inland wing of the American forces by sending 200 troops to the south bank of the Arno river northeast of Pontedera, but mortar fire dispersed this force.

Eight Army units were making fresh dents in the Nazi defense ring around Florence.

Attacking north from San Michele and La Romola, Eighth Army units captured the commanding heights of La Poggiona, five and one-half miles southwest of the historic art city. New Zealand troops previously had been reported within five miles of the city's outskirts in that area.

Cross Pesa River

West of Florence British and Indian troops crossed the Pesa river on a two-mile bridgehead and advanced one mile, capturing the village of Ginestra, three miles southeast of Montelupo, and threatening the entire west flank of the German line south of the Arno river in that area.

Headquarters received reports from Italian civilians that the Nazis were clearing civilians from stretches of the north bank of the Arno both east and west of Florence.

A proclamation by the Nazi command, found posted in the San Ubaldo monastery at Gubbio said that "in the past days criminal elements of the civil population have repeatedly ambushed and shot at German soldiers" and that "by way of punishment for such acts certain villages have been burned down and a number of male inhabitants summarily shot according to law."

While up to 500 American heavy bombers yesterday pounded Rhone valley communications and an enemy torpedo factory in southern France other Italian-based warplanes battered German supply lines in Italy's Po valley. Nine Allied planes were lost and two enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Accuses Father Of Killing Son

Reynoldsville, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—District Attorney William A. Sykes of Jefferson county said he would file a charge of murder against John Spears, 64, in the fatal shooting of Spear's son, Harry, 34, last night

Sykes said the elder Spears had admitted he fired a shotgun at his son following an argument over a horse, but said he had done so "only to scare him."

He said Spears told him that after the argument Harry, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad employe, had left the house and returned later. As he entered the door he was met by a blast from the shotgun.

Sykes said Spears probably would be arraigned today before a justice of the peace.

Nazis Threaten A New Offensive

Madrid, Aug. 3 (AP)—Nazi propaganda has taken the line that retreating German armies will go over to the offensive by September with new secret weapons now being developed.

CIO POLITICAL ACTION GROUP TO BE PROBED

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—A three-man subcommittee, two of whose members recently were defeated for renomination in the face of CIO opposition, was named today to make a Dies committee investigation of the CIO's political action committee (PAC.)

From his home in Texas, Chairman Martin Dies (D) sent word that the investigation, a continuance of an earlier inquiry by the house committee on unAmerican activities, would be made by Reps. Starnes (D-Ala), Costello (D-Cal) and Thomas (R-NJ) or Busbey (R-Ill.)

Dies said the subcommittee, of which Starnes will be chairman, probably would begin its work next week and report within the next month or two to the full committee.

Demands Prosecution

The Texan announced appointment of the committee as he issued an ultimatum to Attorney General Biddle to prosecute, under election statutes, the PAC and government officials he said have been active in PAC work.

Biddle recently reported that a department investigation found no evidence of law-breaking by the PAC.

Unless Biddle complies with the committee's recommendations for prosecution, Dies said, the committee will press for enactment of legislation "to divorce the government from the CIO and to separate New Deal leaders from the political action committee."

The legislation he has in mind, he explained, would make it a penitentiary offense for an individual to be active in the PAC while holding a federal job.

The Navy listed four known dead besides Admiral Cecil and reported that 14 others were missing after the crash. One of the missing, an Army lieutenant colonel, was killed, according to the War Department.

The big plane, a Naval transport operated under contract by Pan-American Airways, crashed in a take-off from an unidentified Pacific base. No other details have been revealed.

Enemy Predicts Another Landing

There was no evidence from any other quarters to support the Vichy assertions

Axis radios on several occasions recently have broadcast similar reports.

Snyder, who is head of the department, says that the boys will conduct experiments demonstrating the effects of fertilizing and liming as well as proving the advantages of various varieties of plants. Seed treatment experiments will also be conducted in the building which will be ready for use some time this fall.

A hot water system is being installed with automatic gas heat.

Yugoslavs Take Enemy Stronghold

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—Yugoslav Partisans have captured the enemy stronghold of Gornjavakuf in the upper Vrbas river valley in Bosnia after a 16-hour battle, last night's communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters announced.

Heavy losses were inflicted on units of the German Prince Eugen Division and Ustashi forces, the broadcast bulletin said.

The Partisans were declared to have waged bitter battles across the breadth of Yugoslavia, but nowhere more determinedly than in Croatia, where they set up positions to defend crops now being harvested.

IDLE WORKERS ON STRIKE ARE RE-CLASSIFIED

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, commanding general of the Service Command, came here today apparently to take over Philadelphia's paralyzed transportation system.

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Philadelphians by the thousands walked or hitch-hiked to their jobs in a drizzling rain today as the city looked to the White House to end a three-day old transportation tieup that slashed war production and caused clashes between whites and negroes.

The rain kept racial disorders at a low ebb last night, and no fighting had been reported since midnight. Extra police details, however, were on duty today.

Up grading of eight negro employes under a directive of President Roosevelt's Fair Employment Practices Committee precipitated th walkout, which appeared almost certain to culminate in government seizure of the Philadelphia transportation company with possible use of troops.

Smash Windows

Police reported a new wave of window smashings, which they attributed to negro youths, as a two-hour move by a small group of PTC employes to restore service on Philadelphia's two subway lines ended in failure.

An official of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), who declined to be quoted by name, said back-to-work appeals to the 6,000 employes had "only a ghost of a chance" to succeed "barring a big break in Washington." Government seizure, he agreed, would be such a "break." The union is opposed to the stoppage.

Interracial clashes stemming from the work stoppage caused hospitalization of at least 13 persons before yesterday's steady rain—called "providential" by one police official—drove wandering bands of rioters indoors.

But the downpour also contributed to a transport snarl that kept 140,000 of the area's 800,000 war workers from their jobs, the War Manpower Commission reported, and caused a central city business decline estimated by a retail trade spokesman at $1,000,000 a day.

Extra trains on the Pennsylvania railroad and Reading company lines could carry only a fraction of the 1,500,000 persons who daily ride on PTC trolleys, buses and subway trains, while an oil industry spokesman said motorists granted extra gasoline in the emergency were draining the region's tanks.

Reclassify Idle

Late appeals to the absentee workers were made by Mayor Bernard Samuel, who said the work stoppage was "sabotage of our country's war effort," and James J. Fitzsimon, TWU International vice president, who asserted that "a small group of self-seeking, disgruntled" employes were "trying to regain power over the dead bodies of American soldiers."

At least a dozen draft boards announced they were reclassifying into 1-A a total of more than 500 idle workers, who previously had occupational deferments.

North Philadelphia's civic league, as yesterday's sporadic violence lessened, posted several hundred placards reading: "Negroes, think before you act. Your neighbors are not your enemies. Let's all cooperate for mutual helpfulness."

Taprooms and liquor stores remained closed by city and state order.

C. C. DIRECTORS TO MEET

HITLER'S PAGAN GODS FINALLY DESERTING HIM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Anglo-American Allies continue to tear into the badly mauled and disorganized Nazi ranks on the invasion front of France, and a late dispatch from British headquarters in Normandy says this is the beginning of "the great retreat."

That may well be so. The cold fact is the Germans are up against an overwhelming strength in both men and material which have been poured through the bloody beachheads of Normandy.

Hitler's fighting-machine in France is beginning to break up, just as it is doing on the Eastern front.

British Prime Minister Churchill yesterday said truly that "it is the Russian army that has done the main work of tearing the guts out of the German army." But while the fighting in France never will reach the monumental scale of the Russo-Nazi war, the western Allies also are about to give a fearsome exhibition of ripping out what Mr. Churchill said.

Cherbourg Fills Bill

If the Americans succeed in cutting off the Brest peninsula and capturing the great port of Brest—and today's reports indicate smashing progress—it will provide harbor and rail facilities which will add much to the Allied striking power. However, Cherbourg can fill the bill for the time being without Brest, and we may expect that there will be no delay in pressing the drive on Paris, for the Canadians and British are destroying the Nazi right wing and the center in the Vire sector while the Yanks race into Brittany on the other flank.

Truly Hitler's pagan gods have deserted him. At last he's feeling the mighty weight of the Allied vise. With the Red Armies slashing his entire line to ribbons, and today at the very border of the "sacred soil" of East Prussia, he can't spare troops from the eastern theater to bolster his hard-pressed forces in France. And he has nothing like enough troops or equipment in the west to protect himself for long.

Allied Superiority

At latest reports the Germans had on the Normandy front a total of 28 divisions of various categories, including four Panzer units and some infantry divisions which are partly armored. Thirteen of these divisions have been on the British sector and fifteen on the American. It's impossible to estimate accurately the number of troops involved, because many divisions are under normal quota. Perhaps there has been a minimum of a quarter million men.

The Hitlerites claim that the Allies have fifty divisions in Normandy. If that's so it might mean close to 700,000 men. When you consider that the Germans have only about 65 divisions in western Europe, Hitler's problem becomes doubly clear, for he has many points to protect against further Allied invasions.

The American drive into Brittany is eased greatly by the fact that the Germans had to withdraw forces from there to meet the Allied onslaught in Normandy. This withdrawal also lessens the danger of a heavy German counter-attack from Brittany against the Allies right wing now emerging from Normandy.

Rainfall Relieves Widespread Drought

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The weather bureau said today heavy rains of the past 36 hours had broken a serious drought in a wide eastern coastal belt extending from Virginia into eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The storm today moved into eastern New York and lower New England, sections still needing moisture, and forecasters expressed hope that the rain in that area would be sufficient to relieve conditions there.

Farm officials said the eastern rain arrived in time to save important truck crops and corn from serious damage. Yields, however, will not be as high as if it had fallen a week earlier.

Chungking Ice Is 60 Cents A Pound

Chungking, Aug. 3 (AP)—Authorities set a ceiling price for ice at 12 Chinese dollars a pound (60 United States cents at official exchange rate) today as the city broiled in a heat wave.

Other ceiling prices fixed for hot weather refresheners were: Ice cream, 60 Chinese dollars ($3.00) a cup; lemonade, 40 dollars ($2.00) a bottle; iced milk, 50 dollars ($2.50) a glass; ice suckers, 18 dollars (90 cents) a stick.

A second hand refrigerator was advertised for sale at 650,000 dollars ($32,500).

OPA CHANGES PRICE PENALTY

The Harrisburg district OPA office announced today that suspension orders will no longer be brought against dealers in rationed commodities for price violations but will be issued only in cases of violation of rationing rules. Formerly suspension order proceedings were brought also for violations of ceiling price rules.

This change in policy is being made, OPA said, in accordance with the intent of Congress as expressed in the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944. This provided that no rationing regulation may contain a provision requiring compliance with a price regulation.

The revisions, effective August 7, 1944, consist of deleting from two suspension order regulations all language authorizing issuance of suspension orders against dealers in rationed commodities who have sold the commodities at excess prices.

OPA has already dismissed all suspension order cases that were based wholly on charges of selling or offering to sell rationed commodities at prices higher than established ceiling prices, not decided as of June 30, 1944, the date the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944 became effective. Such charges will be dropped in those cases which contain allegations of both rationing violations and sales at excess prices.

YANKEES HALT NAZI EFFORTS TO CROSS ARNO

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Fifth Army has broken German efforts to send counterattacking forces across the Arno river on both sides of besieged Pisa near Italy's west coast, Allied headquarters announced today.

The enemy appeared attempting to take the initiative also near the inland wing of the American forces by sending 200 troops to the south bank of the Arno river northeast of Pontedera, but mortar fire dispersed this force.

Eight Army units were making fresh dents in the Nazi defense ring around Florence.

Attacking north from San Michele and La Romola, Eighth Army units captured the commanding heights of La Poggiona, five and one-half miles southwest of the historic art city. New Zealand troops previously had been reported within five miles of the city's outskirts in that area.

Cross Pesa River

West of Florence British and Indian troops crossed the Pesa river on a two-mile bridgehead and advanced one mile, capturing the village of Ginestra, three miles southeast of Montelupo, and threatening the entire west flank of the German line south of the Arno river in that area.

Headquarters received reports from Italian civilians that the Nazis were clearing civilians from stretches of the north bank of the Arno both east and west of Florence.

A proclamation by the Nazi command found posted in the San Ubaldo monastery at Gubbio said that "in the past days criminal elements of the civil population have repeatedly ambushed and shot at German soldiers" and that "by way of punishment for such acts certain villages have been burned down and a number of male inhabitants summarily shot according to law."

While up to 500 American heavy bombers yesterday pounded Rhone valley communications and an enemy torpedo factory in southern France other Italian-based warplanes battered German supply lines in Italy's Po valley. Nine Allied planes were lost and two enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Accuses Father Of Killing Son

Reynoldsville, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—District Attorney William A. Sykes of Jefferson county said he would file a charge of murder against John Spears, 64, in the fatal shooting of Spear's son, Harry, 34, last night.

Sykes said the elder Spears had admitted he fired a shotgun at his son following an argument over a horse, but said he had done so "only to scare him."

He said Spears told him that after the argument Harry, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad employe, had left the house and returned later. As he entered the door he was met by a blast from the shotgun.

Sykes said Spears probably would be arraigned today before a justice of the peace.

Nazis Threaten A New Offensive

Madrid, Aug. 3 (AP)—Nazi propaganda has taken the line that retreating German armies will go over to the offensive by September with new secret weapons now being developed.

Seconding the promises of propaganda minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, the Nazi military critic, Lt. Col. Kurt Dittmar, was quoted today in Berlin dispatches as saying that "all we need is time to complete what is being created."

CIO POLITICAL ACTION GROUP TO BE PROBED

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—A three-man subcommittee, two of whose members recently were defeated for renomination in the face of CIO opposition, was named today to make a Dies committee investigation of the CIO's political action committee (PAC.)

From his home in Texas, Chairman Martin Dies (D) sent word that the investigation, a continuance of an earlier inquiry by the house committee on unAmerican activities, would be made by Reps. Starnes (D-Ala), Costello (D-Cal) and Thomas (R-NJ) or Busbey (R-Ill.)

Dies said the subcommittee, of which Starnes will be chairman, probably would begin its work next week and report within the next month or two to the full committee.

Demands Prosecution

The Texan announced appointment of the committee as he issued an ultimatum to Attorney General Biddle to prosecute, under election statutes, the PAC and government officials he said have been active in PAC work.

Biddle recently reported that a department investigation found no evidence of law-breaking by the PAC.

Unless Biddle complies with the committee's recommendations for prosecution, Dies said, the committee will press for enactment of legislation "to divorce the government from the CIO and to separate New Deal leaders from the political action committee."

The legislation he has in mind, he explained, would make it a penitentiary offense for an individual to be active in the PAC while holding a federal job.

The Navy listed four known dead besides Admiral Cecil and reported that 14 others were missing after the crash. One of the missing, an Army lieutenant colonel, was killed, according to the War Department.

The big plane, a Naval transport operated under contract by Pan-American Airways, crashed in a take-off from an unidentified Pacific base. No other details have been revealed.

Enemy Predicts Another Landing

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Vichy radio, in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press, asserted today "a large fleet of Allied landing craft is now cruising the Tyrrhenian sea" and added there were signs that "a new landing in northern Italy or southern France is imminent."

There was no evidence from any other quarters to support the Vichy assertions.

Axis radios on several occasions recently have broadcast similar reports.

Fitzsimon, TWU International vice president, who asserted that "a small group of self-seeking, disgruntled" employes were "trying to regain power over the dead bodies of American soldiers."

At least a dozen draft boards announced they were reclassifying into 1-A a total of more than 500 idle workers, who previously had occupational deferments.

North Philadelphia's civic league, as yesterday's sporadic violence lessened, posted several hundred placards reading: "Negroes, think before you act. Your neighbors are not your enemies. Let's all cooperate for mutual helpfulness."

Taprooms and liquor stores remained closed by city and state order.

HITLER'S PAGAN GODS FINALLY DESERTING HIM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Anglo-American Allies continue to tear into the badly mauled and disorganized Nazi ranks on the invasion front of France, and a late dispatch from British headquarters in Normandy says this is the beginning of "the great retreat."

That may well be so. The cold fact is the Germans are up against an overwhelming strength in both men and material which have been poured through the bloody beachheads of Normandy.

Hitler's fighting-machine in France is beginning to break up, just as it is doing on the Eastern front.

British Prime Minister Churchill yesterday said truly that "it is the Russian army that has done the main work of tearing the guts out of the German army." But while the fighting in France never will reach the monumental scale of the Russo-Nazi war, the western Allies also are about to give a fearsome exhibition of ripping out what Mr. Churchill said.

Cherbourg Fills Bill

If the Americans succeed in cutting off the Brest peninsula and capturing the great port of Brest—and today's reports indicate smashing progress—it will provide harbor and rail facilities which will add much to the Allied striking power. However, Cherbourg can fill the bill for the time being without Brest, and we may expect that there will be no delay in pressing the drive on Paris, for the Canadians and British are destroying the Nazi right wing and the center in the Vire sector while the Yanks race into Brittany on the other flank.

Truly Hitler's pagan gods have deserted him. At last he's feeling the mighty weight of the Allied vise. With the Red Armies slashing his entire line to ribbons, and today at the very border of the "sacred soil" of East Prussia, he can't spare troops from the eastern theater to bolster his hard-pressed forces in France. And he has nothing like enough troops or equipment in the west to protect himself for long.

Allied Superiority

At latest reports the Germans had on the Normandy front a total of 28 divisions of various categories, including four Panzer units and some infantry divisions which are partly armored. Thirteen of these divisions have been on the British sector and fifteen on the American. It's impossible to estimate accurately the number of troops involved, because many divisions are under normal quota. Perhaps there has been a minimum of a quarter million men.

The Hitlerites claim that the Allies have fifty divisions in Normandy. If that's so it might mean close to 700,000 men. When you consider that the Germans have only about 65 divisions in western Europe, Hitler's problem becomes doubly clear, for he has many points to protect against further Allied invasions.

The American drive into Brittany is eased greatly by the fact that the Germans had to withdraw forces from there to meet the Allied onslaught in Normandy. This withdrawal also lessens the danger of a heavy German counter-attack from Brittany against the Allies right wing now emerging from Normandy.

Rainfall Relieves Widespread Drought

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The weather bureau said today heavy rains of the past 36 hours had broken a serious drought in a wide eastern coastal belt extending from Virginia into eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The storm today moved into eastern New York and lower New England, sections still needing moisture, and forecasters expressed hope that the rain in that area would be sufficient to relieve conditions there.

Farm officials said the eastern rain arrived in time to save important truck crops and corn from serious damage. Yields, however, will not be as high as if it had fallen a week earlier.

Chungking Ice Is 60 Cents A Pound

Chungking, Aug. 3 (AP)—Authorities set a ceiling price for ice at 12 Chinese dollars a pound (60 United States cents at official exchange rate) today as the city broiled in a heat wave.

Other ceiling prices fixed for hot weather refresheners were: Ice cream, 60 Chinese dollars ($3.00) a cup; lemonade, 40 dollars ($2.00) a bottle; iced milk, 50 dollars ($2.50) a glass; ice suckers, 18 dollars (90 cents) a stick.

A second hand refrigerator was advertised for sale at 650,000 dollars ($32,500).

OPA CHANGES PRICE PENALTY

The Harrisburg district OPA office announced today that suspension orders will no longer be brought against dealers in rationed commodities for price violations but will be issued only in cases of violation of rationing rules. Formerly suspension order proceedings were brought also for violations of ceiling price rules.

This change in policy is being made, OPA said, in accordance with the intent of Congress as expressed in the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944. This provided that no rationing regulation may contain a provision requiring compliance with a price regulation.

The revisions, effective August 7, 1944, consist of deleting from two suspension order regulations all language authorizing issuance of suspension orders against dealers in rationed commodities who have sold the commodities at excess prices.

OPA has already dismissed all suspension order cases that were based wholly on charges of selling or offering to sell rationed commodities at prices higher than established ceiling prices, not decided as of June 30, 1944, the date the Stabilization Extension Act of 1944 became effective. Such charges will be dropped in those cases which contain allegations of both rationing violations and sales at excess prices.

YANKEES HALT NAZI EFFORTS TO CROSS ARNO

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Fifth Army has broken German efforts to send counterattacking forces across the Arno river on both sides of besieged Pisa near Italy's west coast, Allied headquarters announced today.

The enemy appeared attempting to take the initiative also near the inland wing of the American forces by sending 200 troops to the south bank of the Arno river northeast of Pontedera, but mortar fire dispersed this force.

Eight Army units were making fresh dents in the Nazi defense ring around Florence.

Attacking north from San Michele and La Romola, Eighth Army units captured the commanding heights of La Poggiona, five and one-half miles southwest of the historic art city. New Zealand troops previously had been reported within five miles of the city's outskirts in that area.

Cross Pesa River

West of Florence British and Indian troops crossed the Pesa river on a two-mile bridgehead and advanced one mile, capturing the village of Ginestra, three miles southeast of Montelupo, and threatening the entire west flank of the German line south of the Arno river in that area.

Headquarters received reports from Italian civilians that the Nazis were clearing civilians from stretches of the north bank of the Arno both east and west of Florence.

A proclamation by the Nazi command found posted in the San Ubaldo monastery at Gubbio said that "in the past days criminal elements of the civil population have repeatedly ambushed and shot at German soldiers" and that "by way of punishment for such acts certain villages have been burned down and a number of male inhabitants summarily shot according to law."

While up to 500 American heavy bombers yesterday pounded Rhone valley communications and an enemy torpedo factory in southern France other Italian-based warplanes battered German supply lines in Italy's Po valley. Nine Allied planes were lost and two enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Accuses Father Of Killing Son

Reynoldsville, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—District Attorney William A. Sykes of Jefferson county said he would file a charge of murder against John Spears, 64, in the fatal shooting of Spear's son, Harry, 34, last night.

Sykes said the elder Spears had admitted he fired a shotgun at his son following an argument over a horse, but said he had done so "only to scare him."

He said Spears told him that after the argument Harry, a Baltimore and Ohio railroad employe, had left the house and returned later. As he entered the door he was met by a blast from the shotgun.

Sykes said Spears probably would be arraigned today before a justice of the peace.

CIO POLITICAL ACTION GROUP TO BE PROBED

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—A three-man subcommittee, two of whose members recently were defeated for renomination in the face of CIO opposition, was named today to make a Dies committee investigation of the CIO's political action committee (PAC).

From his home in Texas, Chairman Martin Dies (D) sent word that the investigation, a continuance of an earlier inquiry by the house committee on unAmerican activities, would be made by Reps. Starnes (D-Ala), Costello (D-Cal) and Thomas (R-NJ) or Busbey (R-Ill.)

Dies said the subcommittee, of which Starnes will be chairman, probably would begin its work next week and report within the next month or two to the full committee.

Demands Prosecution

The Texan announced appointment of the committee as he issued an ultimatum to Attorney General Biddle to prosecute, under election statutes, the PAC and government officials he said have been active in PAC work.

Biddle recently reported that a department investigation found no evidence of law-breaking by the PAC.

Unless Biddle complies with the committee's recommendations for prosecution, Dies said, the committee will press for enactment of legislation "to divorce the government from the CIO and to separate New Deal leaders from the political action committee."

The legislation he has in mind, he explained, would make it a penitentiary offense for an individual to be active in the PAC while holding a federal job.

IDLE WORKERS ON STRIKE ARE RE-CLASSIFIED

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, commanding general of the Service Command, came here today apparently to take over Philadelphia's paralyzed transportation system.

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Philadelphians by the thousands walked or hitch-hiked to their jobs in a drizzling rain today as the city looked to the White House to end a three-day old transportation tieup that slashed war production and caused clashes between whites and negroes.

The rain kept racial disorders at a low ebb last night, and no fighting had been reported since midnight. Extra police details, however, were on duty today.

Up grading of eight negro employes under a directive of President Roosevelt's Fair Employment Practices Committee precipitated th walkout, which appeared almost certain to culminate in government seizure of the Philadelphia transportation company with possible use of troops.

Smash Windows

Police reported a new wave of window smashings, which they attributed to negro youths, as a two-hour move by a small group of PTC employes to restore service on Philadelphia's two subway lines ended in failure.

An official of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), who declined to be quoted by name, said back-to-work appeals to the 6,000 employes had "only a ghost of a chance" to succeed "barring a big break in Washington." Government seizure, he agreed, would be such a "break." The union is opposed to the stoppage.

Interracial clashes stemming from the work stoppage caused hospitalization of at least 13 persons before yesterday's steady rain—called "providential" by one police official—drove wandering bands of rioters indoors.

But the downpour also contributed to a transport snarl that kept 140,000 of the area's 800,000 war workers from their jobs, the War Manpower Commission reported, and caused a central city business decline estimated by a retail trade spokesman at $1,000,000 a day.

Extra trains on the Pennsylvania railroad and Reading company lines could carry only a fraction of the 1,500,000 persons who daily ride on PTC trolleys, buses and subway trains, while an oil industry spokesman said motorists granted extra gasoline in the emergency were draining the region's tanks.

Reclassify Idle

Late appeals to the absentee workers were made by Mayor Bernard Samuel, who said the work stoppage was "sabotage of our country's war effort," and James J. Fitzsimon, TWU International vice president, who asserted that "a small group of self-seeking, disgruntled" employes were "trying to regain power over the dead bodies of American soldiers."

At least a dozen draft boards announced they were reclassifying into 1-A a total of more than 500 idle workers, who previously had occupational deferments.

North Philadelphia's civic league, as yesterday's sporadic violence lessened, posted several hundred placards reading: "Negroes, think before you act. Your neighbors are not your enemies. Let's all cooperate for mutual helpfulness."

Taprooms and liquor stores remained closed by city and state order.

SAYS GOP MORE UNITED THAN IN "MANY YEARS"

By JACK BELL

St. Louis, Aug. 3 (AP)—Republican governors mixed a generous portion of political organization work with their search for the dividing line between federal-state governmental controls today and National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., hailed the results as indicative of "a more united party than at any time in many, many years."

The governors took final action in the early morning hours today on six items in the 14-point program involving subjects where presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey has contended the federal rein has tightened the bit painfully on the states. They hoped to complete the job tonight.

But regarded as just as important by some party officials were the quiet conferences going on between Brownell and the men who know from experience what it takes for a Republican ticket to carry a state.

"Highly Encouraged"

The youthful appearing national chairman told a news conference last night he was highly encouraged by the measure of cooperation offered by the gubernatorial colleagues of Dewey and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the vice-presidential nominee, in lining up state organizations and volunteering for speaking engagements.

He lost no time in getting the voices of many recorded for later use over the radio in the campaign.

By achieving party unity on major policy, Brownell said, "the governors will have demonstrated to the American people that the Republican party has the unified ability to govern, in contrast with the squabbling, back-biting, quarrelling, confusion and bickering that characterizes the New Deal party today."

Expressing confidence the Dewey-Bricker ticket would win in November, Brownell continued conferences today so that all might write their own assignments for the campaign.

He talked previously with Govs. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas, Edward J. Thye of Minnesota, Harry F. Kelly of Michigan, C. A. Bottolfsen of Idaho, Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

Approve Proposal

In their work on what Dewey has described as an effort to define the areas of responsibility between local and federal governments, sub-committees of governors had completed preliminary recommendations on public works, national guard, highways, reconversion and postwar jobs, public lands, unemployment compensation and employment services.

All the governors, in a session that lasted until 2:30 o'clock in the morning, approved the proposals.

Dewey said there was "not a fight all day" on the six topics which were approved, and that action was unanimous on every word and phrase.

Their findings were said to urge control, primarily by the states, of the national guard, and employment services. Highway and public works projects would be carried out by the states in conjunction with the Federal government and the states' part in reconversion would be emphasized, it was reported.

Believe Germans Evacuating Finland

Stockholm, Aug. 3 (AP)—Reports from Finland suggested today the Germans may be in the process of evacuating all their troops from that country as a result of Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim's replacement of Risto Ryti as the Finnish President.

Despite Ryti's now nullified agreement with the Germans not to make a separate peace with Russia, the Finns only one infantry divitthe Finns only one infantry division plus a Panzer brigade to bolster the active southern front.

This division and a German division long stationed in northern Finland were reported already withdrawn to Estonia.

(A Reuters dispatch received in London from Stockholm said it was reliably reported that the change in Presidents in Finland was preceded by a Finnish-German agreement in Berlin consenting to a separate Finnish peace with Russia and a Nazi promise to evacuate German troops at least from southern Finland.)

SCOUTS HAVING MANY TROUBLES

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Memphis, Aug. 3 (AP)—Big league baseball apparently is going to survive the war, but there's beginning to be some doubt about the scouts.

"It's pretty rough sailing," said Red Sox operative Hank Severeid today between spying operations. "We're scouts with nothing to scout.

"This year I've spied on everything from grandfathers making comebacks to third-basing sergeants and 16-year-old sandlotters still damp behind the ears. I'll be lucky to send a couple of players to the Red Sox at the close of the year."

And if there are a couple, the old American League catcher hastens to add, they'll probably be mediocre fellows just to fill some wartime gaps.

"And normally a scout would have a bad year if he couldn't recommend 20 or 30 promising ball players to his club," he moaned.

Only 12 Leagues

Severeid, who caught more than 2,600 games in his 28 years behind the plate, described current scouting headaches.

"There are only about 12 leagues now where there used to be 40-odd. Not only that, but most of the minor clubs have major league attachments and the good men you run across are already sewed up.

"Most of our scouting work is on a 'future reference' basis, you might say, and the fact that most major league clubs right now are adding to their scouting staffs rather than chopping them is proof enough we're earning our pay."

Wife Helps To Nominate Hubby

Bolton, Kans., Aug. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Albert Cole has just finished talking with hundreds of Kansas housewives in a nine-week, door-to-door campaign selling—her husband.

The returns from Tuesday's Kansas primary show the effectiveness of Mrs. Cole's saleswomanship. Her husband, State Senator Albert Cole, defeated the highly favored Rep. W. P. Lambertson, 20,502 to 18,331, with only one precinct missing in the unofficial returns, for the Republican nomination as U. S. Representative.

In this predominatly Republican district, nomination is considered synonymous with election. Never has a Democrat represented it in Congress.

Campaign plans, Mrs. Cole said today, were simple. The Coles would arrive in a town early in the morning. While Senator Cole scurried off to talk to the men, Mrs. Cole would call on the women.

Mrs. Cole said she never asked anyone to vote for her husband. She just said she hoped they would.

By JACK BELL

St. Louis, Aug. 3 (AP)—Republican governors mixed a generous portion of political organization work with their search for the dividing line between federal-state governmental controls today and National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., hailed the results as indicative of "a more united party than at any time in many, many years."

The governors took final action in the early morning hours today on six items in the 14-point program involving subjects where presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey has contended the federal rein has tightened the bit fainfully on the states. They hoped to complete the job tonight.

But regarded as just as important by some party officials were the quiet conferences going on between Brownell and the men who know from experience what it takes for a Republican ticket to carry a state.

"Highly Encouraged"

The youthful appearing national chairman told a news conference last night he was highly encouraged by the measure of cooperation offered by the gubernatorial colleagues of Dewey and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the vice-presidential nominee, in lining up state organizations and volunteering for speaking engagements.

He lost no time in getting the voices of many recorded for later use over the radio in the campaign.

By achieving party unity on major policy, Brownell said, "the governors will have demonstrated to the American people that the Republican party has the unified ability to govern, in contrast with the squabbling, back-biting, quarrelling, confusion and bickering that characterizes the New Deal party today."

Expressing confidence the Dewey-Bricker ticket would win in November, Brownell continued conferences today so that all might write their own assignments for the campaign.

He talked previously with Govs. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas, Edward J. Thye of Minnesota, Harry F. Kelly of Michigan, C. A. Bottolfsen of Idaho, Arthur B. Langlie of Washington, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

Approve Proposal

In their work on what Dewey has described as an effort to define the areas of responsibility between local and federal governments, sub-committees of governors had completed preliminary recommendations on public works, national guard, highways, reconversion and postwar jobs, public lands, unemployment compensation and employment services.

All the governors, in a session that lasted until 2:30 o'clock in the morning, approved the proposals.

Dewey said there was "not a fight all day" on the six topics which were approved, and that action was unanimous on every word and phrase.

Their findings were said to urge control, primarily by the states, of the national guard, and employment services. Highway and public works projects would be carried out by the states in conjunction with the Federal government and the states' part in reconversion would be emphasized, it was reported.

Stockholm, Aug. 3 (AP)—Reports from Finland suggested today the Germans may be in the process of evacuating all their troops from that country as a result of Marshal Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim's replacement of Risto Ryti as the Finnish President.

An Evening Thought

He that has never known adversity is but half acquainted with others, or with himself.—Colton.

Just Folks

CROW-TERROR

I'll stand, wherever I must go,
To watch a kingbird fight a crow;
To see the black and bulky thief
In size and strength find no relief,
But helter-skelter quit the field
And to its tiny rival yield.

Above him, not one-tenth his size,
The gallant little kingbird flies,
And proves the crow, with all his stuff
And raucous boast, is mostly bluff;
A feathered bully of the air
That stand to battle doesn't dare.

"Go to it, kingbird!" oft I shout,
"And knock the flabby monster out!
Go to it! Sock him one for me!"
Ashamed that fellow ought to be
To dive and turn and reel and twist
From such a small antagonist!

And yet I wonder, can it be
That lesson's meant for men like me?
The kingbird driving off a crow
Is merely letting mortals know
That size and strength in fear depart
In terror from a fighting heart.

Today's Talk

POETRY

Many look upon poetry as something that is written in single lines with ending words rhyming with those preceding. If that were true, nearly anyone could write poetry. But poetry is not that at all, though words are made to rhyme in much poetry.

Poetry is feeling—feeling that gives expression that is forged white-heat from the heart. The greatest poetry is written during the time when the mind experiences its highest intellectual and spiritual emotions.

The poet Thomas Gray was one of the most outstanding literary men of his day, yet he is mostly remembered because of his "Elegy Written in a Country Church-Yard." Beautiful as it is, he must have written it when depressed. The deep melancholy that hovered about the entire life of Edgar Allan Poe is amazingly expressed in his most famous of poems—"The Raven." Sheer beauty is unfolded in Rossetti's "The Blessed Damozel."

Deathless are such brief poems as "The Soldier," by Rupert Brooke, "In Flanders Field," by Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, and "Mary in Heaven," by Robert Burns. These were poems that came from the heart—written because they had to be.

It is well that every age is celebrated by its poets. Dante, Milton, Tennyson, Longfellow, Whitman, Whittier, Bliss Carman, Kipling, Riley, Vachel Lindsay—each of these, and scores of others, left an individual expression in poetry to mark his time. Poets and poetry are a great inspirational asset to every nation and to the entire world. Of late I have been enjoying the poetry of Li Po, China's greatest poet.

Genuine poetry must be said to be inspired, else it would not grip the heart and live in the memory. Like a song from the throat of a bird, its feeling, as expressed in any number of technical compositions, comes spontaneously and unrehearsed.

Every leaf, bud, flower, tree, blade of grass, cloud formatin, or lowering sun is a silent poem in Nature. And great are these silent poems, for from them are gained the ideas and inspiration that have created deathless poetry throughout the world.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Morning at Weskawenaak"

To save time iron tea towels, sheets and table linen right off the line when the articles are still damp.

and sugar if you wish. There's no cream. Cream will curdle in your stomach at high altitudes. No toasts are served.

"We asked the crew all kinds of questions and the crew chief told us everything we ought to know about the ship . . . how many rounds of ammunition we have aboard, the nature of the bombs, fuse and all else.

"Those fellows don't miss a thing. They really work and they want us to come back. They really sweat.

"On this particular mission we carried 15,000 rounds of ammunition, for our thirteen .50 calibre guns.

"After breakfast we moved out into the dark again. We washed our mess kits and started for the briefing-room, about a half-mile away. The ground crew chief and two mechanics walked with us. There wasn't any talking. Everybody did exactly what he did before he left on the last mission. It's the old superstition again. Some spit at a certain place. Some do a certain zig-zag at a certain place. Some time the smoking of their last cigarette before they return from the mission. I always time my last cigarette, five minutes, throw it away at the same spot and mark an X with my foot on the ground.

"At the briefing room we went into the library. Some of the fellows flopped in a chair and fell asleep. Others slept on the floor, or on a table. Some had previous victories confirmed and others read new books on flying tactics, etc. At 4 a. m. one of the fellows said 'This is it' and we all filed into the briefing room. We sat on benches. The place was jammed. This was really going to be something.

"On a blackboard was a diagram of the formation we were to fly. A large curtain covered a huge wall map. A projector was in the center of the room. Everybody was quiet. We sat in groups, each crew to a group. The briefing officer walked in. Everyone was tense. The officer is usually a Captain-Pilot. He takes the roll call. Each engineer is responsible for all men and he answers for the crew. If someone is missing a spare man is called in. MPs guard the windows and doors. All is secret.

"The briefing officer repeated the gas load, bomb load, etc. Then he rolled back the curtain and there's your target. . . . Berlin. Everybody whistled, hollered or cheered. Then you could hear a pin drop. All eyes scanned the map, the red string that gave us our route to the target, the blue string that marked our return route. . . If you return. Colored pins marked each rendezvous with our fighters. Everybody was frightened. . . that's natural . . . this may be our last mission. The going is going to be rough. Heinie will be out in full force.

"The briefing officer gave us all the details, the opposition we were apt to encounter, the various hazards, the rendezvous points, etc. He told us what time we were to cross the Channel, what time we would hit the enemy coast, our altitude, the temperature which varies from 50 degrees below zero down. The temperature drops from 5 to 10 degrees with every 1,000 foot climb in altitude above 20,000 feet.

"The flak officer told us how much flak to expect, how many flak guns were in the area and then he showed us a photograph of the target on the projector. Everything was shown, the main target, every building, the secondary target; what's made there, why we were bombing it, and what its loss would mean to the enemy and how important it is for us to destroy it. He then showed us a map of the target. Everything was studied carefully.

"Then the pins were removed, the curtain rolled back and we were given a pep talk. Radio operators went to a special briefing room for code instructions. Then we all went to church.

* * *

"At every briefing there is a minister, priest and rabbi. Each man goes to his own service. The Catholics received the last sacraments. The Protestants and the Jews received the equivalent in their own faith. Then we all filed out to get our flying equipment; parachutes, oxygen masks, electrically heated flying suits, gloves and shoes. We put on fur-lined flying boots and either a fur-lined flying jacket or a leather jacket. We can take both along if we want. We packed our helmets, masks, etc., in our bags and hopped into trucks that took us to our ships.

"Six a. m. was station time, that means we must be at our ships at 6 o'clock. Each fellow checked his 'chute, masks, guns, etc. He fixed his own guns in position and his position for action.

"Taxi time was 7 a. m. Promptly at 7 o'clock we started to taxi away. The ground crew chief and his assistants shook our hands, waved and shouted good-bye. At 7:15, right on the nose, the time scheduled well in advance, we took off.

* * *

"The pilot gave it the gun and the big ship roared across the field and then started to rise. Everybody was checking his gun, his mask, 'chute, etc. Fifteen seconds later another ship took off. Every fifteen seconds a big Fort roared into the sky, until our group of 40 was in the air. Over the field we hit our rendezvous and took our position in the formation. There are four ships in an element and the position are high, lead and low.

"At another rendezvous we met other groups from other fields and so on until the division was formed and then we headed on our course for the target . . . BERLIN.

"We crossed the channel on schedule, hit the enemy coast on schedule and then picked up our fighter escorts. Our altitude was 20,000 feet. It was bitter cold. Each member of the crew had his head-set and throat mike on. Then we all started jabbering. Everybody was joking . . . it's the pep and spirit build-up. We talked about everything. We sounded off our oxygen checks and called the fighters as we saw them . . . 'fighters at 12 o'clock' . . . or . . . fighters at 3 o'clock' and so on. Twelve o'clock is always the nose of the ship, and the clock hours read to the right.

"The navigator kept us informed of where we were, our altitude, position and the time. We, in turn, reported everything we saw, friend or enemy. The fighter pilots talked to us too. They really are fighters. They call us 'Big Friend' and we call them 'Little Friend.' They circled our formation, constantly. When they spot an enemy plane they shout through their radios: 'Scramble, bandits.' And brother you ought to see those fellows dive in for the kill. It's every man for himself. He picks the nearest fighter and the dog-fight is on. Meanwhile we roared on.

"You can't give those fighter pilots too much credit. They've got more guts than any one I know. I saw four of our fighters dive right smack into 70 German fighters when they knew they didn't have a chance. But you should have seen what they did to those Jerries.

"We stayed in formation, lugging our heavy loads, firing at every enemy fighter we saw. Our eyes were peeled. The navigator called 'MPI,' meaning main point indicated on the target is just ahead. Then we were on the run. We were moving in for the kill.

Philadelphians Wait For Trolley

Hundreds of thousands of work-bound Philadelphians are left stranded on street corners by an unexpected work stoppage of bus, trolley and subway-elevated operators. Here is a typical street-corner scene showing a crowd of several hundred trying to get to work.

"Everybody was quiet, tense, on the alert. Only the pilot, bombardier and radioman talked over the inter-com. The pilot announced that he was on course, about 40 miles from the target. We were at 20,000 feet. The bombardier took over the ship and he kept that ship right smack on the course. The flak was terrible. It was thick enough to walk on. It was bursting all around us, but the ship roared on, straight and true.

"The radioman announced that the bomb-bay doors were open. Then the bombardier shouted, 'Bombs Away,' and we all shouted 'Let's get to hell out of here.' The radioman checked to make sure the bombs were away. If they are not, if they are caught, he's got to get them out of there in a hurry, kick 'em or anything else . . . they've got to go or we'll go.

"The bombardier closed the door and the radioman messaged our base, the time we hit the target, the time the bombs were dropped and whether it was by visibility or by instruments. They were still pouring flak at us. Suddenly the flak stopped and the Jerry fighters started pouring in, usually in formations of seventy or more.

* * *

"Our fighters, who left us 40 miles from the target, picked us up again and tore into the Heinies. Then came the ME 109s, 110s, the Heinkels, rocket-carrying ships and others. They carry 20 mm cannon. They poured it into us and we gave it to 'em right back. We fought our way out somehow, thanks to our fighter escorts. Stragglers are on their own. It's just too bad, but we can't leave our formation.

"Our tail gunner was blasting away at the Jerries coming at us from 6 o'clock. Then he shouted: 'Jump' and the pilot nosed up at a stiff climb as the tail gunner and other gunners within range fired at the Heinies.

"We took six hours to reach the target and now we only had four hours to reach base. We maintained our altitude and held to the course. The fighters battled everything within sight. Then we saw the channel. We dropped to 9,000 feet and slowed down . . . enemy fighters won't follow us over the channel. We gave first aid to our injured, dropped down and smoked a cigarette and slept. We were fagged out.

"When we dropped down on our base our ground crew was waiting for us. They counted the ships, shook our hands, checked the ships. Ambulances were ready to take the injured to hospitals. We removed our guns, oiled and greased them and put them away. We locked up our papers, got a hot drink and a sandwich and then we were interrogated for an hour. We told everything. Every detail was reported. And then we went to bed to await the call for the next mission, which may be in two hours or not until the next day.

"You can't give too much credit to the pilots, ground crews and fighter pilots. They'll do anything to beat Jerry. They are a grand bunch of fellows and they are unmatched for modesty, courage and bravery."

An Evening Thought

He that has never known adversity is but half acquainted with others, or with himself.—Colton.

Just Folks

CROW-TERROR

I'll stand, wherever I must go,
To watch a kingbird fight a crow;
To see the black and bulky thief
In size and strength find no relief,
But helter-skelter quit the field
And to its tiny rival yield.

Above him, not one-tenth his size,
The gallant little kingbird flies,
And proves the crow, with all his stuff
And raucous boast, is mostly bluff;
A feathered bully of the air
That stand to battle doesn't dare.

"Go to it, kingbird!" oft I shout,
"And knock the flabby monster out!
Go to it! Sock him one for me!"
Ashamed that fellow ought to be
To dive and turn and reel and twist
From such a small antagonist!

And yet I wonder, can it be
That lesson's meant for men like me?
The kingbird driving off a crow
Is merely letting mortals know
That size and strength in fear depart
In terror from a fighting heart.

Today's Talk

POETRY

Many look upon poetry as something that is written in single lines with ending words rhyming with those preceding. If that were true, nearly anyone could write poetry. But poetry is not that at all, though words are made to rhyme in much poetry.

Poetry is feeling—feeling that gives expression that is forged white-heat from the heart. The greatest poetry is written during the time when the mind experiences its highest intellectual and spiritual emotions.

The poet Thomas Gray was one of the most outstanding literary men of his day, yet he is mostly remembered because of his "Elegy Written in a Country Church-Yard." Beautiful as it is, he must have written it when depressed. The deep melancholy that hovered about the entire life of Edgar Allan Poe is amazingly expressed in his most famous of poems—"The Raven." Sheer beauty is unfolded in Rossetti's "The Blessed Damozel."

Deathless are such brief poems as "The Soldier," by Rupert Brooke, "In Flanders Field," by Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, and "Mary in Heaven," by Robert Burns. These were poems that came from the heart—written because they had to be.

It is well that every age is celebrated by its poets. Dante, Milton, Tennyson, Longfellow, Whitman, Whittier, Bliss Carman, Kipling, Riley, Vachel Lindsay—each of these, and scores of others, left an individual expression in poetry to mark his time. Poets and poetry are a great inspirational asset to every nation and to the entire world. Of late I have been enjoying the poetry of Li Po, China's greatest poet.

Genuine poetry must be said to be inspired, else it would not grip the heart and live in the memory. Like a song from the throat of a bird, its feeling, as expressed in any number of technical compositions, comes spontaneously and unrehearsed.

Every leaf, bud, flower, tree, blade of grass, cloud formatin, or lowering sun is a silent poem in Nature. And great are these silent poems, for from them are gained the ideas and inspiration that have created deathless poetry throughout the world.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Morning at Weskawenaak"

If they are not, if they are caught, he's got to get them out of there in a hurry, kick 'em or anything else . . . they've got to go or we'll go.

"The bombardier closed the door and the radioman messaged our base, the time we hit the target, the time the bombs were dropped and whether it was by visibility or by instruments. They were still pouring flak at us. Suddenly the flak stopped and the Jerry fighters started pouring in, usually in formations of seventy or more.

* * *

"Our fighters, who left us 40 miles from the target, picked us up again and tore into the Heinies. Then came the ME 109s, 110s, the Heinkels, rocket-carrying ships and others. They carry 20 mm cannon. They poured it into us and we gave it to 'em right back. We fought our way out somehow, thanks to our fighter escorts. Stragglers are on their own. It's just too bad, but we can't leave our formation.

"Our tail gunner was blasting away at the Jerries coming at us from 6 o'clock. Then he shouted: 'Jump' and the pilot nosed up at a stiff climb as the tail gunner and other gunners within range fired at the Heinies.

"We took six hours to reach the target and now we only had four hours to reach base. We maintained our altitude and held to the course. The fighters battled everything within sight. Then we saw the channel. We dropped to 9,000 feet and slowed down . . . enemy fighters won't follow us over the channel. We gave first aid to our injured, dropped down and smoked a cigarette and slept. We were fagged out.

"When we dropped down on our base our ground crew was waiting for us. They counted the ships, shook our hands, checked the ships. Ambulances were ready to take the injured to hospitals. We removed our guns, oiled and greased them and put them away. We locked up our papers, got a hot drink and a sandwich and then we were interrogated for an hour. We told everything. Every detail was reported. And then we went to bed to await the call for the next mission, which may be in two hours or not until the next day.

"You can't give too much credit to the pilots, ground crews and fighter pilots. They'll do anything to beat Jerry. They are a grand bunch of fellows and they are unmatched for modesty, courage and bravery."

The citation accompanying the Distinguished Flying Cross awarded Sergeant Patton reads as follows:

"For extraordinary achievement while serving as radio operator of a B-17 airplane on a number of bombardment missions over enemy occupied Continental Europe. Displaying great courage and skill, Sergeant Patton, fighting from his gun position, has warded off many enemy attacks and has materially aided in the success of each of these missions. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by Sergeant Patton on all these occasions reflect the highest credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

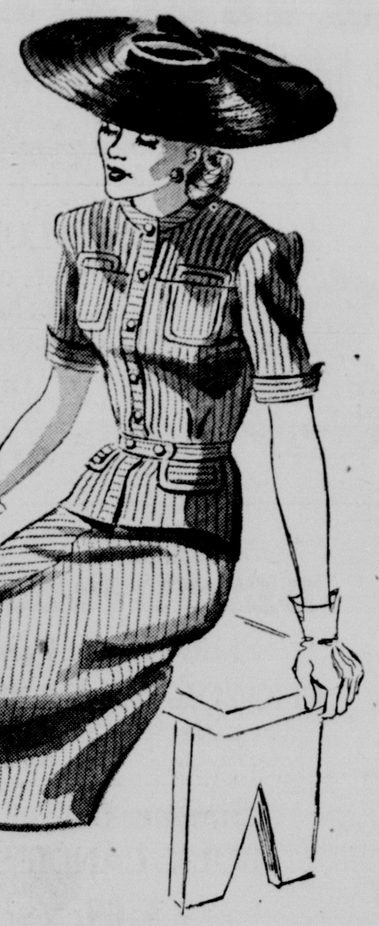

Some of the missions Sergeant Patton has flown, including three over Berlin, were: Bremen, Solingen, Emden, Osnabruck, Gueschart, Le Mesnil, Wilhelmshaven, Stuttgart, Berlin, Augsburg, Oberpraffenhofen, Wizernes, Frankfurt, Noubeckum, Sorau, Perleberg, Kassal, Sottevast, Hamm, Landsburg, Mesnil-au-Val, Avord, Reimes, Fiers, Caiel and Oulchy.

An Evening Thought

He that has never known adversity is but half acquainted with others, or with himself.—Colton.

Just Folks

CROW-TERROR

I'll stand, wherever I must go,
To watch a kingbird fight a crow;
To see the black and bulky thief
In size and strength find no relief,
But helter-skelter quit the field
And to its tiny rival yield.

Above him, not one-tenth his size,
The gallant little kingbird flies,
And proves the crow, with all his stuff
And raucous boast, is mostly bluff;
A feathered bully of the air
That stand to battle doesn't dare.

"Go to it, kingbird!" oft I shout,
"And knock the flabby monster out!
Go to it! Sock him one for me!"
Ashamed that fellow ought to be
To dive and turn and reel and twist
From such a small antagonist!

And yet I wonder, can it be
That lesson's meant for men like me?
The kingbird driving off a crow
Is merely letting mortals know
That size and strength in fear depart
In terror from a fighting heart.

Today's Talk

POETRY

Many look upon poetry as something that is written in single lines with ending words rhyming with those preceding. If that were true, nearly anyone could write poetry. But poetry is not that at all, though words are made to rhyme in much poetry.

Poetry is feeling—feeling that gives expression that is forged white-heat from the heart. The greatest poetry is written during the time when the mind experiences its highest intellectual and spiritual emotions.

The poet Thomas Gray was one of the most outstanding literary men of his day, yet he is mostly remembered because of his "Elegy Written in a Country Church-Yard." Beautiful as it is, he must have written it when depressed. The deep melancholy that hovered about the entire life of Edgar Allan Poe is amazingly expressed in his most famous of poems—"The Raven." Sheer beauty is unfolded in Rossetti's "The Blessed Damozel."

Deathless are such brief poems as "The Soldier," by Rupert Brooke, "In Flanders Field," by Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, and "Mary in Heaven," by Robert Burns. These were poems that came from the heart—written because they had to be.

It is well that every age is celebrated by its poets. Dante, Milton, Tennyson, Longfellow, Whitman, Whittier, Bliss Carman, Kipling, Riley, Vachel Lindsay—each of these, and scores of others, left an individual expression in poetry to mark his time. Poets and poetry are a great inspirational asset to every nation and to the entire world. Of late I have been enjoying the poetry of Li Po, China's greatest poet.

Genuine poetry must be said to be inspired, else it would not grip the heart and live in the memory. Like a song from the throat of a bird, its feeling, as expressed in any number of technical compositions, comes spontaneously and unrehearsed.

Every leaf, bud, flower, tree, blade of grass, cloud formatin, or lowering sun is a silent poem in Nature. And great are these silent poems, for from them are gained the ideas and inspiration that have created deathless poetry throughout the world.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Morning at Weskawenaak"

Here And There

and sugar if you wish. There's no cream. Cream will curdle in your stomach at high altitudes. No toasts are served.

"We asked the crew all kinds of questions and the crew chief told us everything we ought to know about the ship . . . how many rounds of ammunition we have aboard, the nature of the bombs, fuse and all else.

"Those fellows don't miss a thing. They really work and they want us to come back. They really sweat.

"On this particular mission we carried 15,000 rounds of ammunition, for our thirteen .50 calibre guns.

"After breakfast we moved out into the dark again. We washed our mess kits and started for the briefing-room, about a half-mile away. The ground crew chief and two mechanics walked with us. There wasn't any talking. Everybody did exactly what he did before he left on the last mission. It's the old superstition again. Some spit at a certain place. Some do a certain zig-zag at a certain place. Some time the smoking of their last cigarette before they return from the mission. I always time my last cigarette, five minutes, throw it away at the same spot and mark an X with my foot on the ground.

"At the briefing room we went into the library. Some of the fellows flopped in a chair and fell asleep. Others slept on the floor, or on a table. Some had previous victories confirmed and others read new books on flying tactics, etc. At 4 a. m. one of the fellows said 'This is it' and we all filed into the briefing room. We sat on benches. The place was jammed. This was really going to be something.

"On a blackboard was a diagram of the formation we were to fly. A large curtain covered a huge wall map. A projector was in the center of the room. Everybody was quiet. We sat in groups, each crew to a group. The briefing officer walked in. Everyone was tense. The officer is usually a Captain-Pilot. He takes the roll call. Each engineer is responsible for all men and he answers for the crew. If someone is missing a spare man is called in. M.Ps guard the windows and doors. All is secret.

"The briefing officer repeated the gas load, bomb load, etc. Then he rolled back the curtain and there's your target. . . Berlin. Everybody whistled, hollered or cheered. Then you could hear a pin drop. All eyes scanned the map, the red string that gave us our route to the target, the blue string that marked our return route. . . If you return. Colored pins marked each rendezvous with our fighters. Everybody was frightened. . . that's natural . . . this may be our last mission. The going is going to be rough. Heinie will be out in full force.

"The briefing officer gave us all the details, the opposition we were apt to encounter, the various hazards, the rendezvous points, etc. He told us what time we were to cross the Channel, what time we would hit the enemy coast, our altitude, the temperature which varies from 50 degrees below zero down. The temperature drops from 5 to 10 degrees with every 1,000 foot climb in altitude above 20,000 feet.

"The flak officer told us how much flak to expect, how many flak guns were in the area and then he showed us a photograph of the target on the projector. Everything was shown, the main target, every building, the secondary target; what's made there, why we were bombing it, and what its loss would mean to the enemy and how important it is for us to destroy it. He then showed us a map of the target. Everything was studied carefully.

"Then the pins were removed, the curtain rolled back and we were given a pep talk. Radio operators went to a special briefing room for code instructions. Then we all went to church.

* * *

"At every briefing there is a minister, priest and rabbi. Each man goes to his own service. The Catholics received the last sacraments. The Protestants and the Jews received the equivalent in their own faith. Then we all filed out to get our flying equipment; parachutes, oxygen masks, electrically heated flying suits, gloves and shoes. We put on fur-lined flying boots and either a fur-lined flying jacket or a leather jacket. We can take both along if we want. We packed our helmets, masks, etc., in our bags and hopped into trucks that took us to our ships.

"Six a. m. was station time, that means we must be at our ships at 6 o'clock. Each fellow checked his 'chute, masks, guns, etc. He fixed his own guns in position and his position for action.

"Taxi time was 7 a. m. Promptly at 7 o'clock we started to taxi away. The ground crew chief and his assistants shook our hands, waved and shouted good-bye. At 7:15, right on the nose, the time scheduled well in advance, we took off.

* * *

"The pilot gave it the gun and the big ship roared across the field and then started to rise. Everybody was checking his gun, his mask, 'chute, etc. Fifteen seconds later another ship took off. Every fifteen seconds a big Fort roared into the sky, until our group of 40 was in the air. Over the field we hit our rendezvous and took our position in the formation. There are four ships in an element and the position are high, lead and low.

"At another rendezvous we met other groups from other fields and so on until the division was formed and then we headed on our course for the target . . . BERLIN.

"We crossed the channel on schedule, hit the enemy coast on schedule and then picked up our fighter escorts. Our altitude was 20,000 feet. It was bitter cold. Each member of the crew had his head-set and throat mike on. Then we all started jabbering. Everybody was joking . . . it's the pep and spirit build-up. We talked about everything. We sounded off our oxygen checks and called the fighters as we saw them . . . 'fighters at 12 o'clock' . . . or . . . 'fighters at 3 o'clock' and so on. Twelve o'clock is always the nose of the ship, and the clock hours read to the right.

"The navigator kept us in-formed of where we were, our altitude, position and the time. We, in turn, reported everything we saw, friend or enemy. The fighter pilots talked to us too. They really are fighters. They call us 'Big Friend' and we call them 'Little Friend.' They circled our formation, constantly. When they spot an enemy plane they shout through their radios: 'Scramble, bandits.' And brother you ought to see those fellows dive in for the kill. It's every man for himself. He picks the nearest fighter and the dog-fight is on. Meanwhile we roared on.

"You can't give those fighter pilots too much credit. They've got more guts than any one I know. I saw four of our fighters dive right smack into 70 German fighters when they knew they didn't have a chance. But you should have seen what they did to those Jerries.

"We stayed in formation, lugging our heavy loads, firing at every enemy fighter we saw. Our eyes were peeled. The navigator called 'MPI,' meaning main point indicated on the target is just ahead. Then we were on the run. We were moving in for the kill.

Philadelphians Wait For Trolley

Hundreds of thousands of work-bound Philadelphians are left stranded on street corners by an unexpected work stoppage of bus, trolley and subway-elevated operators. Here is a typical street-corner scene showing a crowd of several hundred trying to get to work.

"Everybody was quiet, tense, on the alert. Only the pilot, bombardier and radioman talked over the inter-com. The pilot announced that he was on course, about 40 miles from the target. We were at 20,000 feet. The bombardier took over the ship and he kept that ship right smack on the course. The flak was terrible. It was thick enough to walk on. It was bursting all around us, but the ship roared on, straight and true.

"The radioman announced that the bomb-bay doors were open. Then the bombardier shouted, 'Bombs Away,' and we all shouted 'Let's get to hell out of here.' The radioman checked to make sure the bombs were away. If they are not, if they are caught, he's got to get them out of there in a hurry, kick 'em or anything else . . . they've got to go or we'll go.

"The bombardier closed the door and the radioman messaged our base, the time we hit the target, the time the bombs were dropped and whether it was by visibility or by instruments. They were still pouring flak at us. Suddenly the flak stopped and the Jerry fighters started pouring in, usually in formations of seventy or more.

RETURNING VETS WILL BE GIVEN AID AS FARMERS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Returning World War II veterans who want to take up farming will be helped start from scratch by an expanded state farm security administration office, Director Carson P. Mertz said today.

Three district offices will be closed August 15, Mertz stated, and district directors Claude Meyers Lewisburg; John Noel, Tyrone, and William Sippel, New Castle, brought to Harrisburg as assistant state directors to aid in facilitating loans to veterans for farm equipment and livestock. All will continue to receive $3,800 annually.

Mertz added a management division also will be set up with John Dunn, Wilkes-Barre, in charge of farm engineering, and Clifford Whiting, Bedford, heading farm ownership. Both will receive $3,-600 annually.

Veterans approved by county FSA committees will be eligible for loans, Mertz said.

New loans made in the year ending June 20 totaled $715,275 to 579 individual farm families. Supplemental loans to 1,081 families previously aided totalled 598,423. The agency in the same period collected $1,452,042 on outstanding obligations including $196,327 or 21 per cent more than was currently due on farm ownership loans

Mrs. Millie Kepler, Centre county woman farmer, was named to the FSA State Advisory committee yesterday and Dr. S. W. Fletcher, State College, and George Shuler, Fleetwood, were re-appointed for three-year terms. Mrs. Kepler, second woman on the committee, succeeds John King, Somerset, whose term expired.

BOARD WILL ENLIST WAVES

On August 18 and 19, a special WAVES Traveling Board will be stationed at the post office building in York to process completely the applications for enlistment of girls from this area.

Included in the personnel of the Traveling Board will be WAVE Interviewers, Navy medical personnel and others who will give the official interviews, regular Navy physical examination, classification-aptitude test, and assist in the enlistment procedure Following these all eligible girls will be sworn in the WAVES. Girls are urged to bring a birth certificate, baptismal certificate, or other evidence of citizenship with them.

It was pointed out that those girls who enlist during the visit of the Travel Board will be assigned to the basic training at Hunter college, the Bronx, New York, in the same class and will, therefore, start their Navy training with friends from home.

Many young women from this area have begun their enlistment in the WAVES but have found it impossible to continue because of the necessity of making the trip to Philadelphia. This visit of the Travel Board will be of special benefit to them because they can continue and complete their enlistment at the same time.

The Navy Department has announced a need for over 40,000 more WAVES this year. Over 270 different kinds of jobs are still available.

It was further pointed out that an added advantage of being sworn in the WAVES at this time will be that girls may have their families and friends witness the swearing-in ceremony if they desire to do so. An appointment with the Board is not necessary. All applicants are urged to be on hand early in the day to insure time enough for completion of the entire enlistment process

HEAVY BOMBERS BLASTING MANY REICH TARGETS

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—American heavy bombers were reported by Berlin today to be attacking through Austria into southwest Bavaria and also in strength in western Germany in great, coordinated blows from Italy and England

The heavies struck numerous objectives in France yesterday from west and south. Foul weather grounded the British bomb armada for the second night.

The Swiss told of planes flying over their eastern districts, touching off sirens in Zurich, St. Gotthard and St. Moritz. The direction of their flight suggested that the goal was in the area of Munich, fourth largest Nazi city, a hub of five trunk railways and a manufacturing center for components of robot bombs.

RETURNING VETS WILL BE GIVEN AID AS FARMERS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Returning World War II veterans who want to take up farming will be helped start from scratch by an expanded state farm security administration office, Director Carson F. Mertz said today.

Three district offices will be closed August 15, Mertz stated, and district directors Claude Meyers, Lewisburg; John Noel, Tyrone, and William Sippel, New Castle, brought to Harrisburg as assistant state directors to aid in facilitating loans to veterans for farm equipment and livestock. All will continue to receive $3,800 annually.

Mertz added a management division also will be set up with John Dunn, Wilkes-Barre, in charge of farm engineering, and Clifford Whiting, Bedford, heading farm ownership. Both will receive $3,600 annually.

Veterans approved by county FSA committees will be eligible for loans, Mertz said.

New loans made in the year ending June 30 totaled $715,375 to 579 individual farm families. Supplemental loans to 1,081 families previously aided totalled 598,433. The agency in the same period collected $1,452,042 on outstanding obligations including $196,327 or 21 per cent more than was currently due on farm ownership loans.

Mrs. Millie Kepler, Centre county woman farmer, was named to the FSA State Advisory committee yesterday and Dr. S. W. Fletcher, State College, and George Shuler, Fleetwood, were re-appointed for three-year terms. Mrs. Kepler, second woman on the committee, succeeds John King, Somerset, whose term expired.

BOARD WILL ENLIST WAVES

On August 18 and 19, a special WAVES Traveling Board will be stationed at the post office building in York to process completely the applications for enlistment of girls from this area.

Included in the personnel of the Traveling Board will be WAVE Interviewers, Navy medical personnel and others who will give the official interviews, regular Navy physical examination, classification-aptitude test, and assist in the enlistment procedure. Following these all eligible girls will be sworn in the WAVES. Girls are urged to bring a birth certificate, baptismal certificate, or other evidence of citizenship with them.

It was pointed out that those girls who enlist during the visit of the Travel Board will be assigned to the basic training at Hunter college, the Bronx, New York, in the same class and will, therefore, start their Navy training with friends from home.

Many young women from this area have begun their enlistment in the WAVES but have found it impossible to continue because of the necessity of making the trip to Philadelphia. This visit of the Travel Board will be of special benefit to them because they can continue and complete their enlistment at the same time.

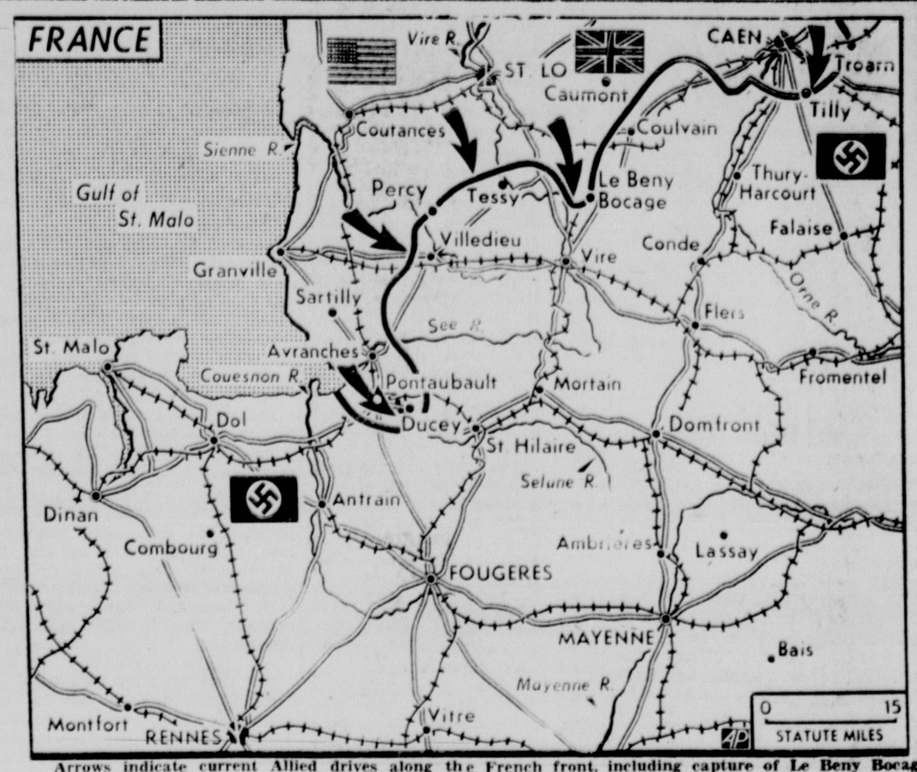

The Navy Department has announced a need for over 40,000 more WAVES this year. Over 270 different kinds of jobs are still available.

It was further pointed out that an added advantage of being sworn in the WAVES at this time will be that girls may have their families and friends witness the swearing-in ceremony if they desire to do so. An appointment with the Board is not necessary. All applicants are urged to be on hand early in the day to insure time enough for completion of the entire enlistment process.

Three Buildings Levelled By Fire

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP) — A four-alarm fire leveled three frame buildings of the Penn City National Oil company in southwest Philadelphia last night, sending up columns of smoke and flames visible for miles.

More than 20 occupants of nearby homes were forced to flee into the streets as the heavy black acrid smoke settled low over the neighborhood.

Arrows indicate current Allied drives along the French front, including capture of Le Beny Bocage and Percy. Americans, pushing beyond captured Avranches, enveloped Pontaubault and Ducey.

11 Youths Held For 18 Burglaries

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Eleven suburban Mt. Lebanon youths were under arrest today, suspected of burglarizing 18 gasoline stations in Allegheny and Washington counties in the past few weeks.

More than 8,000 gallons worth of gasoline ration coupons and a number of tires comprised the loot, state police said. Sixteen of the tires were recovered from cars of the youths' girl friends and girl friends' parents, police said.

ANOTHER POLIO DEATH

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Another death and two new cases of infantile paralysis were reported yesterday, bringing the total number of cases to 86 in Pittsburgh. City health officials said David Muto, four months, of Pittsburgh, died yesterday.

HEAVY BOMBERS BLASTING MANY REICH TARGETS

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—American heavy bombers were reported by Berlin today to be attacking through Austria into southwest Bavaria and also in strength in western Germany in great, coordinated blows from Italy and England.

The heavies struck numerous objectives in France yesterday from west and south. Foul weather grounded the British bomb armada for the second night.

The Swiss told of planes flying over their eastern districts, touching off sirens in Zurich, St. Gotthard and St. Moritz. The direction of their flight suggested that the goal was in the area of Munich, fourth largest Nazi city, a hub of five trunk railways and a manufacturing center for components of robot bombs.

Spotty Weather

There were no reports of heavy bombers operating from either Italy or Britain last night, but RAF homebased Mosquitoes patrolled the French battle area and shot down five German planes.

Spotty weather limited Allied bombers based in Britain and Normandy to 2,500 offensive sorties yesterday.

USE ABANDONED NAZI MATERIAL TO FEED FRENCH

By HAL BOYLE

With an American Armored Column in Normandy, July 31 (Delayed) (AP)—French refugees are being fed with German army food captured during the American advance.

Since much of their transport has been destroyed by Allied planes the Germans have been compelled to abandon dumps of food and munitions and are living off the countryside as they fall back in disorder that verges on a complete rout.

In one forest of tall trees, chosen as a supply area because the trees give protection from strafing planes, the Germans had set up a portable bakery, including an automatic dough-mixer and a mobile oven.

When they skipped toward a healthier clime, they left all the equipment behind, plus several thousand loaves of fresh bread. The bread is so hard that a dropped loaf can bruise your foot but it is highly prized by the French populace.

Caught In War

"It is better quality than they have been used to for four years," said an American Civil Affairs officer. "We give a sackful to every Frenchman who comes by, and we have handed several truckloads to two groups of 500 refugees we are caring for at Cumsy and Cerisy La Salle.

"About 40 per cent of these refugees came originally from Cherbourg and got caught in the left war sector."

Other captured stores include canned foods, which also are being distributed to these homeless Frenchmen who would go hungry unless the American Army stepped in and helped them.

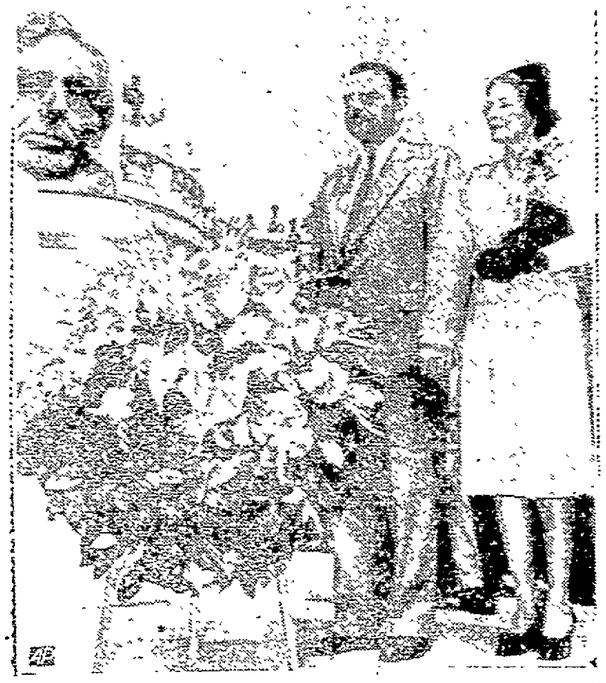

Destruction by American planes of long retreating German columns has given thrifty French women the pleasures of an outdoor rummage sale at no expense.

Save Everything

Farm wives and girls paw happily through the disordered and scattered personal effects left by the Nazis. They save everything from string to bandages. Price discoveries are laundry soap and shoes.

In burying German dead at one cemetery, soldiers remove the shoes and pass them out to French civilians. Good shoes are so scarce that one soldier was offered the equivalent of $100 for his pair of G. I brogans. He refused, remarking, "Later I may regret that I didn't walk away in my sock feet."

150,000 DIE IN NAZI HOSPITALS

Moscow, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Ukraine State atrocities committee charged today that 150,000 patients died in a German hospital at Slavuta, about 100 miles west of Kiev, during the two years of Nazi occupation.

The committee charged that German doctors intentionally spread infectious diseases by herding new patients at gunpoint into a room where 1,800 were already dying of typhoid and tuberculosis.

Evidence was collected by investigators under Nikita Kruschev, head of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic.

The patients were starved to death on a diet of 250 grams of Ersatz flour, made of ground wood pulp and containing less than two per cent of starch, the committee said.

Other charges were:

Red Army prisoners were tortured and beaten, and many were buried alive. Hospital newcomers were robbed of warm clothing and shoes by guards.

All attempts at escape were punished by death.

Urges Rural Voters To Exercise Option

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3 (AP)—Rural people must use their "power to influence national politics" now that labor "is determined" to have a bigger voice in government, President Edward A. O'Neal, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said here last night.

O'Neal told the Southern Farm Bureau conference that:

"I am not urging political warfare between farm and labor groups. I am simply calling attention to the broad advance of organized labor on the political front, and pointing out that if farmers are to have voice in national affairs x x x they must take a greater interest in public affairs."

China Will Request Return Of Formosa

New York, Aug. 3 (AP) — China will ask the return of Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores in its peace terms with Japan, says Dr. H. H. Kung, Vice-Premier of China.

In a Blue Network broadcast last night with commentator Henry J. Taylor, he declared "Japan must disgorge all her territorial conquests. She must restore independence to Korea."

ENFORCEMENT OF OPA IS SOUGHT

As the nation-wide restaurant ceiling price regulation becomes effective, the District Restaurant Advisory Committee asked both proprietors and patrons to help them get full compliance with the regulation.

"We have all helped work out this regulation," H. Haskell Davenport, chairman of the Restaurant Advisory Council, said. "We realize that price stabilization is protection for both business and customers. We proprietors are proud of our ceiling prices. We want help in their full enforcement."

Walter C. Young, acting district director of the OPA, explained that restaurant ceiling prices become effective today and all restaurants in the Harrisburg district, which includes Adams county, will be required to post prominently the 40 basic food items, effective August 16.

After that date, he said, it will be easy for the restaurant patron to check the ceiling price of any of these items.

Any instances of overcharges should be checked with the manager. If the overcharge is not corrected, it should be reported promptly to the price clerk of the local War Price and Rationing Board, Mr. Young said. The price panels will investigate all reports of overcharges.

Every effort will be made by OPA to assist public eating and drinking establishments to observe the new national restaurant regulation, Mr. Young added.

King George After Battlefront Visit

London, Aug. 3 (AP) — King George VI returned to Britain by air today after a 10-day absence during which he toured the battlefields in Italy and reviewed various Allied forces there.

While in Italy the monarch inspected the front lines above Rome, on one occasion watching British artillery shelling the foe at Arezzo; visited the battlegrounds at Anzio and Cassino, and conferred knighthood on Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, British Eighth Army commander.

Urges Check-Up On Mine Hazards

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—A check-up on all electrical equipment in Pennsylvania's soft coal fields was urged by Richard Maize, secretary of mines, as a precaution against another mine disaster.

In a letter to mine officials Maize said yesterday that three fires, one in Pennsylvania and the others in West Virginia and Ohio had claimed 26 lives and he said "all are the result of fires caused by electricity."

Senate Restaurant Ready For Solons

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Glad you're back, Senator Reynolds, there are three eggs in the skillet with your ham; hasten north, Senator Smith, your hominy grits are piping hot!

And the United States Senate restaurant, reopening today after a five-week congressional recess, likewise is ready to serve baked potatoes to the Idaho senators, broiled lobster to the New England clan, bean soup to the hearty diners of the northwest and other delicacies according to the senators' regional preferences.

As head waiter in the Senate dining rooms on the first floor of the capitol, Paul C. Johnson serves more notables every day than any man in a similar job. In 44 years of service there he has learned exactly what each senator likes and does his best to see that they get it all within the limits of the rationing system.

WAC ENLISTEES

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Included in the group of district women who left last night for basic training in the Women's Army Air Corps at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., were Elizabeth M. McBurney, Canonsburg, Pa., Mary R. Cramer, Hopwood, Pa.; Josephine G. Esiel, Lemont Furnance, Pa. They will be stationed at Fort George Meade, Md., after the completion of basic training.

Capital Families Are "Washed Out"

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Under still-overcast skies Washington returned to normal activity today after a 6.22-inch downpour which disrupted the lives of thousands of its residents.

Hundred of families were forced to evacuate their homes—particularly those in several temporary war housing projects. Hundreds of others were driven from ground floor offices or were long-delayed in returning home from work last night as traffic facilities became tangled.

Almost a foot of water poured into the lobbies of government buildings. Historic Constitution avenue was a virtual canal for several hours.

The Weather Bureau and the Department of Agriculture said the rain, described as the tail-end of the tropical storm which hit the southeast yesterday, was "much more beneficial than harmful," however, since it relieved a long drought.

ROE TO GET EXAM

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Elwin (Preacher) Roe, Pirate portside pitcher, has been ordered by his Loyola, Ark., draft board to report for his pre-induction physical examination here Aug. 15. Roe is married aand has a four-year-old son.

Canfield Praises Merchant Marine

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rep. Gordon Canfield (R-NJ), back from his hitch-hiking trip to England aboard an oil tanker, had nothing but praise today for the merchant marine and said he and Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa), who made the voyage with him, would report their findings to the House Merchant Marine Committee.

The sandy-haired New Jersey congressman flew back from England by way of Iceland. He said Scott planned to return by another route.

Canfield experienced the robot bombing of England and talked mostly about that in an interview. He predicted the buzz-bombs would not be stopped until Allied troops advance into the territory from which the robots are launched.

He said he doubted that the Nazis could use the bombs from inside Germany because of the greater distances involved.

2ND DEATH IN 6 MONTHS

Meadeville, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP) — Tragedy struck for the second time in six months at the home of Albert Cramer when Frederick Cramer, 7, drowned yesterday in French Creek, one-half mile north of here. Last February a four-year-old daughter, Doris Marie, was struck by an automobile and killed.

With an American Armored Column in Normandy, July 31 (Delayed) (AP)—French refugees are being fed with German army food captured during the American advance.

Since much of their transport has been destroyed by Allied planes, the Germans have been compelled to abandon dumps of food and munitions and are living off the countryside as they fall back in disorder that verges on a complete rout.

In one forest of tall trees, chosen as a supply area because the trees gave protection from strafing planes, the Germans had set up a portable bakery, including an automatic dough-mixer and a mobile oven.

When they skipped toward a healthier clime, they left all the equipment behind, plus several thousand loaves of fresh bread. The bread is so hard that a dropped loaf can bruise your foot but it is highly valued by the French populace.

Caught In War

"It is better quality than they have been used to for four years," said on American Civil Affairs officer. "We give a sackful to every Frenchman who comes by, and we have hauled several truckloads to two groups of 500 refugees we are caring for at Canisy and Cerisy La Salle.

"About 30 per cent of these refugees came originally from Cherbourg and got caught in the new war sector."

Other captured stores include canned foods, which also are being distributed to these homeless Frenchmen who would go hungry unless the American Army stepped in and helped them.

Destruction by American planes of long retreating German columns has given thrifty French women the pleasures of an outdoor rummage sale at no expense.

Save Everything

Farm wives and girls paw happily through the disordered and scattered personal effects left by the Nazis. They save everything from string to bandages. Prize discoverfes are laundry soap and shoes.

In burying German dead at one cemetery, soldiers remove the shoes and pass them out to French civilians. Good shoes are so scarce that one soldier was offered the equivalent of $100 for his pair of G. I. brogans. He refused, remarking, "Later I may regret that I didn't walk away in my sock feet."

150,000 DIE IN NAZI HOSPITALS

Moscow, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Ukraine State atrocities committee charged today that 150,000 patients died in a German hospital at Slavuta, about 160 miles west of Kiev, during the two years of Nazi occupation.

The committee charged that German doctors intentionally spread infectious diseases by herding new patients at gunpoint into a room where 1,800 were already dying of typhoid and tuberculosis.

Evidence was collected by investigators under Nikita Kruschev, head of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic.

The patients were starved to death on a diet of 250 grams of Ersatz flour, made of ground wood pulp and containing less than two per cent of starch, the committee said.

Other charges were:

Red Army prisoners were tortured and beaten, and many were buried alive. Hospital newcomers were robbed of warm clothing and shoes by guards.

All attempts at escape were punished by death.

Urges Rural Voters To Exercise Option

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 3 (AP)—Rural people must use their "power to influence national politics" now that labor "is determined" to have a bigger voice in government, President Edward A. O'Neal, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said here last night.

O'Neal told the Southern Farm Bureau conference that:

"I am not urging political warfare between farm and labor groups. I am simply calling attention to the broad advance of organized labor on the political front, and pointing out that if farmers are to have voice in national affairs x x x they must take a greater interest in public affairs."

China Will Request Return Of Formosa

New York, Aug. 3 (AP) — China will ask the return of Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores in its peace terms with Japan, says Dr. H. H. Kung, Vice-Premier of China.

In a Blue Network broadcast last night with commentator Henry J. Taylor, he declared "Japan must disgorge all her territorial conquests. She must restore independence to Korea."

ENFORCEMENT OF OPA IS SOUGHT

As the nation-wide restaurant ceiling price regulation becomes effective, the District Restaurant Advisory Committee asked both proprietors and patrons to help them get full compliance with the regulation.

"We have all helped work out this regulation," H. Haskell Davenport, chairman of the Restaurant Advisory Council, said. "We realize that price stabilization is protection for both business and customers. We proprietors are proud of our ceiling prices. We want help in their full enforcement."

Walter C. Young, acting district director of the OPA, explained that restaurant ceiling prices become effective today and all restaurants in the Harrisburg district, which includes Adams county, will be required to post prominently the 40 basic food items, effective August 16.

After that date, he said, it will be easy for the restaurant patron to check the ceiling price of any of these items.

Any instances of overcharges should be checked with the manager. If the overcharge is not corrected, it should be reported promptly to the price clerk of the local War Price and Rationing Board, Mr. Young said. The price panels will investigate all reports of overcharges.

Every effort will be made by OPA to assist public eating and drinking establishments to observe the new national restaurant regulation, Mr. Young added.

King George After Battlefront Visit

London, Aug. 3 (AP) — King George VI returned to Britain by air today after a 10-day absence during which he toured the battlefields in Italy and reviewed various Allied forces there.

While in Italy the monarch inspected the front lines above Rome, on one occasion watching British artillery shelling the foe at Arezzo; visited the battlegrounds at Anzio and Cassino, and conferred knighthood on Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, British Eighth Army commander.

Urges Check-Up On Mine Hazards

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—A check-up on all electrical equipment in Pennsylvania's soft coal fields was urged by Richard Maize, secretary of mines, as a precaution against another mine disaster.

In a letter to mine officials Maize said yesterday that three fires, one in Pennsylvania and the others in West Virginia and Ohio had claimed 86 lives and he said "all are the result of fires caused by electricity."

Senate Restaurant Ready For Solons

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Glad you're back, Senator Reynolds, there are three eggs in the skillet with your ham; hasten north, Senator Smith, your hominy grits are piping hot!

And the United States Senate restaurant, reopening today after a five-week congressional recess, likewise is ready to serve baked potatoes to the Idaho senators, broiled lobster to the New England clan, bean soup to the hearty diners of the northwest and other delicacies according to the senators' regional preferences.

As head waiter in the Senate dining rooms on the first floor of the capitol, Paul C. Johnson serves more notables every day than any man in a similar job. In 44 years of service there he has learned exactly what each senator likes and does his best to see that they get it all within the limits of the rationing system.

WAC ENLISTEES

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Included in the group of district women who left last night for basic training in the Women's Army Air Corps at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., were Elizabeth M. McBurney, Canonsburg, Pa., Mary R. Cramer, Hopwood, Pa.; Josephine G. Estel, Lemont Furnance, Pa. They will be stationed at Fort George Meade, Md., after the completion of basic training.

Capital Families Are "Washed Out"

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Under still-overcast skies Washington returned to normal activity today after a 6.22-inch downpour which disrupted the lives of thousands of its residents.

Hundred of families were forced to evacuate their homes—particularly those in several temporary war housing projects. Hundreds of others were driven from ground floor offices or were long-delayed in returning home from work last night as traffic facilities became tangled.

Almost a foot of water poured into the lobbies of government buildings. Historic Constitution avenue was a virtual canal for several hours.

The Weather Bureau and the Department of Agriculture said the rain, described as the tail-end of the tropical storm which hit the southeast yesterday, was "much more beneficial than harmful," however, since it relieved a long drought.

ROE TO GET EXAM

Pittsburgh, Aug. 3 (AP)—Elwin (Preacher) Roe, Pirate portside pitcher, has been ordered by his Loyola, Ark., draft board to report for his pre-induction physical examination here Aug. 15. Roe is married aand has a four-year-old son.

Canfield Praises Merchant Marine

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Rep. Gordon Canfield (R-NJ), back from his hitch-hiking trip to England aboard an oil tanker, had nothing but praise today for the merchant marine and said he and Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa), who made the voyage with him, would report their findings to the House Merchant Marine Committee.

The sandy-haired New Jersey congressman flew back from England by way of Iceland. He said Scott planned to return by another route.

Canfield experienced the robot bombing of England and talked mostly about that in an interview. He predicted the buzz-bombs would not be stopped until Allied troops advance into the territory from which the robots are launched.

He said he doubted that the Nazis could use the bombs from inside Germany because of the greater distances involved.

Canfield and Scott worked as members of the tanker crew.

2ND DEATH IN 6 MONTHS

Meadeville, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP) — Tragedy struck for the second time in six months at the home of Albert Cramer when Frederick Cramer, 7, drowned yesterday in French Creek, one-half mile north of here. Last February a four-year-old daughter, Doris Marie, was struck by an automobile and killed.

MALARIA MAY BE WIPED OUT

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—It should be possible to eliminate malaria from every civilized country after the war by means of the synthetic quinine substitute, quinacrine (atabrine), and by experience gained in treating the armed forces, the journal of the American medical association said today.

The journal made this comment on an official report that quinacrine "has proved to have all the anti-malarial properties ascribed to quinine" and that large-scale production of quinine "is not now considered a matter of importance" for treating army and navy personnel.

The report, published in the journal, was made by the national research council's board for the coordination of malarial studies.

Experience in the past two years "demonstrated conclusively" that even in acute malarial attacks, quinacrine is "fully as effective" as quinine and is safer, it said.

The report added that while large quinine supplies no longer are required for military use, supplies in excess of present stockpiles may be needed for civilians in occupied countries where details of the quinacrine treatment have not yet been learned.

Japanese Claim 113 Allied Planes

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Japanese Imperial headquarters communique broadcast by the Tokyo radio asserted today that Japanese planes had destroyed 113 American aircraft in attacks on bases in China from July 29 to Aug. 1. One Japanese plane failed to return, said the bulletin.

The Japanese claims were wholly unsupported by Allied reports on enemy operations in China.

Makes Record Mercy Flight To Save Life

Shreveport, La., Aug. 3 (AP) — A Barksdale Field B-25 bomber made a 364 mile mercy flight to Dallas, Texas, and back in one hour and 59 minutes last night to obtain anti-tetanus serum for the treatment of J. O. Leach, 33, of Beaumont, Texas, a patient at Charity hospital here.

Col. William B. Wright, commanding officer, authorized the flight when physicians said they believed Leach could not live unless rabbit serum, located in Dallas, reached here sooner than was possible by commercial air lines.

Underground Poles Fight In Warsaw

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The exiled Polish government's press service said hard and grim fighting continued today in central, north and west Warsaw between the Polish underground and the besieged Germans while the Russianas closed in on the eastern suburbs.

"Street fighting, sniping from buildings and hand-to-hand encounters are raging continually," the official announcement said.

Gen Bor, Polish underground commander, was reported in contact with Russian commanders. He requested ammunition and anti-tank guns, the report said. Polish military authorities said they presumed that Bor was trying to herd the Germans east to the Vistula river and to harass them into a trap for the Russians.

L. E. DUNCAN IS KILLED AT FRONT

Pvt. Lawrence E. Duncan, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duncan, Berwick township, was killed in France on June 12, according to a telegram received by his wife from Adjutant General James A. Uhe.

A previous telegram received by Mrs. Catherine Diehl Duncan Hanover, on or about June 21, had stated that her husband was "slightly injured" in action in France on June 9. Whether these injuries proved fatal or new injuries caused his death is not known.

Pvt. Duncan was the first man from the Hanover area reported injured in France. He had been in the armed forces since June 4, 1941. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga. Later he was stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla.; Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Duncan went overseas in mid-January, this year, and was stationed in England up until the time of the invasion. Before entering the service, Pvt. Duncan was employed in the warehouse of the Ehrhart-Conrad company, wholesale grocers.

Surviving are the widow, the parents, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Edgar Stambaugh, Thomasville; Mrs. Bernard Livingston, Hanover, formerly of New Oxford, and Donald, Philip and Phyllis Duncan, all at home.

MALARIA MAY BE WIPED OUT

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—It should be possible to eliminate malaria from every civilized country after the war by means of the synthetic quinine substitute, quinacrine (atabrine), and by experience gained in treating the armed forces, the journal of the American medical association said today.

The journal made this comment on an official report that quinacrine "has proved to have all the anti-malarial properties ascribed to quinine" and that large-scale production of quinine "is not now considered a matter of importance" for treating army and navy personnel.

The report, published in the journal, was made by the national research council's board for the coordination of malarial studies.

Experience in the past two years "demonstrated conclusively" that even in acute malarial attacks, quinacrine is "fully as effective" as quinine and is safer, it said.

The report added that while large quinine supplies no longer are required for military use, supplies in excess of present stockpiles may be needed for civilians in occupied countries where details of the quinacrine treatment have not yet been learned.

Japanese Claim 113 Allied Planes

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Japanese Imperial headquarters communique broadcast by the Tokyo radio asserted today that Japanese planes had destroyed 113 American aircraft in attacks on bases in China from July 29 to Aug. 1. One Japanese plane failed to return, said the bulletin.

The Japanese claims were wholly unsupported by Allied reports on enemy operations in China.

Makes Record Mercy Flight To Save Life

Shreveport, La., Aug. 3 (AP) — A Barksdale Field B-26 bomber made a 364 mile mercy flight to Dallas, Texas, and back in one hour and 59 minutes last night to obtain anti-tetanus serum for the treatment of J. O. Leach, 33, of Beaumont, Texas, a patient at Charity hospital here.

Col. William B. Wright, commanding officer, authorized the flight when physicians said they believed Leach could not live unless rabbit serum, located in Dallas, reached here sooner than was possible by commercial air lines.

Underground Poles Fight In Warsaw

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The exiled Polish government's press service said hard and grim fighting continued today in central, north and west Warsaw between the Polish underground and the besieged Germans while the Russianas closed in on the eastern suburbs.

"Street fighting, sniping from buildings and hand-to-hand encounters are raging continually," the official announcement said.

Gen. Bor, Polish underground commander, was reported in contact with Russian commanders. He requested ammunition and anti-tank guns, the report said. Polish military authorities said they presumed that Bor was trying to herd the Germans east to the Vistula river and to harass them into a trap for the Russians.

L. E. DUNCAN IS KILLED AT FRONT

Pvt. Lawrence E. Duncan, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duncan, Berwick township, was killed in France on June 12, according to a telegram received by his wife from Adjutant General James A. Ulio.

A previous telegram received by Mrs. Catherine Diehl Duncan, Hanover, on or about June 21, had stated that her husband was "slightly injured" in action in France on June 9. Whether these injuries proved fatal or new injuries caused his death is not known.

Pvt. Duncan was the first man from the Hanover area reported injured in France. He had been in the armed forces since June 4, 1941. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga. Later he was stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla.; Port Benning, Ga., and Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Duncan went overseas in mid-January, this year, and was stationed in England up until the time of the invasion. Before entering the service, Pvt. Duncan was employed in the warehouse of the Ehrhart-Conrad company, wholesale grocers.

Surviving are the widow, the parents, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Edgar Stambaugh, Thomasville; Mrs. Bernard Livingston, Hanover, formerly of New Oxford, and Donald, Philip and Phyllis Duncan, all at home.

MALARIA MAY BE WIPED OUT

Chicago, Aug. 3 (AP)—It should be possible to eliminate malaria from every civilized country after the war by means of the synthetic quinine substitute, quinacrine, (atabrine), and by experience gained in treating the armed forces, the journal of the American medical association said today.

The journal made this comment on an official report that quinacrine "has proved to have all the anti-malarial properties ascribed to quinine" and that large-scale production of quinine "is not now considered a matter of importance" for treating army and navy personnel.

The report, published in the journal, was made by the national research council's board for the coordination of malarial studies.

Experience in the past two years "demonstrated conclusively" that even in acute malarial attacks, quinacrine is "fully as effective" as quinine and is safer, it said.

The report added that while large quinine supplies no longer are required for military use, supplies in excess of present stockpiles may be needed for civilians in occupied countries where details of the quinacrine treatment have not yet been learned.

Japanese Claim 113 Allied Planes

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Japanese Imperial headquarters communique broadcast by the Tokyo radio asserted today that Japanese planes had destroyed 113 American aircraft in attacks on bases in China from July 29 to Aug. 1. One Japanese plane failed to return, said the bulletin.

The Japanese claims were wholly unsupported by Allied reports on enemy operations in China.

Makes Record Mercy Flight To Save Life

Shreveport, La., Aug. 3 (AP) — A Barksdale Field B-26 bomber made a 364 mile mercy flight to Dallas, Texas, and back in one hour and 59 minutes last night to obtain anti-tetanus serum for the treatment of J. O. Leach, 33, of Beaumont, Texas, a patient at Charity hospital here.

Col. William B. Wright, commanding officer, authorized the flight when physicians said they believed Leach could not live unless rabbit serum, located in Dallas, reached here sooner than was possible by commercial air lines.

Underground Poles Fight In Warsaw

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The exiled Polish government's press service said hard and grim fighting continued today in central, north and west Warsaw between the Polish underground and the besieged Germans while the Russianas closed in on the eastern suburbs.

"Street fighting, sniping from buildings and hand-to-hand encounters are raging continually," the official announcement said.

Gen. Bor, Polish underground commander, was reported in contact with Russian commanders. He requested ammunition and anti-tank guns, the report said. Polish military authorities said they presumed that Bor was trying to herd the Germans east to the Vistula river and to harass them into a trap for the Russians.

L. E. DUNCAN IS KILLED AT FRONT

Pvt. Lawrence E. Duncan, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duncan, Berwick township, was killed in France on June 12, according to a telegram received by his wife from Adjutant General James A. Ulio.

A previous telegram received by Mrs. Catherine Diehl Duncan, Hanover, on or about June 21, had stated that her husband was "slightly injured" in action in France on June 9. Whether these injuries proved fatal or new injuries caused his death is not known.

Pvt. Duncan was the first man from the Hanover area reported injured in France. He had been in the armed forces since June 4, 1941. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga. Later he was stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla.; Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Jackson, S. C.

Pvt. Duncan went overseas in mid-January, this year, and was stationed in England up until the time of the invasion. Before entering the service, Pvt. Duncan was employed in the warehouse of the Ehrhart-Conrad company, wholesale grocers.

Surviving are the widow, the parents, and the following sisiers and brothers: Mrs. Edgar Stambaugh, Thomasville; Mrs. Bernard Livingston, Hanover, formerly of New Oxford, and Donald, Philip and Phyllis Duncan, all at home.

PRIVATE ROTH

rounded me in the bunking arrangement and while I never recall having seen two of the men before, in one hour we were bosom companions and three days later, when they left, I felt I had lost life long friends and brothers. The same goes for Bill Stansbury from down Bonneauville way and all of the others. Now only Dale Cline, Gardners R. 2, and myself remain, so we have become closer friends than we would have become if we had met each other daily in civilian life. Yes, and we know more about each other than we ordinarily would. The long conversations engendered by Army life guarantee that.

Many New Friends

A host of new friends are always available in the Army. Some always stand out from the crowd. Take Kelly, from Philadelphia. I never heard Private Kelly's first name and there is really no necessity from any standpoint for a red headed Irishman to have any other name than Kelly, is there? Kelly is a hard worker whose chief occupations so far have been scrubbing the floor at the barracks and digging a ditch for a draining pipe. Kelly, who set new speed records in scrubbing the floor on a hot afternoon last Friday looked up to see the two men sweeping the water behind him to prevent it seeping through to the next floor and piped:

"M'gosh, it takes two men to sweep up all the swear running off my brow." He was close to the truth at that.

Kelly, Morelli and Ginsburg, as representatives of the Philadelphia crowd now inhabiting the barracks with Cline and myself are fine citizens in any sense of the word—but I wouldn't give a great amount for the fine Anglo-Saxon named brethren from South Philadelphia. The Army will eventually make men out of them I suppose, but somebody is going to get hurt.

Wagers On Army

And I'll take any odds that it will not be the Army that gets bruised either.

One of the strange sights of the camp is the relative kindness of the men here from overseas on permanent cadre and the men who do not wear the bars with battle clasps. If you want to find somebody gentle search for the corporal or sergeant who came back from overseas. Need we go further.

From those whom I have met, or worked with, I draw the conclusion that the officers of the camp are the finest representatives of officer material in the country. And those men from Adams county who have come into contact with Lt. B. M. Eubank here will probably agree.

The men whose battle clasps tell stories well worth printing if they would talk about them tell all of us recruits that the conclusion we have drawn so far is correct—that the Army's motto is "Hurry up and wait."

"Voice Of Authority"

"The Voice of Authority," a little loud speaker above the steps at the barracks which directs our destinies at the whim of whatever orders have been received at the orderly room, speaks urgently throughout the day. "Two-fifty-five, all out"; "two fifty-five, report immediately to the orderly room." Every time there is a great hustling down the stairs. A mad dash to get done what has to be done before leaving and then we report and wait. Sometimes we wait a few minutes, once we waited a few hours. But in the Army you wait until everyone is there, before you rush off to your next assignment of waiting for something to happen.

"Needlebait" is the cry of New Cumberland. We got it when we walked into the camp in civilian clothes and we in turn yelled it to the men who came in after us. We told the same tales that had been told us—of the "corkscrew needle" and the "one with the propeller on the nose which the doctor starts off across the room and which hits your back at 70 miles an hour."

Inductee Faints

The "needles" of course, are nothing more than hypodermics containing an anti-typhoid injection. It does not hurt when it is put in and while one's arms become a little sore and aching for a short time thereafter there seems to be no great ill effect.

But great is the effect of the mental torture which the proud soldiers of a few days have prepresented to their incoming brethren.

The day our crowd got its first shots one just made the doorway before upchucking into a barrel outside the door. Two others stayed in bed all day, desperately ill. The next day one of the new inductees fainted while backing up in line for his shots before the hypodermic ever touched him.

There is much humor in the Army, but little of it is printable. Not that the boys are excessively vulgur, or smutty, but the term latrine humor accurately describes the type of humor that may be found. It is broad joshing at best, a josaing of the discomfitures of Army life. Natural discomfitures at that which cannot be done away with when men are handled in a mass. The humor is in effect a recognition of the personal dignity of man as opposed to the abrogation of that dignity by Army life. We hold tenaciously however, to the shreds of that little dignity which is left to us. Like snakes which one sees in zoos, crawling all over one another yet each studiously ignoring the existence of the other, we in the Army studiously ignore what we dislike, while energetically carrying out the things that are necessary.

Varied Tests

The processing here is a thing of wonder to behold. The first day you are given a rain coat and a barracks bag containing such things as soap, razor and other necessary articles. Then you are assigned to a barracks. The next day allotments are made and interviews held with men and officers who do their best to find out just what everyone has done or can do before assigning. During the same day an intelligence test is given, as are mechanical aptitude and radio aptitude tests. The third day a uniform is issued.

The next day one gets the "shots" or anti-toxin and the following day the corporal smiles with sadistic glee when he intones the fateful words—"The following men are on K.P."

K.P. or Kitchen Police is a thing of toil and a fear forever. Everybody gets it and nobody likes it.

14-Hours of K.P.

Private Roth started out his 14 hours of K.P. duty by handing out 500 cups of milk during breakfast. He still saw milk cups dancing before his eyes two hours later. At lunch he handed out 500 dippersful of mashed potatoes and swore a mighty oath that he would do most anything before becoming a "disher-outer" in a cafeteria. For supper in the evening he added insults to his injury by handing out some 500 similar dippersful of beans. His admiration and respect for the humble KP bait who serve him daily is now unbounded.

In between times (that is between meals) we entertained ourselves by carrying out such orders of the chefs as cleaning out the bottom of red-hot cookers and removing the slightest suggestion of grease or other materials from floors walls, tables, cooking utensils and sundry other articles. We were not required to scrub the ceilings, but we still believe that it was a mere oversight on the part of the chefs. Let no one tell you that Army kitchens are not the most sanitary buildings on the face of the earth.

Army Cleanliness

Yet sanitary as are the kitchens the barracks and all other buildings are nearly equally sanitary. Take the word of a G. I. whose hands are blistered and whose soul has practically tottered under the constant scrubbing, cleaning, polishing and policing of Army life. Never again will Private Roth allow a speck of dirt to mar anything. Now we have more fear of dirt than of the enemy.

As an older member of the Army I can't understand the insistance of the military leaders for 18 year olds. The poor kids just do not know what to do, most have never been away from home and some do not even know how to go about telephoning home or writing a letter. Good cannon fodder they may be and good soldiers they may make—but it does seem extra cruel to take away a mere boy who has never before been away from home or on his own.

"Perfect Woman"

Last but not least we get around to the main topic of conversation in the Army and if American womanhood can live up to the ideal which each man carries in his heart then the world is safe for all time. The perfect woman is fat, thin, short, tall, a blond, brunette, and a red head. She is a companion and she is a mother. She is everything praiseworthy. She may go by the name of Mom or the girl friend or the wife but she is perfection and let no man contradict that fact.

idiewfirhbrtoku -adctogt

There are women of course who are not perfect, there are women who are dangerous, those who are lazy, those who are not quite the perfect embodiment of all the great virtues. But they are not "The Girl Back Home."

The married men of course carry pictures of their children and carefully listen to every other proud father's rendition of how perfect his children are—so that the listening father in turn can tell how swell his youngsters might be.

But while children are wonderful the wife is something special. She is a combination of both mother and girl friend and there is reverence when men speak of their wives—a reverence more comradely and a little less formal than when they speak of mother but a reverence that suggests American wives have earned an accolade for themselves that can never be withdrawn.

154th Anniversary Of Coast Guard

Lubec, Me., Aug. 3 (AP)—The 154th anniversary of the United States Coast Guard on Friday has special significance in this little community where lies the body of Capt. Hopley T. Yeaton, the "father of the Coast Guard."

Commissioned in 1790 by General George Washington, Capt. Yeaton became the first master of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service, forerunner of the present day Coast Guard, and was assigned the cruising range from Kittery to Calais, Me.

Capt. Yeaton and the crew of his 48-foot sailing craft watched the coast for smugglers and other marine malefactors and frequently put in at Lubec customs headquarters for the port of Passamaquoddy.

His vessel was one of 10 cutters authorized in 1790. It had a displacement of 51 tons and carried a crew of eight officers and men.

BALTIMORE SUN SUPPORTS DEWEY

Baltimore, Aug. 3 (AP)—For the third time in 107 years, the Baltimore Sun advocated today a Republican presidential candidacy, announcing its support of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the nation's highest office.

The independent Democratic newspaper backed William McKinley against William Jennings Bryan in 1896 and supported Wendell Willkie in 1940 in opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt. The Sun backed Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and announced no choice in 1936.

"Three terms for a president are one too many," today's editorial said. "In a fourth term, with the unifying ties of wartime emotion removed, the forces of disintegration which we all know exist would be free to do their worst. The national safety would be compromised."

Find Fortune In Bachelor's Home

Portland, Ore., Aug. 3 (AP)—A map-guided treasure hunt in an old house occupied for many years by elderly bachelor brothers, now dead, has yielded $6,000 in gold and silver coins, and an estimated $7,000 to $10,000 more is believed buried in the premises, the Oregonian said today.

Searchers are working from maps left by the owners, one of whom died two years ago and the other last month, the paper continued.

Approximately $2,000 in silver coins was found in money bags in bureau drawers, $300 in silver in an old unlocked safe, and $276 in an old pair of trousers hanging in a closet.

An old stove in the basement contained a glass jar holding $3,000 mostly in $20 gold pieces.

rounded me in the bunking arrangement and while I never recall having seen two of the men before, in one hour we were bosom companions and three days later, when they left, I felt I had lost life long friends and brothers. The same goes for Bill Stansbury from down Bonneauville way and all of the others. Now only Dale Cline, Gardners R. 2, and myself remain, so we have become closer friends than we would have become if we had met each other daily in civilian life. Yes, and we know more about each other than we ordinarily would. The long conversations engendered by Army life guarantee that.

Many New Friends

A host of new friends are always available in the Army. Some always stand out from the crowd. Take Kelly, from Philadelphia. I never heard Private Kelly's first name and there is really no necessity from any standpoint for a red headed Irishman to have any other name than Kelly, is there? Kelly is a hard worker whose chief occupations so far have been scrubbing the floor at the barracks and digging a ditch for a draining pipe. Kelly, who set new speed records in scrubbing the floor on a hot afternoon last Friday looked up to see the two men sweeping the water behind him to prevent it seeping through to the next floor and piped:

"M'gosh, it takes two men to sweep up all the sweat running off my brow." He was close to the truth at that.

Kelly, Morelli and Ginsburg, as representatives of the Philadelphia crowd now inhabiting the barracks with Cline and myself are fine citizens in any sense of the word—but I wouldn't give a great amount for the fine Anglo-Saxon named brethren from South Philadelphia. The Army will eventually make men out of them I suppose, but somebody is going to get bruised.

Wagers On Army

And I'll take any odds that it will not be the Army that gets bruised either.

One of the strange sights of the camp is the relative kindness of the men here from overseas on permanent cadre and the men who do not wear the bars with battle clasps. If you want to find somebody gentle search for the corporal or sergeant who came back from overseas. Need we go further.

From those whom I have met, or worked with, I draw the conclusion that the officers of the camp are the finest representatives of officer material in the country. And those men from Adams county who have come into contact with Lt. B. M. Eubank here will probably agree.

The men whose battle clasps tell stories well worth printing if they would talk about them tell all of us recruits that the conclusion we have drawn so far is correct—that the Army's motto is "Hurry up and wait."

"Voice Of Authority"

"The Voice of Authority," a little loud speaker above the steps at the barracks which directs our destinies at the whim of whatever orders have been received at the orderly room, speaks urgently throughout the day, "Two-fifty-five, all out"; "two fifty-five, report immediately to the orderly room." Every time there is a great hustling down the stairs. A mad dash to get done what has to be done before leaving and then we report and wait. Sometimes we wait a few minutes, once we waited a few hours. But in the Army you wait until everyone is there, before you rush off to your next assignment of waiting for something to happen.

"Needlebait" is the cry of New Cumberland. We got it when we walked into the camp in civilian clothes and we in turn yelled it to the men who came in after us. We told the same tales that had been told us—of the "corkscrew needle" and the "one with the propeller on the nose which the doctor starts off across the room and which hits your back at 70 miles an hour."

Inductee Faints

The "needles" of course, are nothing more than hypodermics containing an anti-typhoid injection. It does not hurt when it is put in and while one's arms become a little sore and aching for a short time thereafter there seems to be no great ill effect.

But great is the effect of the mental torture which the proud soldiers of a few days have presented to their incoming brethren.

The day our crowd got its first shots one just made the doorway before upchucking into a barrel outside the door. Two others stayed in bed all day, desperately ill. The next day one of the new inductees fainted while backing up in line for his shots before the hypodermic ever touched him.

There is much humor in the Army, but little of it is printable. Not that the boys are excessively vulgur, or smutty, but the term latrine humor accurately describes the type of humor that may be found. It is broad joshing at best, a joshing of the discomfitures of Army life. Natural discomfitures at that which cannot be done away with when men are handled in a mass. The humor is in effect a recognition of the personal dignity of man as opposed to the abrogation of that dignity by Army life. We hold tenaciously, however, to the shreds of that little dignity which is left to us. Like snakes which one sees in zoos, crawling all over one another yet each studiously ignoring the existence of the other, we in the Army studiously ignore what we dislike, while energetically carrying out the things that are necessary.

Varied Tests

Then you are assigned to a barracks. The next day allotments are made and interviews held with men and officers who do their best to find out just what everyone has done or can do before assigning. It is broad joshing at best, a joshing of the discomfitures of Army life. Natural discomfitures at that which cannot be done away with when men are handled in a mass. The humor is in effect a recognition of the personal dignity of man as opposed to the abrogation of that dignity by Army life. We hold tenaciously, however, to the shreds of that little dignity which is left to us. Like snakes which one sees in zoos, crawling all over one another yet each studiously ignoring the existence of the other, we in the Army studiously ignore what we dislike, while energetically carrying out the things that are necessary.

Varied Tests

The processing here is a thing of wonder to behold. The first day you are given a rain coat and a barracks bag containing such things as soap, razor and other necessary articles. Then you are assigned to a barracks. The next day allotments are made and interviews held with men and officers who do their best to find out just what everyone has done or can do before assigning. During the same day an intelligence test is given, as are mechanical aptitude and radio aptitude tests. The third day a uniform is issued.

The next day one gets the "shots" or anti-toxin and the following day the corporal smiles with sadistic glee when he intones the fateful words—"The following men are on K.P."

K.P. or Kitchen Police is a thing of toil and a fear forever. Everybody gets it and nobody likes it.

14-Hours of K.P.

Private Roth started out his 14 hours of K.P. duty by handing out 500 cups of milk during breakfast. He still saw milk cups dancing before his eyes two hours later. At lunch he handed out 500 dippersful of mashed potatoes and swore a mighty oath that he would do most anything before becoming a "disher-outer" in a cafeteria. For supper in the evening he added insults to his injury by handing out some 500 similar dippersful of beans. His admiration and respect for the humble KP bait who serve him daily is now unbounded.

In between times (that is between meals) we entertained ourselves by carrying out such orders of the chefs as cleaning out the bottom of red-hot cookers and removing the slightest suggestion of grease or other materials from floors, walls, tables, cooking utensils and sundry other articles. We were not required to scrub the ceilings, but we still believe that it was a mere oversight on the part of the chefs. Let no one tell you that Army kitchens are not the most sanitary buildings on the face of the earth.

Army Cleanliness

Yet sanitary as are the kitchens, the barracks and all other buildings are nearly equally sanitary. Take the word of a G. I. whose hands are blistered and whose soul has practically tottered under the constant scrubbing, cleaning, polishing and policing of Army life. Never again will Private Roth allow a speck of dirt to mar anything. Now we have more fear of dirt than of the enemy.

As an older member of the Army I can't understand the insistance of the military leaders for 18 year olds. The poor kids just do not know what to do, most have never been away from home and some do not even know how to go about telephoning home or writing a letter. Good cannon fodder they may be and good soldiers they may make—but it does seem extra cruel to take away a mere boy who has never before been away from home or on his own.

"Perfect Woman"

Last but not least we get around to the main topic of conversation in the Army and if American womanhood can live up to the ideal which each man carries in his heart then the world is safe for all time. The perfect woman is fat, thin, short, tall, a blond, brunette, and a red head. She is a companion and she is a mother. She is everything, praiseworthy. She may go by the name of Mom or the girl friend or the wife but she is perfection and let no man contradict that fact.

There are women of course who are not perfect, there are women who are dangerous, those who are lazy, those who are not quite the perfect embodiment of all the great virtues. But they are not "The Girl Back Home."

The married men of course carry pictures of their children and carefully listen to every other proud father's rendition of how perfect his children are—so that the listening father in turn can tell how swell his youngsters might be.

But while children are wonderful the wife is something special. She is a combination of both mother and girl friend and there is reverence when men speak of their wives—a reverence more comradely and a little less formal than when they speak of mother but a reverence that suggests American wives have earned an accolade for themselves that can never be withdrawn.

154th Anniversary Of Coast Guard

Lubec, Me., Aug. 3 (AP)—The 154th anniversary of the United States Coast Guard on Friday has special significance in this little community where lies the body of Capt. Hopley T. Yeaton, the "father of the Coast Guard."

Commissioned in 1790 by General George Washington, Capt. Yeaton became the first master of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service, forerunner of the present day Coast Guard, and was assigned the cruising range from Kittery to Calais, Me.

Capt. Yeaton and the crew of his 48-foot sailing craft watched the coast for smugglers and other marine malefactors and frequently put in at Lubec customs headquarters for the port of Passamaquoddy.

His vessel was one of 10 cutters authorized in 1790. It had a displacement of 51 tons and carried a crew of eight officers and men.

BALTIMORE SUN SUPPORTS DEWEY

Baltimore, Aug. 3 (AP)—For the third time in 107 years, the Baltimore Sun advocated today a Republican presidential candidacy, announcing its support of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the nation's highest office.

The independent Democratic newspaper backed William McKinley against William Jennings Bryan in 1896 and supported Wendell Willkie in 1940 in opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt. The Sun backed Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and announced no choice in 1936.

"Three terms for a president are one too many," today's editorial said. "In a fourth term, with the unifying ties of wartime emotion removed, the forces of disintegration which we all know exist would be free to do their worst. The national safety would be compromised."

Find Fortune In Bachelor's Home

Portland, Ore., Aug. 3 (AP)—A map-guided treasure hunt in an old house occupied for many years by elderly bachelor brothers, now dead, has yielded $6,000 in gold and silver coins, and an estimated $7,000 to $10,000 more is believed buried in the premises, the Oregonian said today.

Searchers are working from maps left by the owners, one of whom died two years ago and the other last month, the paper continued.

Approximately $2,000 in silver coins was found in money bags in bureau drawers, $300 in silver in an old unlocked safe, and $276 in an old pair of trousers hanging in a closet.

An old stove in the basement contained a glass jar holding $3,000 mostly in $20 gold pieces.

Swimming Hole

Unless something is said about the swimming hole in this book, the attractive spot for a hundred years past, it would not be complete. It has been the meeting place of all classes; here the boys have learned to swim; here the fathers have taken the little fellows and held them up on the surface and said, "Now strike out!" thus giving them the first lesson; not a boy raised in these parts that has not been in the swimming hole, the oldest citizens will tell you he heard his father speak of it. This is the most accurate history we have; who gave it this name? Here we are lost; nor can we find the early owner's name. The boys of Mt. St. Mary's college came here to swim, I know, fifty years ago, no doubt longer, as it was a common resort at that time; I hear some one say that is true. Yes, it is true, we have all been there.

Carriage Makers

The first person we have any account of engaged in this trade was David Gamble, prior to 1840 in connection with the saddlery; he travelled through the lower counties and into Virginia selling both; he told of his selling a carriage, a pair of horses and harness to a farmer with whom he stayed over night; they had herring for breakfast, the host after cutting the herring in three pieces asked him which part he would have; he smiled, and told him up in Maryland they never took less than a whole fish. After Gamble came Frame, Ruddlemoser, Hess, Weaer, Baker, Smith, Kerrigan, Crisomer and Dukehart; at Motter's station Fisher manufactured buggies; manufacturing establishments have changed these home industries into repair shops; although it is said the home-made vehicle is the best, the price is considered and the manufactured sold.

Relics

Mr. Henry Stokes possesses a cannon ball picked up on the Gettysburg battlefield. He did have a musket. Mr. Jacob Motter found in his barn a fine set of surgical instruments, after the army passed through to Gettysburg, which he gave to his son, Dr. George T. Motter, Taneytown, Maryland.

Cabinet Makers

These were the men that built the furniture so eagerly sought for now. Among the first were Thomas Hays, John Row, Frederick Row, Row and Bushman, Joseph Long, Koontz and Dailey, Martin Sweeney, Smith and Shouff, M. F. Snuff, E. E. Zimmerman. Furniture of various kinds still remain in possession of families made by the old manufacturers named

Tomatoes

It is within the memory of many when they were an ornament to place on the mantlepiece, few were eaten prior to 1848; then understood not to be very good eating. The first were the small egg shaped, the present varieties are the result of careful culture.

Grandfathers' Clocks

These were made in Taneytown by Eli Bently and Hoover, near Emmitsburg. Fifty years ago it was difficult to get a bid at the sales over five dollars. When one sold for eight dollars, it was considered a high price. The small shelf clocks came in about that time. About 1830 the wood wheel clocks came; they sold for $25. These clocks are still found with wood and brass works, 27 inches high, they sell at sales less than one dollar. Once the grandfather clock had merit, it lost it; a fad for furniture revived its importance; now blessed is the family with such an heirloom

Lawyers

The first lawyer resident here was Isaac E. Pearson, who about 1860 removed to Westminster, Maryland. Ephriam Carmack, of Mechanicstown, came here at the same time to attend to cases before magistrates. About 1873 Eugene L. Row was admitted to the bar and opened an office here. Still, later, Vincent Sebold commenced the practice of law here.

Bakeries

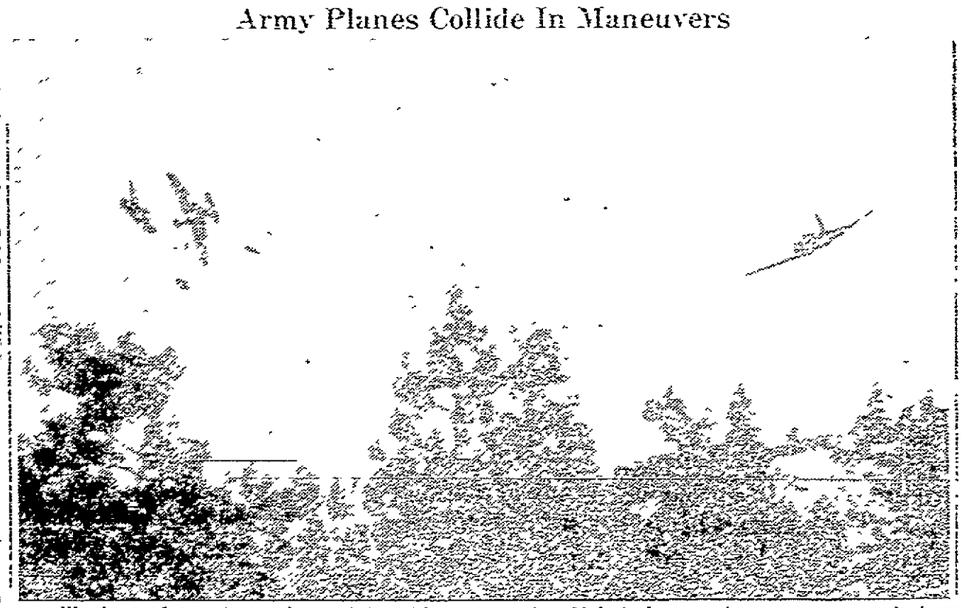

At various times bakeries have been started. Figg, a Dutchman from Baltimore, opened one in the eastern part of Samuel Seabrook's house, 1876, building a large oven under the dining room. He stayed but a short time. Others, Minick, Taney, Dutterer, each giving place to the other until James Slagle made a success of the enterprise. Harry Hopp opened a bakery in the country, making a success then in the spring of 1905. He sought Slagle out in town, continuing the town and moving his business to town.

PROBING RATES FOR DISCHARGED WAR WORKERS

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The Senate Military Committee set out today on the tough job of figuring what sort of unemployment compensation rates should be paid to discharged war workers.

The controversial issue overshadowed all others as Majority Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, sent out a call to absent senators to be in their seats next week while the unprecedented problems of demobilization, reconversion and surplus property disposal.

The White House entered the picture with an appeal to congressional leaders by War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes to hurry the legislation along. Byrnes took no sides in the controversy in his plea for speed in a conference with Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee and Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Approve George Bill

The Senate committee beat the deadline group to the punch yesterday by voting unanimous approval of a bill by Senator George to leave jobless compensation rates to the states but Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) said he would carry to the floor a proposal to set up federal standards calling for payments ranging from $12 to $35 a week.

Kilgore's proposition is part of an over-all bill which would give to a proposed director of war mobilization and adjustment jurisdiction over the entire program of war production, transition and demobilization.

The George proposal, designed to separate the unemployment compensation phase from other features of reconversion would make government employed workers in shipyards and shipyards eligible for benefits now provided by state laws and set up a federal loan fund from which states could borrow to maintain the solvency of their own unemployment funds.

They have enjoyed their meetings thus far and look forward to the coming years for a better program and appreciation of it. Papers on the various subjects are prepared, music of a high order rendered, vocal selections executed faultlessly, selections read and enjoyed. All together it is par excellence. Refreshments are provided by the host of the evening. It meets at a member's house monthly.

Masonic

Lodge A. F. and A. M. organized 1906 in third story over Annan store, under favorable auspices as Tyrian Lodge. The citizens hope for a successful organization and a bright future for Tyrian Lodge.

Swimming Hole

Unless something is said about the swimming hole in this book, the attractive spot for a hundred years past, it would not be complete. It has been the meeting place of all classes; here the boys have learned to swim; here the fathers have taken the little fellows and held them up on the surface and said, "Now strike out!" thus giving them the first lesson; not a boy raised in these parts that has not been in the swimming hole; the oldest citizens will tell you he heard his father speak of it. This is the most accurate history we have; who gave it this name? Here we are lost; nor can we find the early owner's name. The boys of Mt. St. Mary's college came here to swim, I know, fifty years ago, no doubt longer, as it was a common resort at that time; I hear some one say that is true. Yes, it is true; we have all been there.

Carriage Makers

The first person we have any account of engaged in this trade was David Gamble, prior to 1840, in connection with the saddlery; he travelled through the lower counties and into Virginia selling both; he told of his selling a carriage, a pair of horses and harness to a farmer with whom he stayed over night; they had herring for breakfast; the host after cutting the herring in three pieces asked him which part he would have; he smiled, and told him up in Maryland they never took less than a whole fish. After Gamble came Frame, Riddlemoser, Hess, Weaer, Baker, Smith, Kerrigan, Crisomer and Dukehart; at Motter's station Fisher manufactured buggies; manufacturing establishments have changed these home industries into repair shops; although it is said the home-made vehicle is the best, the price is considered and the manufactured sold.

Relics

Mr. Henry Stokes possesses a cannon ball picked up on the Gettysburg battlefield. He did have a musket. Mr. Jacob Motter found in his barn a fine set of surgical instruments, after the army passed through to Gettysburg, which he gave to his son, Dr. George T. Motter, Taneytown, Maryland.

Cabinet Makers

These were the men that built the furniture so eagerly sought for now. Among the first were Thomas Hays, John Row, Frederick Row, Row and Bushman, Joseph Long, Koontz and Dailey, Martin Sweeney, Smith and Shouff, M. F. Shuff, E. E. Zimmerman. Furniture of various kinds still remain in possession of families made by the old manufacturers named.

Tomatoes

It is within the memory of many when they were an ornament to place on the mantlepiece; few were eaten prior to 1848; then understood not to be very good eating. The first were the small egg shaped; the present varieties are the result of careful culture.

Grandfathers' Clocks

These were made in Taneytown by Eli Bently and Hoover, near Emmitsburg. Fifty years ago it was difficult to get a bid at the sales over five dollars. When one sold for eight dollars, it was considered a high price. The small shelf clocks came in about that time. About 1830 the wood wheel clocks came; they sold for $25. These clocks are still found with wood and brass works, 27 inches high; they sell at sales less than one dollar. Once the grandfather clock had merit; it lost it; a fad for furniture revived its importance; now blessed is the family with such an heirloom.

Lawyers

The first lawyer resident here was Isaac E. Pearson, who about 1860 removed to Westminster, Maryland. Ephriam Carmack, of Mechanicstown, came here at the same time to attend to cases before magistrates. About 1873 Eugene L. Row was admitted to the bar and opened an office here. Still, later, Vincent Sebold commenced the practice of law here.

Bakeries

At various times bakeries have been started. Figy, a Dutchman from Baltimore, opened one in the eastern part of Samuel Seabrook's house, 1876, building a large oven under the dining room. He stayed but a short time. Others, Minick, Taney, Dutterer, each giving place to the other until James Slagle made a success of the enterprise. Harry Hopp opened a bakery in the country, making a success then in the spring of 1906. He bought Slagle out in town, continuing the tow, and moving his business to town.

PROBING RATES FOR DISCHARGED WAR WORKERS

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP) — The Senate Military Committee set out today on the tough job of figuring what sort of unemployment compensation rates should be paid to discharged war workers.

The controversial issue overshadowed all others as Majority Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, sent out a call to absent senators to be in their seats next week to tackle the unprecedented problems of demobilization, reconversion and surplus property disposal.

The White House entered the picture with an appeal to congressional leaders by War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes to hurry the legislation along. Byrnes took no sides in the controversy in his appeal for speed in a conference with Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance Committee and Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Approve George Bill

The finance committee beat the military group to the punch yesterday by voting unanimous approval of a bill by Senator George to leave jobless compensation rates to the states, but Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) said he would carry to the floor a proposal to set up federal standards calling for payments ranging from $12 to $35 a week.

Kilgore's proposition is part of an over-all bill which would give to a proposed director of war mobilization and adjustment jurisdiction over the entire program of war production, transition and demobilization.

The George proposal, designed to separate the unemployment compensation phase from other features of reconversion, would make government employed workers in arsenals and shipyards eligible for benefits now provided by state laws and set up a federal loan fund from which states could borrow to maintain the solvency of their own insurance funds.

MORE ECONOMICAL

New Rochelle, N. Y. (AP)—As a motorist was paying a fine for a minor traffic violation, he was surprised to learn that his daughter was being fined for a parking meter violation in another part of city court building.

"Tell her to wait for me," Dad said. "We'll drive in one car. Then if anything goes wrong, they only can fine one of us."

SEEKS CURB ON PRIVILEGES TO WAR PRISONERS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Curtailment of special privileges for prisoners of war, including Italians in quartermaster battalions, will be asked of the War department in a resolution that will come up before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, opening here on August 16

Edward A. Lunsky, state adjutant said today the resolution will be backed personally by Department Commander Frank X Murray, who last week protested against a proposed party at Jeannette for 25 former Italian soldiers stationed at the Letterkenny Army Ordnance depot in Franklin county.

The Army halted the party and other projected week-end trips by members of the quartermaster battalion at the depot but Col Jerome Cambre, post executive officer, said future recreational plans for the Italians would be determined upon receipt of instructions from the War Department

Special Status

In Washington, the Army described the former Italian soldiers as prisoners of war with special status who are given extra freedom as a reward for their contribution to the American war program.

Lunsky said the resolution will ask that such freedom be withdrawn until Americans held captive in enemy lands are given similar privileges.

Veterans problems will also loom large in the deliberations of the Legion delegates, expected to number more than 2,700. Resolutions on veterans' rehabilitation, disabled veterans and increased hospital facilities for veterans are due to be considered, Lunsky added.

Miss Betty J. Lerew employed in Washington, D. C., was a recent visitor of her parents, Mr and Mrs. Paul P. Lerew.

SEEKS CURB ON PRIVILEGES TO WAR PRISONERS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Curtailment of special privileges for prisoners of war, including Italians in quartermaster battalions, will be asked of the War department in a resolution that will come up before the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion, opening here on August 16.

Edward A. Linsky, state adjutant, said today the resolution will be backed personally by Department Commander Frank X. Murray, who last week protested against a proposed party at Jeannette for 25 former Italian soldiers stationed at the Letterkenny Army Ordnance depot in Franklin county.

The Army halted the party and other projected week-end trips by members of the quartermaster battalion at the depot but Col. Jerome Cambre, post executive officer, said future recreational plans for the Italians would be determined upon receipt of instructions from the War Department.

Special Status

In Washington, the Army described the former Italian soldiers as prisoners of war with special status who are given extra freedom as a reward for their contribution to the American war program.

Linsky said the resolution will ask that such freedom be withdrawn until Americans held captive in enemy lands are given similar privileges.

Veterans problems will also loom large in the deliberations of the Legion delegates, expected to number more than 2,700. Resolutions on veterans' rehabilitation, disabled veterans and increased hospital facilities for veterans are due to be considered, Linsky added.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mrs. Purley H. Grove, who was recently discharged from the Warner hospital after an appendectomy, is now able to be about.

Russell Fleming, Ohio, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleming, "Broadwood Park," near town. Harry Fleming had been quite ill during the past week.

James Leib, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leib, Brecksville, Ohio, who had been visiting local relatives, has entered the Navy, having been summoned home to answer the service call.

Paul Price has been under treatment for a severe laceration of his left hand, sustained while using a blowtorch in doing work for the borough. Several sutures were placed in the injury.

Miss Peggy Storm, York, was a week-end guest at the home of Miss Anna E. Sinner.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Criswell have learned their grandson, Stuart Alwine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Alwine, Hanover R. D., formerly of this section, is overseas with the Navy. His elder brother, Clair, USN, has also been overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Feiser and daughter, Queenie and Mrs. Feiser's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Jacobs, are on a vacation trip to Atlantic City, N. J.

Miss Geneva Cooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooley, who has been living with her relatives, the Chester Reinecker family, Hanover, while employed at that place, spent the week-end at her home where her eighteenth birthday was celebrated Sunday.

The Misses Julia G. Glatfelter and Grace King have been among those attending the Reformed church's camp, Mench Mills.

Miss Betty J. Lerew, employed in Washington, D. C., was a recent visitor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Lerew.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Herman have named their infant son, Lester Russel.

Among recent visitors of Mrs. George P. Jacobs were her grandsons, Daryl Sebright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sebright, and Mervin D. Jacobs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin D. Jacobs. Both were home on furlough from the Army.

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—A total of 189 cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the state Health Department during the first seven months of this year with Allegheny county topping the list with 80 cases.

RACIAL FIGHTS MORE EXTENSIVE IN NORTH AREAS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Southerners have shouted loudest about "white supremacy" over negroes but there is plenty of evidence to show that doctrine is practiced widely in the rest of the country.

The strike of Philadelphia Transit workers against hiring of negro drivers by the transportation company there followed bitter complaints of outright discrimination in that northern city.

The FEPC was created to prevent discrimination on racial or religious grounds in war industries and thus, its advocates argued, make the best use of the nation's manpower.

Of the total of 2,111 complaints, 561 are in the south. The remaining 1,550 complaints have been made from the rest of the country.

Report Complaints

FEPC officials say:

"Those figures don't mean that those are all the cases of discrimination occurring either in the south or the rest of the country.

"Actual discrimination may be far greater but we report only the complaints received.

"First, there are more negro organizations in the north and they are active against discrimination. Second, there are more war industries in the north and the FEPC handles only cases of discrimination in war jobs."

Philadelphia is not the only city where there have been protests against proposals to promote negroes to jobs as bus drivers or as street car motormen and conductors.

There have been complaints of discrimination in Washington, D. C., Baltimore and Los Angeles. The Los Angeles case will be heard August 8 and 9.

The other side of the transportation picture: FEPC officials point out that negroes are employed as conductors or motormen or bus drivers in New York, Detroit, San Francisco, Cleveland, Chicago and Buffalo.

In Other Areas

FEPC officials say further:

There has been very little discrimination in foundries, coal mines and longshore work, traditionally heavy jobs which long have employed negro help.

But there have been complaints of discrimination in the ship-building and aircraft industries, public utilities, southern textile mills, machinery manufacture and railroads.

The heviest load of complaints have come from New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit and St. Louis.

FEPC has 12 regional offices. The fewest complaints have come from regions 1 (New England) and region 8 (North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa). Each reported 16.

RACIAL FIGHTS MORE EXTENSIVE IN NORTH AREAS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Southerners have shouted loudest about "white supremacy" over negroes but there is plenty of evidence to show that doctrine is practiced widely in the rest of the country.

The strike of Philadelphia Transit workers against hiring of negro drivers by the transportation company there followed bitter complaints of outright discrimination in that northern city.

The Fair Employment Practice Committee has pending about 2,111 complaints of racial discrimination.

The FEPC was created to prevent discrimination on racial or religious grounds in war industries and thus, its advocates argued, make the best use of the nation's manpower.

Of the total of 2,111 complaints, 561 are in the south. The remaining 1,550 complaints have been made from the rest of the country.

Report Complaints

FEPC officials say:

"Those figures don't mean that those are all the cases of discrimination occurring either in the south or the rest of the country.

"Actual discrimination may be far greater but we report only the complaints received.

"In the north, particularly, complaints of discrimination against negroes are apt to be more numerous for two reasons:

"First, there are more negro organizations in the north and they are active against discrimination. Second, there are more war industries in the north and the FEPC handles only cases of discrimination in war jobs."

Philadelphia is not the only city where there have been protests against proposals to promote negroes to jobs as bus drivers or as street car motormen and conductors.

There have been complaints of discrimination in Washington, D. C., Baltimore and Los Angeles. The Los Angeles case will be heard August 8 and 9.

The other side of the transportation picture: FEPC officials point out that negroes are employed as conductors or motormen or bus drivers in New York, Detroit, San Francisco, Cleveland, Chicago and Buffalo.

In Other Areas

FEPC officials say further:

There has been very little discrimination in foundries, coal mines and longshore work, traditionally heavy jobs which long have employed negro help.

But there have been complaints of discrimination in the ship-building and aircraft industries, public utilities, southern textile mills, machinery manufacture and railroads.

The heviest load of complaints have come from New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit and St. Louis.

FEPC has 12 regional offices. The fewest complaints have come from regions 1 (New England) and region 8 (North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa). Each reported 16.

PLANS READY TO FOLLOW-UP NAZI COLLAPSE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Plans for immediate follow-up of the surrender or collapse of Germany are reported here to have been worked out in great detail.

Officials familiar with their provisions said today that they call for full cooperation among the United States, Britain and Russia in the hour of victory.

For this reason, and because of the general pledges of cooperation made at the Moscow and Teheran conferences last year, American officials say they are convinced beyond any doubt that it makes no difference whether Russia or Anglo-American forces get to Berlin first or which first accepts a major German army surrender.

Early victory forecasts by Prime Minister Churchill yesterday brought a renewed wave of speculation here over what will happen if the Germans surrender first to the Russians, or what difference it will make if they give up instead to British-American forces.

It will not make any difference. Neither side will make a "separate peace." Either side will accept Germany's unconditional surrender at any time or place—accept it in the name of all the Allied powers.

Britain and the United States pledged unconditional surrender at Casablanca conference 18 months ago. Russia formally subscribed to it at Moscow. A further commitment by Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt to joint action in peace and victory as well as in war was made at the Teheran conference.

The European advisory commission of British, American and Soviet representatives was assigned the task of working out plans for military and political cooperation when Germany folds up. The commission has completed its work.

The plans cover two distinct periods:

1. The end of organized resistance. This may cover several days or even weeks or may come as a single orderly surrender. The enemy's eastern front might collapse and the Russians march through to Berlin while British, American and Allied troops were still fighting their way forward to Berlin.

2. Occupation. This provides for three-way occupation of Germany by British and American troops, joint occupation of Berlin, creation of a joint military commission to administer the country and means of getting civil authorities to function again. Completion of the task of disarming Germany, including destruction or conversion of its armament factories, is called for.

Fairfield

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 3 (AP)—Tough and almost tireless Americans have blasted the Japanese from another airfield and three more villages on Guam, and have captured nearly two-thirds of the former United States possession.

As American soldiers and marines carved out gains of more than a mile all across the island, the doomed enemy force of perhaps 10,000 men today was falling back into the jungle-covered plateaus of Guam's northern third.

There was still no confirmation of Tokyo radio reports that Americans had invaded Rota island between Guam and Tinian.

Have 7 Airfields

Americans captured Tyan airfield, a fighter strip in the center of Guam Tuesday. In the same sweep they took the towns of Sasao, Toto and Tumoneng. With Tyan the Americans now have seven airfields in the Marianas well within Superfortress range of Japan.

The newly-advanced American line extends east across the island from Tumon bay on the west coast. It is three miles north of the captured capital Agana and more than 10 miles north of American-occupied Port Apra.

It was disclosed that the Americans have killed about 33,000 Japanese in the southern Marianas, at a cost of 5,139 Yank dead or missing. Not a single Japanese ship or plane has appeared in the area since the early days of the Saipan invasion.

Beat Jap Attacks

On the British New Guinea coast, 1,300 miles south of the Marianas, units of a Japanese force of perhaps 45,000 trapped in the Wewak-Aitape sector since April, made two new Banzai-shouting charges against American lines Tuesday. Both attacks were beaten back with heavy Japanese losses.

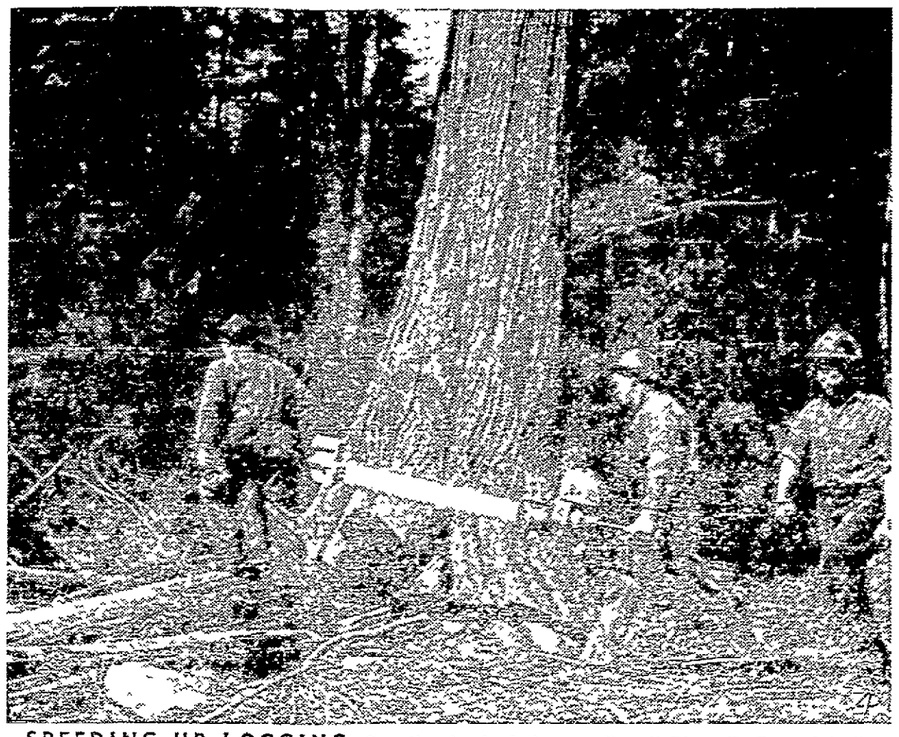

Six hundred more Japanese bodies were counted in mopping-up operations on Biak and Noemfoor islands off Dutch New Guinea and 300 more prisoners were taken.

Allied planes sank a 5,000-ton Japanese freighter west of New Guinea and hit Japanese positions from the Netherlands East Indies to the bypassed Marshalls. At Truk, three intercepting enemy planes were shot down.

Dear Sir,

This is to notify you of my change of address. I enjoy receiving the Times Service paper so much that I intend to keep you informed of any change of address so it won't delay my receiving the news. When one is in the service it means so much to hear of the folks back home and what is happening in civilian life.

That may sound as if I regret being in the service, but quite the contrary—every young girl should join some service. She is missing so very much by just staying home and waiting for the war to end. So I ask you if you won't please urge more young girls of our county to join any service—WAVES, WACS, or SPARS. Recruiting for the Marines is nearly over, but if they can get in—it is the best! ! !

Thank you again for your kindness.

Sincerely,

PLANS READY TO FOLLOW-UP NAZI COLLAPSE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Plans for immediate follow-up of the surrender or collapse of Germany are reported here to have been worked out in great detail.

Officials familiar with their provisions said today that they call for full cooperation among the United States, Britain and Russia in the hour of victory.

For this reason, and because of the general pledges of cooperation made at the Moscow and Teheran conferences last year, American officials say they are convinced beyond any doubt that it makes no difference whether Russia or Anglo-American forces get to Berlin first, or which first accepts a major German army surrender.

Early victory forecasts by Prime Minister Churchill yesterday brought a renewed wave of speculation here over what will happen if the Germans surrender first to the Russians, or what difference it will make if they give up instead to British-American forces.

The answer given to both questions in official quarters here is:

It will not make any difference. Neither side will make a "separate peace." Either side will accept Germany's unconditional surrender at any time or place—accept it in the name of all the Allied powers.

Britain and the United States pledged unconditional surrender at Casablanca conference 18 months ago. Russia formally subscribed to it at Moscow. A further commitment by Stalin, Churchill and Roosevelt to joint action in peace and victory as well as in war was made at the Teheran conference.

The European advisory commission of British, American and Soviet representatives was assigned the task of working out plans for military and political cooperation when Germany folds up. The commission has completed its work.

The plans cover two distinct periods:

1. The end of organized resistance. This may cover several days or even weeks or may come as a single orderly surrender. The enemy's eastern front might collapse and the Russians march through to Berlin while British, American and Allied troops were still fighting their way forward to Berlin.

2. Occupation. This provides for three-way occupation of Germany by British and American troops, joint occupation of Berlin, creation of a joint military commission to administer the country and means of getting civil authorities to function again. Completion of the task of disarming Germany, including destruction or conversion of its armament factories, is called for.

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 3 (AP)—Tough and almost tireless Americans have blasted the Japanese from another airfield and three more villages on Guam, and have captured nearly two-thirds of the former United States possession.

As American soldiers and marines carved out gains of more than a mile all across the island, the doomed enemy force of perhaps 10,000 men today was falling back into the jungle-covered plateaus of Guam's northern third.

There was still no confirmation of Tokyo radio reports that Americans had invaded Rota island between Guam and Tinian.

Have 7 Airfields

Americans captured Tiyan airfield, a fighter strip in the center of Guam Tuesday. In the same sweep they took the towns of Saucio, Toto and Timoneng. With Tiyan, the Americans now have seven airfields in the Marianas, well within Superfortress range of Japan.

The newly-advanced American line extends east across the island from Tumon bay on the west coast. It is three miles north of the captured capital, Agana, and more than 10 miles north of American-occupied Port Apra.

It was disclosed that the Americans have killed about 33,000 Japanese in the southern Marianas, at a cost of 5,139 Yank dead or missing. Not a single Japanese ship or plane has appeared in the area since the early days of the Saipan invasion.

Beat Jap Attacks

On the British New Guinea coast, 1,300 miles south of the Marianas, units of a Japanese force of perhaps 45,000 trapped in the Wewak-Aitape sector since April, made two new Banzai-shouting chargees against American lines Tuesday. Both attacks were beaten back with heavy Japanese losses.

Six hundred more Japanese bodies were counted in mopping-up operations on Biak and Noemfoor islands off Dutch New Guinea, and 300 more prisoners were taken.

Allied planes sank a 5,000-ton Japanese freighter west of New Guinea and hit Japanese positions from the Netherlands East Indies to the bypassed Marshalls. At Truk, three intercepting enemy planes were shot down.

Aug. 3, 1940—Japan protests to United States on ban of export of aviation gasoline; Mayor Camillien Houde arrested in Montreal, Canada, after announcing he would refuse to comply with recently passed registration bill.

SPEEDING UP LOGGING—Canadian lumberjacks near Powell River, B. C., go into the forest with one of the power saws now used to speed up timber cutting as much as 300 per cent.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

This is to notify you of my change of address. I enjoy receiving the Times Service paper so much that I intend to keep you informed of any change of address so it won't delay my receiving the news. When one is in the service it means so much to hear of the folks back home and what is happening in civilian life.

That may sound as if I regret being in the service, but quite the contrary—every young girl should join some service. She is missing so very much by just staying home and waiting for the war to end. So I ask you if you won't please urge more young girls of our county to join any service—WAVES, WACS, or SPARS. Recruiting for the Marines is nearly over, but if they can get in—it is the best! ! !

Thank you again for your kindness.

Sincerely,
PVT. JANE ALLISON,
WRS-17, USMCAS,

Chapter 29

Louise stood at the living room window, looking down on the rain-drenched street below. The snow, which had begun in the late afternoon, had turned into a steady drizzle at nightfall, and now the rain was coming down in buckets—yes, buckets. It seemed to have no effect on the residents of Washington Avenue. They were scurrying along—some with umbrellas, some without—laden with bundles of various shapes and sizes apparently oblivious to the downpour. It was almost as if they were saying: "What's a little rainstorm—when Christmas is less than two weeks away?"

It seemed incredible to Louise that November had come and gone, that today was the fifteenth of December. So many changes had taken place since that bright day she and Martha had gone to the airport to meet Angel and Baby Jeanne.

"Was it only last June?" mused Louise. "Why, that was just six months ago. It seems like a lifetime. So many things have happened. So many people have come—and gone."

Angel had not only gone to the smart little apartment in Beekman Place to live. Right now she was singing at one of the smartest night clubs in town. In a little while—at ten-thirty—she would be broadcasting direct from the club.

Baby Jeanne, too, had gone a long, long way from the dreary railroad flat on Washington Avenue. She was living on Gramercy Park with her own grandparents, her mother having returned to the sanitarium out west. Martha, always a welcome visitor, saw Baby Jeanne now and then, and reported that she was growing into a fine, healthy child.

Martha had returned to her job at the plant—but only for a little while. Her work with the girls on the assembly lines had won recognition and she'd been given a position in the personnel department. Martha now had a desk of her own, and was earning more than Louise. After Christmas they would be moving away from Washington Avenue. Not to a swank apartment in Beekman Place, like Angel's, but to a comfortable and cheerful flat near the plant.

Bobby was going places. He had his old room back now and had settled down to his school work. He had taken on an after-school job and was buying a new saxophone. As a rule he stayed home to study on week nights, but tonight, he had broken the rule and gone out.

Yes, she thought now as she watched the raindrops beat against the window panes, they were all going along. They were all going places in one way or another. Only she, Louise, had stood still.

Not even to herself would she admit that much of her present unrest was because of Dick Stanley. Like all the others, he had come—and he had gone. She had not seen him for three weeks, and then for only a few minutes. He had dropped by to say he was off to Washington for a day or two, and he had seemed so restless and preoccupied that it was almost a relief when he left.

There had been times when Louise had felt that she had not only liked the red-headed cameraman, but loved him. There had been times, too, when she'd thought he was falling in love with her—that night of her party when he'd come up the stairs and kissed her so unexpectedly; that night at the SS Omaha when they were dancing together and he'd told her that some day they must have a little talk.

"But he was only sorry for me," she raged now. "Or maybe he was handing me a line all the time. Newspapermen are like that—so I have heard. All men, in fact, are like that."

After a little while Martha came and tapped on the door. "Are you all right, dear?" And, when Louise answered in the affirmative: "It's ten-thirty now. Time for Angel to sing. I've turned on the radio."

As Louise went into the living room she could hear her sister's voice, sweet and clear, coming over the air. She felt a thrill of pride, almost a choking sensation, as she listened to that familiar voice singing that familiar refrain: "Thanks for the Memories." Angel's voice seemed richer and fuller tonight, and there was a vague new quality about it. . . .

She was startled when the door suddenly opened and in burst Bobby and—of all people—Dick Stanley!

There were excited greetings and Angel's singing was forgotten. Louise felt thrilled to see Dick again. Bobby quickly explained how they met.

The boy had gotten in touch with the cameraman, it appeared, to ask his advice. Now they had come together to make an announcement.

"Bobby feels he would like to join the Navy, Mrs. Malone," said Dick. "And I—well—I have encouraged him in it."

Chapter 29

Louise stood at the living room window, looking down on the rain-drenched street below. The snow, which had begun in the late afternoon, had turned into a steady drizzle at nightfall, and now the rain was coming down in buckets—yes, buckets. It seemed to have no effect on the residents of Washington Avenue. They were scurrying along—some with umbrellas, some without—laden with bundles of various shapes and sizes, apparently oblivious to the downpour. It was almost as if they were saying: "What's a little rainstorm—when Christmas is less than two weeks away?"

It seemed incredible to Louise that November had come and gone, that today was the fifteenth of December. So many changes had taken place since that bright day she and Martha had gone to the airport to meet Angel and Baby Jeanne.

"Was it only last June?" mused Louise. "Why, that was just six months ago. It seems like a lifetime. So many things have happened. So many people have come—and gone."

Angel had not only gone to the smart little apartment in Beekman Place to live. Right now she was singing at one of the smartest night clubs in town. In a little while—at ten-thirty—she would be broadcasting direct from the club.

Baby Jeanne, too, had gone a long, long way from the dreary railroad flat on Washington Avenue. She was living on Gramercy Park with her own grandparents, her mother having returned to the sanitarium out west. Martha, always a welcome visitor, saw Baby Jeanne now and then, and reported that she was growing into a fine, healthy child.

Martha had returned to her job at the plant—but only for a little while. Her work with the girls on the assembly lines had won recognition and she'd been given a position in the personnel department. Martha now had a desk of her own, and was earning more than Louise. After Christmas they would be moving away from Washington Avenue. Not to a swank apartment in Beekman Place, like Angel's, but to a comfortable and cheerful flat near the plant.

Bobby was going places. He had his old room back now and had settled down to his school work. He had taken on an after-school job and was buying a new saxophone. As a rule he stayed home to study on week nights, but tonight, he had broken the rule and gone out.

After a little while Martha came and tapped on the door. "Are you all right, dear?" And, when Louise answered in the affirmative: "It's ten-thirty now. Time for Angel to sing. I've turned on the radio."

Chapter 29

Louise stood at the living room window, looking down on the rain-drenched street below. The snow, which had begun in the late afternoon, had turned into a steady drizzle at nightfall, and now the rain was coming down in buckets—yes, buckets. It seemed to have no effect on the residents of Washington Avenue. They were scurrying along—some with umbrellas, some without—laden with bundles of various shapes and sizes, apparently oblivious to the downpour. It was almost as if they were saying: "What's a little rainstorm—when Christmas is less than two weeks away?"

It seemed incredible to Louise that November had come and gone, that today was the fifteenth of December. So many changes had taken place since that bright day she and Martha had gone to the airport to meet Angel and Baby Jeanne.

"Was it only last June?" mused Louise. "Why, that was just six months ago. It seems like a lifetime. So many things have happened. So many people have come—and gone."

Angel had not only gone to the smart little apartment in Beekman Place to live. Right now she was singing at one of the smartest night clubs in town. In a little while—at ten-thirty—she would be broadcasting direct from the club.

Baby Jeanne, too, had gone a long, long way from the dreary railroad flat on Washington Avenue. She was living on Gramercy Park with her own grandparents, her mother having returned to the sanitarium out west. Martha, always a welcome visitor, saw Baby Jeanne now and then, and reported that she was growing into a fine, healthy child.

Martha had returned to her job at the plant—but only for a little while. Her work with the girls on the assembly lines had won recognition and she'd been given a position in the personnel department. Martha now had a desk of her own, and was earning more than Louise. After Christmas they would be moving away from Washington Avenue. Not to a swank apartment in Beekman Place, like Angel's, but to a comfortable and cheerful flat near the plant.

Bobby was going places. He had his old room back now and had settled down to his school work. He had taken on an after-school job and was buying a new saxophone. As a rule he stayed home to study on week nights, but tonight, he had broken the rule and gone out.

Yes, she thought now as she watched the raindrops beat against the window panes, they were all going along. They were all going places in one way or another. Only she, Louise, had stood still.

Not even to herself would she admit that much of her present unrest was because of Dick Stanley. Like all the others, he had come—and he had gone. She had not seen him for three weeks, and then for only a few minutes. He had dropped by to say he was off to Washington for a day or two, and he had seemed so restless and preoccupied that it was almost a relief when he left.

There had been times when Louise had felt that she had not only liked the red-headed cameraman, but loved him. There had been times, too, when she'd thought he was falling in love with her—that night of her party when he'd come up the stairs and kissed her so unexpectedly; that night at the SS Omaha when they were dancing together and he'd told her that some day they must have a little talk.

"But he was only sorry for me," she raged now. "Or maybe he was handing me a line all the time. Newspapermen are like that—so I have heard. All men, in fact, are like that."

After a little while Martha came and tapped on the door. "Are you all right, dear?" And, when Louise answered in the affirmative: "It's ten-thirty now. Time for Angel to sing. I've turned on the radio."

As Louise went into the living room she could hear her sister's voice, sweet and clear, coming over the air. She felt a thrill of pride, almost a choking sensation, as she listened to that familiar voice singing that familiar refrain: "Thanks for the Memories." Angel's voice seemed richer and fuller tonight, and there was a vague new quality about it. . . .

She was startled when the door suddenly opened and in burst Bobby and—of all people—Dick Stanley!

There were excited greetings and Angel's singing was forgotten. Louise felt thrilled to see Dick again. Bobby quickly explained how they met.

The boy had gotten in touch with the cameraman, it appeared, to ask his advice. Now they had come together to make an announcement.

"Bobby feels he would like to join the Navy, Mrs. Malone," said Dick. "And I—well—I have encouraged him in it."

STATE CANNOT PRODUCE FOOD FOR RESIDENTS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP) — Although 14th in the nation in the value of its agricultural products, Pennsylvania falls short of producing enough food for its 10,000,000 inhabitants

"Pennsylvania could be in a very critical position with regard to supplies of food," Miles Horst, secretary of Agriculture, wrote in answer to a query from a group of American GI's serving in the South Seas "Within our borders live one-thirteenth of the population of the nation. If we were to produce all the dairy products we consume, it would be necessary to double the number of dairy cows on our farms."

Pfc. M. S Brown explained in a letter to Horst that in a discussion in New Guinea these questions arose

"Can Pennsylvania raise enough crops to feed the population of the same state if it ever had to do so? Is Pennsylvania one of the leading wheat states in the Union?"

Horst answered Pennsylvania depends on outside sources for more than five-sixths its requirements for meat, but produces almost enough eggs, enough potatoes and more than enough corn for civilian food needs The corn crop, however, is not large enough to meet livestock and poultry requirements

"The state in 1942 ranked 10th among all states in the amount of winter wheat harvested, and 15th in value of that type of wheat; in 1943 it ranked 11th in production and 12th in value. * * * but we must look to other states for about one-half of our wheat products," he said

Apple production this year he added, will be one and a half times as much as the state's citizens normally consume but, like most of our vegetable crops, 60 to 70 per cent this year will be canned for use by members of the armed forces"

The Agriculture Department reported many Pennsylvania farmers and poultrymen were disappointed in June because of inability to obtain baby chicks from hatcheries that had closed down or sharply curtailed production.

In June, Pennsylvania hatcheries set 5,175,000 eggs and hatched 4,650,000 chicks as compared with 12,199,000 eggs set in June, 1943, and 9,454,000 chicks hatched A total of 73,597,000 eggs were set so far this year and 50,530,000 chicks hatched against about 66,500,000 eggs set in the same period last year and 58,700,000 chicks hatched

The service also said the demand for turkey poults continued through June indicating this branch of the poultry industry has suffered no slump Orders for ducklings and baby guineas also have equalled or exceeded the supply

Army Or Congress; It's Up To Voters

Nashville, Tenn., August 3 (AP)—Democrats of the Fourth Tennessee district will decide today whether Albert Gore, their 37-year-old Representative, shall return to Congress for a fourth term or carry out the intention to serve in the Army from which he was dissauded by President Roosevelt.

In his campaign Gore told audiences he would request active duty if he failed to receive the nomination in today's state-wide Democratic primary and added: "It is up to you to decide where I can serve you best—in Congress or in the Army."

His Democratic opponent is W. H. Turner, a veteran of the last war.

STATE CANNOT PRODUCE FOOD FOR RESIDENTS

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP) — Although 14th in the nation in the value of its agricultural products, Pennsylvania falls short of producing enough food for its 10,000,000 inhabitants.

"Pennsylvania could be in a very critical position with regard to supplies of food," Miles Horst, secretary of Agriculture, wrote in answer to a query from a group of American GI's serving in the South Seas. "Within our borders live one-thirteenth of the population of the nation. If we were to produce all the dairy products we consume, it would be necessary to double the number of dairy cows on our farms."

Pfc. M. S. Brown explained in a letter to Horst that in a discussion in New Guinea these questions arose:

"Can Pennsylvania raise enough crops to feed the population of the same state if it ever had to do so? Is Pennsylvania one of the leading wheat states in the Union?"

Horst answered Pennsylvania depends on outside sources for more than five-sixths its requirements for meat, but produces almost enough eggs, enough potatoes and more than enough corn for civilian food needs. The corn crop, however, is not large enough to meet livestock and poultry requirements.

"The state in 1942 ranked 10th among all states in the amount of winter wheat harvested, and 15th in value of that type of wheat; in 1943 it ranked 11th in production and 12th in value, * * * but we must look to other states for about one-half of our wheat products," he said.

Apple production this year, he added, will be one and a half times as much as the state's citizens normally consume, "but, like most of our vegetable crops, 60 to 70 per cent this year will be canned for use by members of the armed forces."

The Agriculture Department reported many Pennsylvania farmers and poultrymen were disappointed in June because of inability to obtain baby chicks from hatcheries that had closed down or sharply curtailed production.

In June, Pennsylvania hatcheries set 5,175,000 eggs and hatched 4,850,000 chicks as compared with 12,199,000 eggs set in June, 1943, and 9,454,000 chicks hatched. A total of 73,597,000 eggs were set so far this year and 50,530,000 chicks hatched against about 86,500,000 eggs set in the same period last year and 58,700,000 chicks hatched.

The service also said the demand for turkey poults continued through June indicating this branch of the poultry industry has suffered no slump. Orders for ducklings and baby guineas also have equalled or exceeded the supply.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Myrtle V. Niehenke, 11, of Adamsburg, died in a hospital here yesterday after suffering a skull fracture and shock when struck by an automobile.

Home

"Pistol Head," rust colored cocker spaniel who flew 48 combat missions against the Japs, sits in the lap of the widow of his late master, Lt. Col. Solomon Theodore Willis, at her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after arriving by plane from the Marshall Islands. After Lt. Col. Willis, member of the 7th Army Bomber command in the central Pacific, was killed on his fifty-first mission, the spaniel grieved so for his master that Air Force officials decided to send him home to Mrs. Willis and her year-old son.

Guldens

Guldens—The picnic meeting of the New Oxford Garden club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Duttera, with 19 persons present. Miss Blanche Miller was an additional guest. Following the supper a business meeting was held at which time plans were furthered for the Flower Show which will be held August 26. Mrs. J. E. C. Miller won the draw prize. Next month the club will meet with Mrs. Charles Eicholtz.

Cpl. Stephen Heyser has returned to his post at Camp Carson, Colorado, after having spent a fifteenday furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heyser. He received his promotion from private first class July 1. Lewis Heyser, R/T 2/c, and Mrs. Heyser, and Nurse Cadet Margaret Heyser, Washington, D. C., spent the week-end with the Heysers.

Henry Yingling, who had been serving in Italy, is spending a furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Annie Yingling.

Mr. and Mrs. Pipping and William Schmitt, Harrisburg, and Miss Gertrude Pipping, Buffalo, New York, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Starner Sunday. They were accompanied on their return to Harrisburg by Mrs. Margaret Kissinger, who spent the week-end with the Starners.

Fred and Richard Fidler, Silver Spring, Maryland, spent several days last week with their grandmother, Mrs. Katie Fidler.

Mr. and Mrs. Steiner, Port Washington, Long Island, have returned following a visit with Mrs. Ina Steiner.

Mrs. William Stansbury and son, Terry, who had been residing in Baltimore, are spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heyser. Mr. Stansbury was recently inducted into the Army.

Mrs. Harry Steiner has been spending some time in Anniston, Alabama, visiting her husband, Private Steiner, who is receiving his basic training at Fort McClellan.

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Army Or Congress; It's Up To Voters

Nashville, Tenn., August 3 (AP)—Democrats of the Fourth Tennessee district will decide today whether Albert Gore, their 37-year-old Representative, shall return to Congress for a fourth term or carry out the intention to serve in the Army from which he was dissauded by President Roosevelt.

In his campaign Gore told audiences he would request active duty if he failed to receive the nomination in today's state-wide Democratic primary and added: "It is up to you to decide where I can serve you best—in Congress or in the Army."

His Democratic opponent is W. H. Turner, a veteran of the last war.

LANIER LEADS HURLERS WITH 104 STRIKEOUTS

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Max Lanier of the St. Louis Cardinals reigned as strikeout king of the majors today with a total of 104 victims boosting him past Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants and Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox.

The pudgy lefthander threw the third strike past seven Pittsburgh hitters last night as the Cards hammered out an 8-4 verdict to up their road trip win record to 15-3 with three to go before reaching Sportsman's Park.

Lanier's total of 104 strikeouts topped by three Voiselle's bag and was five more than Hughson required to pace the American League, where Hal Newhouser of Detroit was his closest competitor.

27,481 See Game

The largest night crowd of the year at Forbes Field, 27,481, watched the Cards take Rip Sewell for six runs and seven hits before the blooper ball tosser yielded for a pinch hitter. It was Sewell's fourth straight beating by the Cards.

If the Cards can break even in their remaining 58 games, second place Cincinnati could grab the flag only by winning 46 of 58, a gait some 200 points above their 1944 norm.

With Lanier, Mort Cooper, Harry Brecheen and Ted Wilks working smoothly as the big 4, there was little doubt that the Red Birds would hit the 100-win mark with plenty to spare.

Harris Wins Ninth

The Mackmen pulled the opener out of the fire, 9-3, on a 7-run ninth inning in which a triple by Bobby Estalella and doubles by Joe Burns and Hal Epps were the big blows. Lum Harris popped up with his ninth win although nipped for 13 hits as his mates clubbed Ed Lopat for 12 blows and his seventh loss.

Gordy Maltzberger saved Johnny Humphries' fifth win in the finale by stopping a Philadelphia threat as Chicago took a 7-3 edge. Tony Cuccinello enjoyed a perfect game with four singles.

M'CORMICK TOPS FIRST BASEMEN

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Ten years ago, scouts shook their heads after watching him play and sadly exclaimed "He will never do," but today Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds is rated the best first baseman in the major leagues.

Before he signed his first professional contract, McCormick worked out mornings with the New York Giants and was advised by them that if he had a job he had best stick to it.

The six-foot-four-inch Redleg, who makes his home in New York, caused veteran experts to lift their eye-brows with his unorthodox stance at the plate, but that didn't stop Larry MacPhail from bringing him to Cincinnati.

In his first full year with the Reds, 1938, McCormick made 209 hits in 640 at bats, both high for the loop, and batted .326. He joined the select group of players who made 200 or more hits in their freshman year. The next year he duplicated his 209-hit total to again lead the league in that department and drove in the most runs, 128.

Adds to Records

In 1940, he added the doubles title and for the third time in succession led the league in hits.

In his first five years with the Reds, McCormick drove in 617 runs, more than any of the other top sluggers of the circuit in the corresponding period, including Johnny Mize, Mel Ott, Dolph Camilli, Chuck Klein and Frank Demaree.

McCormick has the unique distinction of being selected for the National league all-star team in each of his seven years in the majors.

This year Frank got off to a bad start. After hovering around the .270 mark for the first half of the season, he staged a batting spree to climb to a point over .300. In the past two weeks, he made 22 hits in 64 times at bat for a .344 average and batted in 21 runs.

McKeesport, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Bee Bee Wright, Clairton, Pa., schoolboy puncher, tonight will attempt to avenge one of the two defeats he has suffered in a brilliant professional career when he meets Nick Latsios of Alexandria, Va., here tonight.

The fight card is being staged for the benefit of victims of the June 23 tornado.

Latsios knocked out Wright in one round in a bout at Washington last winter, but the Clairton boy terms that setback a mistake, pointing out that he had the Virginian back on his heels ready for a knockout when he caught a lucky punch that quickly reversed the trend of events.

LANIER LEADS HURLERS WITH 104 STRIKEOUTS

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Max Lanier of the St. Louis Cardinals reigned as strikeout king of the majors today with a total of 104 victims boosting him past Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants and Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox.

The pudgy lefthander threw the third strike past seven Pittsburgh hitters last night as the Cards hammered out an 8-4 verdict to up their road trip win record to 15-3 with three to go before reaching Sportsman's Park.

Lanier's total of 104 strikeouts topped by three Voiselle's bag and was five more than Hughson required to pace the American League, where Hal Newhouser of Detroit was his closest competitor.

27,481 See Game

The largest night crowd of the year at Forbes Field, 27,481, watched the Cards take Rip Sewell for six runs and seven hits before the blooper ball tosser yielded for a pinch hitter. It was Sewell's fourth straight beating by the Cards.

If the Cards can break even in their remaining 58 games, second place Cincinnati could grab the flag only by winning 46 of 58, a gait some 200 points above their 1944 norm.

With Lanier, Mort Cooper, Harry Brecheen and Ted Wilks working smoothly as the big 4, there was little doubt that the Red Birds would hit the 100-win mark with plenty to spare.

As St. Louis snuffed out Pittsburgh's smouldering hopes at the start of a long home stand, the American League pennant race marked time.

Harris Wins Ninth

The Mackmen pulled the opener out of the fire, 9-3, on a 7-run ninth inning in which a triple by Bobby Estalella and doubles by Joe Burns and Hal Epps were the big blows. Lum Harris popped up with his ninth win although nipped for 13 hits as his mates clubbed Ed Lopat for 12 blows and his seventh loss.

Gordy Maltzberger saved Johnny Humphries' fifth win in the finale by stopping a Philadelphia threat as Chicago took a 7-3 edge. Tony Cuccinello enjoyed a perfect game with four singles.

Mack Anniversary Tilt To Be Played

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—The golden jubilee celebration commemorating Connie Mack's anniversary as a big league manager will be held tomorrow at Shibe Park as scheduled, regardless of the city's transportation strike.

Roy Mack, vice president of the Philadelphia Athletics said "we must go ahead with the game. We can not postpone it. Elaborate plans have been made. All the members of my Dad's living All-Star team have made arrangements to be here."

The earliest reference to tea in European literature is found toward the end of the 16th century.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Pinch-Hitting for Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—With the Brooklyn Dodgers taking two of a six-game series with the Cardinals, and the St. Louis Browns out front in the American pennant race, the impression is growing that anything can happen in baseball.

We, however, are reserving opinion on the "anything can happen" angle until Ernie Lombardi leads the league in stolen bases.

BASEBALL QUIZ

No. 1—What pitcher won three double headers in one season?

No. 2—What pitchers struck out seven men in two consecutive innings. (Answers at end of column, but don't peek now.)

THIS AND THAT

Louisville Charley Jones, who has a string of race horses, says there are 99 ways the best horse can lose a race (our selections use 'em, too.) . . . Lt. (jg) Jack McGinley, former drum-beater for the Pittsburgh Steelers, came home on a 30-day furlough but didn't tell the home folks he had been cited for bravery in the Tunisian campaign and that he'd been awarded the Purple heart. . . . Still can't figure out why Steve Brodie jumped off the Brooklyn bridge—the Dodgers couldn't have been that bad away back then, too. . . . The "oldest race track in America" at Annapolis, where George Washington reputedly lost four pounds (English cash, not weight) by making some wrong guesses, will be revived for a running-harness meeting Labor Day. . . . Rip Sewell of the Pirates says he wishes some of the great sluggers like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio were still around so he could tease 'em with that blooper ball. . . . Jimmy Johnston, the fight manager of a thousand words, asked us to note that "my amazing Tony Shucco meets Al Hart in Washington August 7-10 rounds" . . . With Mel Ott abed suffering an injured ankle, Carl Hubbell is coaching the western squad for next Monday's all-American boys baseball game at the Polo grounds. . . . Every member of the Cincinnati Reds baseball squad is married (too bad, gals). . . . And Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of baseball's greatest all-time pitchers, is a guard at a Lockland, Ohio, war plant.

TODAY'S JEST STAR

Jack Durkin, Syracuse Herald Journal: The Rev. Bertram Humphries, pitching parson, who has hurled for Columbus in the American associatioon, Albany and Rochester, is all set to hurl some weekday games for Albany. He still looks as if he has more than a prayer on his pitch.

M'CORMICK TOPS FIRST BASEMEN

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Ten years ago, scouts shook their heads after watching him play and sadly exclaimed "He will never do," but today Frank McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds is rated the best first baseman in the major leagues.

Before he signed his first professional contract, McCormick worked out mornings with the New York Giants and was advised by them that if he had a job he had best stick to it.

The six-foot-four-inch Redleg, who makes his home in New York, caused veteran experts to lift their eye-brows with his unorthodox stance at the plate, but that didn't stop Larry MacPhail from bringing him to Cincinnati.

In his first full year with the Reds, 1938, McCormick made 209 hits in 640 at bats, both high for the loop, and batted .326. He joined the select group of players who made 200 or more hits in their freshman year. The next year he duplicated his 209-hit total to again lead the league in that department and drove in the most runs, 128.

Adds to Records

In 1940, he added the doubles title and for the third time in succession led the league in hits.

In his first five years with the Reds, McCormick drove in 617 runs, more than any of the other top sluggers of the circuit in the corresponding period, including Johnny Mize, Mel Ott, Dolph Camilli, Chuck Klein and Frank Demaree.

McCormick has the unique distinction of being selected for the National league all-star team in each of his seven years in the majors.

This year Frank got off to a bad start. After hovering around the .270 mark for the first half of the season, he staged a batting spree to climb to a point over .300. In the past two weeks, he made 22 hits in 64 times at bat for a .344 average and batted in 21 runs.

Most of the beef and mutton for Allied troops in England comes from Uruguay and Argentina.

Wright To Seek Revenge Tonight

McKeesport, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Bee Bee Wright, Clairton, Pa., schoolboy puncher, tonight will attempt to avenge one of the two defeats he has suffered in a brilliant professional career when he meets Nick Latsios of Alexandria, Va., here tonight.

The fight card is being staged for the benefit of victims of the June 23 tornado.

Latsios knocked out Wright in one round in a bout at Washington last winter, but the Clairton boy terms that setback a mistake, pointing out that he had the Virginian back on his heels ready for a knockout when he caught a lucky punch that quickly reversed the trend of events.

Wright hasn't lost a bout since.

WAR WORKERS AFFECTED BY MANY STRIKES

(By The Associated Press)

Transportation tieups plagued two major cities today amid continental labor disputes in which the number of idle workers exceeded 36,000.

Philadelphia entered its third day of complete public transport paralysis, looking to President Roosevelt for some action to end the stoppage, and in Montreal, Quebec, most of the trams disappeared from the streets.

A population total of more than 3,000,000 was affected in the two cities. Six thousand trolley, bus and subway workers were out in Philadelphia and 4,000 tramway workers were affected in Montreal.

The Montreal walkout, third within 18 months, developed after a dispute over whether a union shop provision applying to new employes should be put in a contract between the tramway company and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employes.

Trouble In Detroit

Detroit continued as a center of labor trouble. The War Labor board agreed with CIO-United Auto Workers spokesmen that a stoppage of 4,000 at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, was a "lockout," which the company denied. The WLB ordered the company to resume work. The CIO-UAW attempted to end a stoppage of 7,000 at the General Motors Chevrolet gear and axle division by naming an administrator to supplant 10 union local officers. Union members planned a meeting tonight.

A new dispute in Detroit involved 425 at the Briggs Manufacturing company, trouble coming over the wearing of identification badges. But 1,600 workers at the Wayne Michigan, Stinson division of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft company, returned to the job.

Two thousand were out at the Buffalo, New York, plant of the Houdaille-Hershey Corp., making airplane parts; 4,700 at the John A. Roebling's Sons and Co., in Roebling and Trenton, New Jersey, and 4,300 at the General Steel Castings company, Granite City, Illinois.

Nine lesser disputes kept some 3,600 more idle. But 1,300 at the Jersey City, New Jersey, plant of American Can company, and 1,500 at the Pottstown, Pa., plant of Spicer Manufacturing company, voted to end walkouts.

Erie Scores Six In Ninth To Win

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Erie Sailors coasted scoreless for eight innings last night and then turned on the steam to defeat the Bradford Blue Wings 6-5 with six runs in the ninth.

The victory broke a tie for fourth place between the sailors and the Olean Oilers who slid down the ladder with a 5-3 loss to Jamestown Falcons.

Schroyer Ready To Open Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Highway Secretary John U. Schroyer said today his recommendations on the future of Pennsylvania's last 10 privately-owned toll bridges have gone to Governor Martin and that he will seek a conference on them with the chief executive in the near future.

Schroyer started negotiations with bridge owners last year after the 1943 legislature urged the commonwealth to take over and eventually free the spans, two of which are located in Harrisburg, two in Bethlehem and the others at Clarks Ferry, Sunbury, Point Marion, Charleroi-Monessen, Allentown and Ellwood City-Koppel.

Shipyard Worker Fatally Stabbed

Chester, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Robert Loughead, 25-year-old shipyard worker was fatally stabbed last night in his nearby Upland home and a short time later his attractive 24-year-old wife was taken into custody, charged with suspicion of homicide.

Chief of Delaware County Detectives Fred Jack said the stabbing climaxed an all-day quarrel in which the mother of two small children was knocked down several times.

Jack said Norval Gilmore, 25, a merchant seaman who boarded at the Loughead home, summoned police after witnessing the tragedy.

ALBANY TAKES 10TH STRAIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Albany's charging Senators boasted 10 straight victories today, their longest winning streak of the Eastern League season, and were only four and a half games out of first place.

A five-run surge in the ninth gave the Senators a 10-9 victory over Williamsport last night as the league-leading Hartford Laurels split a doubleheader with Elmira. Hartford came back to win the nightcap 8-1 after dropping the opener, 4-6.

Warren Marshall yielded only three hits as Hartford won the nightcap after being held to six singles by Ozzie Knieram in the opener.

Flying Bombs Hit Seven Hospitals

London, Aug. 3 (AP) — Flying bombs droned over southern England and London this afternoon in continuation of an unbroken 12-hour assault—the longest attack yet without a lull.

Anti-aircraft gunners in southern England maintained almost continuous barrage. Some robots were reported destroyed over the English channel.

Seven hospitals were hit, 10 patients being killed at one, and explosions covered a wide area. One bomb wrecked a big house 50 yards from a shopping area crowded with women and it was feared—in the permissible phrase—that "there were a number of casualties."

Williamsport, Aug. 3 (AP)—Having gone on record as favoring new laws to control strip coal mining and to end confusion in tax collections, the delegates of the Pennsylvania state association of county commissioners adjourned their annual convention to meet next year in Allentown.

BOOM IN FARM BUYING CALLED "DISASTROUS"

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Another disastrous farm land boom is developing, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard said today as he urged would-be purchasers to use extra money to retire debts or to purchase war bonds rather than to buy farm real estate at present inflated values.

The rate at which farm land prices are rising, coupled with the large number of sales, are unmistakable signs that an inflationary land spree is under way in many regions," he said.

The secretary's comment were made in connection with an Agriculture Department survey showing that war markets for farm commodities have boosted land values an average of 42 per cent above the average prevailing in the 1935-39 period.

"Paying Too Much"

Wickard said that about a third of the farm purchases are being made by city people, particularly war workers seeking a place to go when the war ends. In too many cases, he added, the city people and war workers, as well as farmers, are paying too much.

Wickard on a number of occasions, has recommended governmental measures designed to put a brake on rising land values. Those outlined by him as worth considering include: (1) Restriction of credit, (2) Establishment of ceiling prices on land and the issuance of permits to purchase; (3) Imposition of a transfer tax, and (4) Imposition of a capital gains resale tax.

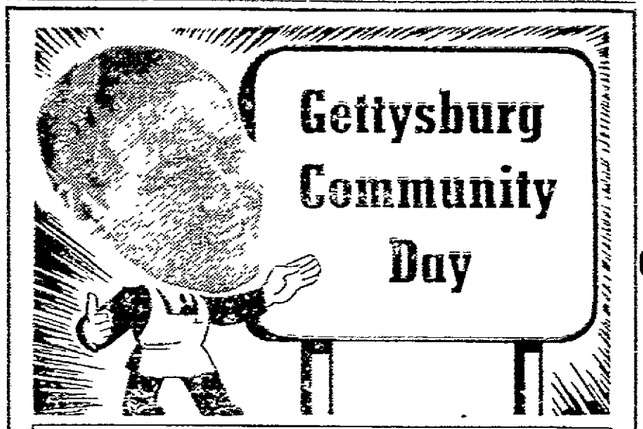

The secretary himself advocated the capital gains tax under which a stiff special tax would be assessed against profits made on the sale of farm real estate acquired during the war emergency period. Bills providing for such a tax have been introduced in Congress by Senator Gillette (D-Ia.), but no action has been taken on them.

Flying Bombs Hit Seven Hospitals

London, Aug. 3 (AP) — Flying bombs droned over southern England and London this afternoon in continuation of an unbroken 12-hour assault—the longest attack yet without a lull.

Anti-aircraft gunners in southern England maintained almost continuous barrage. Some robots were reported destroyed over the English channel.

Seven hospitals were hit, 10 patients being killed at one, and explosions covered a wide area. One bomb wrecked a big house 50 yards from a shopping area crowded with women and it was feared—in the permissible phrase—that "there were a number of casualties."

Williamsport, Aug. 3 (AP)—Having gone on record as favoring new laws to control strip coal mining and to end confusion in tax collections, the delegates of the Pennsylvania state association of county commissioners adjourned their annual convention to meet nevt year in Allentown.

BOOM IN FARM BUYING CALLED "DISASTROUS"

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Another disastrous farm land boom is developing, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard said today as he urged would-be purchasers to use extra money to retire debts or to purchase war bonds rather than to buy farm real estate at present inflated values.

"The rate at which farm land prices are rising, coupled with the large number of sales, are unmistakable signs that an inflationary land spree is under way in many regions," he said.

The secretary's comment were made in connection with an Agriculture Department survey showing that war markets for farm commodities have boosted land values an average of 42 per cent above the average prevailing in the 1935-39 period.

"Paying Too Much"

Wickard said that about a third of the farm purchases are being made by city people, particularly war workers seeking a place to go when the war ends. In too many cases, he added, the city people and war workers, as well as farmers, are paying too much.

Wickard, on a number of occasions, has recommended governmental measures designed to put a brake on rising land values. Those outlined by him as worth considering include: (1) Restriction of credit; (2) Establishment of ceiling prices on land and the issuance of permits to purchase; (3) Imposition of a transfer tax, and (4) Imposition of a capital gains resale tax.

The secretary himself advocated the capital gains tax under which a stiff special tax would be assessed against profits made on the sale of farm real estate acquired during the war emergency period. Bills providing for such a tax have been introduced in Congress by Senator Gillette (D-Ia.), but no action has been taken on them.

WAR WORKERS AFFECTED BY MANY STRIKES

(By The Associated Press)

Transportation tieups plagued two major cities today amid continental labor disputes in which the number of idle workers exceeded 36,000.

Philadelphia entered its third day of complete public transport paralysis, looking to President Roosevelt for some action to end the stoppage, and in Montreal, Quebec, most of the trams disappeared from the streets.

A population total of more than 3,000,000 was affected in the two cities. Six thousand trolley, bus and subway workers were out in Philadelphia and 4,000 tramway workers were affected in Montreal.

The Montreal walkout, third within 18 months, developed after a dispute over whether a union shop provision applying to new employes should be put in a contract between the tramway company and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employes.

Trouble In Detroit

Detroit continued as a center of labor trouble. The War Labor board agreed with CIO-United Auto Workers spokesmen that a stoppage of 4,000 at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, was a "lockout," which the company denied. The WLB ordered the company to resume work. The CIO-UAW attempted to end a stoppage of 7,000 at the General Motors' Chevrolet gear and axle division by naming an administrator to supplant 10 union local officers. Union members planned a meeting tonight.

A new dispute in Detroit involved 425 at the Briggs Manufacturing company, trouble coming over the wearing of identification badges. But 1,000 workers at the Wayne, Michigan, Stinson division of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft company, returned to the job.

Two thousand were out at the Buffalo, New York, plant of the Houdaille-Hershey Corp., making airplane parts; 4,700 at the John A. Roebling's Sons and Co., in Roebling and Trenton, New Jersey, and 4,300 at the General Steel Castings company, Granite City, Illinois.

Nine lesser disputes kept some 3,600 more idle. But 1,300 at the Jersey City, New Jersey, plant of American Can company, and 1,500 at the Pottstown, Pa., plant of Spicer Manufacturing company, voted to end walkouts.

Erie Scores Six In Ninth To Win

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Erie Sailors coasted scoreless for eight innings last night and then turned on the steam to defeat the Bradford Blue Wings 6-5 with six runs in the ninth.

The victory broke a tie for fourth place between the sailors and the Olean Oilers who slid down the ladder with a 5-3 loss to Jamestown Falcons.

Schroyer Ready To Open Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, Aug. 3 (AP)—Highway Secretary John U. Schroyer said today his recommendations on the future of Pennsylvania's last 10 privately-owned toll bridges have gone to Governor Martin and that he will seek a conference on them with the chief executive in the near future.

Shroyer started negotiations with bridge owners last year after the 1943 legislature urged the commonwealth to take over ond eventually free the spans, two of which are located in Harrisburg, two in Bethlehem, and the others at Clarks Ferry, Sunbury, Point Marion, Charleroi-Monessen, Allentown and Ellwood City-Koppel.

Shipyard Worker Fatally Stabbed

Chester, Pa., Aug. 3 (AP)—Robert Loughead, 25-year-old shipyard worker, was fatally stabbed last night in his nearby Upland home and a short time later his attractive 24-year-old wife was taken into custody, charged with suspicion of homicide.

Chief of Delaware County Detectives Fred Jack said the stabbing climaxed an all-day quarrel in which the mother of two small children was knocked down several times.

ALBANY TAKES 10TH STRAIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Albany's charging Senators boasted 10 straight victories today, their longest winning streak of the Eastern League season, and were only four and a half games out of first place.

A five-run surge in the ninth gave the Senators a 10-9 victory over Williamsport last night as the league-leading Hartford Laurels split a doubleheader with Elmira. Hartford came back to win the nightcap, 8-1, after dropping the opener, 4-0.

Binghamton swept a twin bill from Scranton, 4-3 and 8-6, while Wilkes-Barre tripped Utica, 5-2.

Warren Marshall yielded only three hits as Hartford won the nightcap after being held to six singles, by Ozzie Knierim in the opener.
